SAANICH LIKES 'LITTLE MAN'

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis reacted angrily at a public hearing this week when a resident charged that council seems prepared to listen to big business but ignores the ordinary citizen.

Saying he rejected the remark, Curtis snapped: "I take offence at the suggestion that this council listens to the so-called big people and not to the little people."

"The record of this municipality will show that to be completely untrue."

Curtis added that opposition to rezoning applications is "one thing but distortion of the facts is simply not acceptable at a public hearing."

The resident, Joseph Rey, of 2882 Colquitz, was objecting to a proposed shopping centre in the Lake Hill district of Quadra. He complained of the nuisance and congestion caused by on-street parking outside business premises in the area.

Let Me Proceed or Buy Me Out—Reid

Vancouver developer J. A. Reid indicated today he wants Victoria to buy his waterfront land if council turns down the controversial development proposed for the site.

Reid said in an interview the city cannot legally "freeze" land. "No municipality can do that," he said he is not prepared to be "the fall guy" for the city for another three years while the city makes up its mind what type of development should be carried out on the site.

"I can't provide the people of Victoria with a view of the harbor at my own expense," Reid said.

Reid denied that he has embarked on a legal solution to regain his investment on the property.

The estimated cost of the property to Reid has been about $600,000, and other estimates have put its present value at about $800,000.

The course open to the city, he suggested, is to buy the land.

"To that extent my lawyers are involved," he said.

Meanwhile, city officials are preparing a draft of the land-use contract necessary for development should city council decide to approve the project.

By latest count, the project will not get approval from council at a public hearing on the contract. The hearing could come as early as Nov. 23.

Reid denied that two full-page advertisements placed in Victoria newspapers earlier this month were part of an attempt to create a legal case against the city.

"The ads in the paper were nothing to do with legalities," he said. He said there had been considerable "pressure to come out a statement" on the matter.

He said the city has been like a "lost bird" over the project and he wanted to review the history of the development.

Reid claimed he has been an "innocent bystander" in the whole affair, and that the real promotion of the development came out of the Acres Western feasibility study produced by the city before Reid bought an interest in the property.

The Reid development is planned for a site, at present a platform parking lot, on the Inner Harbor waterfront below Bastion Square. The project, as described in land-use contract documents, has two towers, open pedestrian squares, a waterfront water-level promenade, cinema, town houses and shops.

Support on council for the Reid project has dwindled to only three aldermen while six votes are required to get it started.

Ald. Peter Pollen and Tom Christie have opposed the centre almost consistently. Mayor Courtney Haddock and Ald. Ove Witt at one time both staunch supporters, have now bowed to public pressure.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay has resigned from council, and Ald. Robert Baird is ill and unlikely to be back on the job in time to cast a vote.

The Reid project now apparently has the support of only Ald. Clyde Savage, Percy Frampton and Harold Olafson.

Amchitka Going Within Week

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Nixon has authorized the explosion of a five-megaton atomic warhead under Amchitka Island in the Aleutians, the United States Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

AEC Chairman James R. Schlesinger said no date for the blast, but he said the preparation would be completed before that date.

Schlesinger said the atomic warhead, designed for the Spartan anti-ballistic missile, has been installed 6,000 feet under ground and the closing of the shaft is beginning Wednesday.

This operation, he said, would "make it impractical to recover the device," but he said that should a court decision forbid the test, the warhead could be destroyed by conventional explosives underground without setting off an atomic blast.

The AEC's plan has been criticized as potentially dangerous by some scientists in that it could, they say, start earthquakes and a tidal wave. Similar fears were expressed in U.S. congressional hearings on a previous test of a one-megaton weapon on the island. None of the dissenting scientist's fears was borne out at that time.

CANADA 'DISMAYED'

Canadian Ambassador Marcel Cadieux told United States authorities of the "sense of dismay" of Canadians when advised today that the U.S. will proceed with the detonation.

An embassy spokesman said the ambassador had a private meeting earlier today with James Schlesinger, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and was told of the American decision.

The ambassador was quoted as having told Schlesinger that Canadians fear a danger to their environment from the controversial nuclear test.

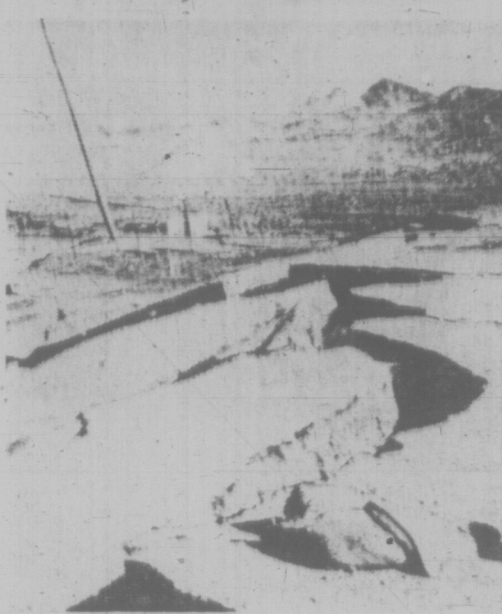

He was also quoted as expressing disappointment at the decision at a time when progress was being made in disarmament talks with the Soviet Union which Canada believed could make the test unnecessary.

FEAR FOR PACIFIC

The ambassador also invoked the question of international principle, whether one country has the right to engage in experiments which could endanger the environment of another country, the spokesman said.

Seven U.S. environmental groups, headed by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, have been seeking a court ban on the test, saying it poses possible environmental hazards including damage to wildlife and leakage of radiation to the Pacific Ocean.

A separate suit by 34 congressmen has sought the disclosure of a report on the potential environmental effects submitted to Nixon by a special committee of the national security council.

AFTER LEAKAGE from this Nevada nuclear blast, test site was moved to Amchitka.

Schlesinger said "if the courts rule against us we will take the advice of counsel and the Department of Justice."

But he said he does not expect the court to block the test and "assuming the situation is favorable in the courts, we will detonate."

Schlesinger said the chances of environmental damage or of touching off a large earthquake or tidal wave are extremely small.

LOCATION

The location, at Amchitka was chosen in 1966, he said, because it is so remote from populated areas. The island is some 1,400 miles from the nearest large North American city, Anchorage, Alaska.

Gravel said the White House, which had the option of final approval for the test, "has deceived the American people of its plans for the test."

"It is obvious the administration has had no intention of cancelling the test and has merely created an impression of indecision to quiet its critics," he added.

In Vancouver Derek Mal-

lard, executive director of the federation of 45 branches of the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control (SPEC) said it is "a bloody awful decision by the U.S. government."

Mallard said SPEC has been opposing the Amchitka issue for about six months and in that time had done everything that could be done, including writing letters, talking to Ottawa officials and lobbying MPs. "We just have to admit defeat," he added.

Paul Cote, a co-director of the Don't Make a Wave Committee which sponsored the Greenpeace mission to the Aleutians, said in a telephone interview from Vancouver he was "greatly disappointed" at the news the blast will go ahead.

"The bids on this were very close one way or the other after all the efforts by people opposed to the test," he said.

Cote said his committee will keep working "right up to the day of the test" to have the decision reversed.

He added that the committee has received no further word from Washington, where a coalition of more than 50 different U.S. environmental organizations was seeking a court injunction against the Amchitka blast.

PUBLISHER

Stuart Keate, publisher of the Sun, said today the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's announcement "is a great disappointment to all of us."

"Our only hope now is that the moral suasion of the American public may deter President Nixon," Mr. Keate said. "Surely, there must be an upper limit to nuclear testing at some point."

Mr. Keate was one of 66 "concerned Canadians" who sponsored a full-page advertisement today in the Washington Post, calling for cancellation of the test.

Meanwhile, the Greenpeace protest vessel was southbound to Vancouver from Prince Rupert today, and Greenpeace communications co-ordinator Dorothy Metcalfe said it would be physically impossible for the mission to turn around and get to Amchitka Island before Nov. 4.

AN EXTRA HOUR FOR THE SPOOKS

British Columbia shifts to standard time this weekend with the official change coming at 2 a.m. Sunday.

It means the hour of sleep lost back in April is recouped—by setting the clock back—repeat BACK—an hour before lights out Saturday night.

The extra sleep may come in handy later Sunday—Halloween.

2 Soldiers Die In Belfast Raid

BELFAST (CP) Bombs wrecked a heavily-sandbagged army post in Bandonerry today and killed two British soldiers.

The death of the troops at the post on the edge of a Roman Catholic district raised to 137 the death toll in two years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

The blast shattered windows in a nearby factory. The workers were moved out while security forces cordoned off the area to investigate the bombing.

Police came under concerted bomb and gun attacks at two points in Ulster during the night.

POLICE HOMES HIT

Explosive charges were set off at the homes of nine police officers, and another's home was raked by bullets. One gunman was reported shot and wounded by a police officer defending his house.

The pre-dawn raids followed a day of shooting—and mourning—in Ulster. Two persons died in the violence Tuesday.

The strikes against the officers' homes—all staged about 1 a.m.—were presaged by a guerrilla assault on a precinct house in Larne, a port on the Irish Sea 17 miles north of the capital of Belfast.

Police said gunmen opened fire on the station and a man was seen dumping a suitcase on the doorstep. Seconds later a 20-pound charge of gelignite erupted, virtually wrecking the building.

Detectives opened fire at the raiders, but they escaped unhurt. Two policemen were seriously wounded and four police and two civilians were treated for superficial injuries.

The raids on police houses were concentrated in the northern suburbs of Belfast. They followed the gunning-down of a young police officer two nights ago as he leaned out his bedroom window to answer at late-night knock on the door. He is still in critical condition, police said.

George King at the Ross Bay Plot He Bought for Himself in 1920

He'll Trade His Grave For a Car That Works

By BRYAN MCGILL, Times Staff

George King, 61, wants to swap his choice of a grave in Ross Bay Cemetery for a car.

And he needs the car badly, because he has lost one leg from diabetes and is on the way to losing the other, and he's finding it hard to get around on his own.

But he doesn't need the burial plot at all. "I don't cry over where I'm going to be buried. When I'm dead I won't know anything about it."

King bought the plot in 1920 for $75 at the age of 18, when his sister died at 2.

He has been advertising for a swap in local newspapers for the past few days. The ad, in the swap column, says: "Exchange beautiful plot, Ross Bay for fairly late model car (automatic)."

It has had only two responses, which didn't materialize. Both persons were mainly interested in the location of the plot. It's a good one, says King. It's in an open part, away from the Dallas Road wall, and only about two rows back from the road near Memorial Crescent. "It's a lovely spot," he said.

Of course, Ross Bay Cemetery is a hard cemetery to be buried in these days. Since a few years ago, only those who have family plots are able to be buried in it.

Cemetery foreman Ralph Ricketts estimates there are about 2,000 family plots left in a graveyard that has been packed with 30,000 dead persons since it opened in 1872. However, deceased who have been cremated can still be buried there in special two-foot-square plots scattered throughout the graveyard, for which the city charges $25.

King says he was once offered $50 for the plot, but he turned the offer down.

King, who lives in the Scott Apartments at Hillside and Douglas, especially needs the car to visit his 92-year-old mother, Mrs. Alice Maud Davey, who lives in the Lake Hill area.

His only source of income being his pension, King will take any car at all, as long as it is in fairly good condition and is automatic. "I just got my five-year licence."

When he dies, King will gladly settle for Royal Oak Burial Park, where he will be buried alongside his wife who died in 1962.

TITO ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Yugoslav President Tito arrived here by air today to begin a six-day official visit to the United States during which he will have two meetings with President Nixon.

The European Communist leader spent Tuesday night under tight security in Gander, Nfld., during a brief stopover on his trip from Belgrade.

France, Russia Sign Accord

PARIS (AP) — France and the Soviet Union today marked Leonid Brezhnev's visit to Paris with signature of a 10-year economic co-operation agreement calling for close links between the industries of the two nations.

The agreement, signed as the Soviet Communist party chief returned to the Elysee Palace for more talks with President Georges Pompidou, is designed to promote greater joint efforts in production of manufactured goods ranging from automobiles to data-processing equipment and in development of large industrial complexes.

Raw materials, capital goods and techniques also will be exchanged under the agreement signed by French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing and Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev.

The French state-owned Renault auto firm today was awarded the first contract for construction of a huge Soviet truck plant on the Kama River about 600 miles north-east of Moscow.

Renault was given the contract for the engineering work on the plant's diesel engine division, which will have an estimated annual output of 250,000 units.

The contract, with the possibility of further awards, was

Secrecy Clouds Kosygin in Cuba

HAVANA (Reuters) — Secrecy clouded the Cuban visit of Soviet Premier Alexey Kosygin today, even the length of his stay has not been officially announced.

Kosygin arrived Tuesday from an eight-day visit to Canada and was greeted by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro at a mass welcome at Jose Marti airport.

No program for the Soviet leader's visit has been issued and it is not known if official talks have started.

But the official residence where Kosygin is staying — a secluded villa — was lit up Tuesday night. Castro does not usually waste time before launching into talks and he is known to enjoy long conversations late into the night.

WELCOME DIFFERENT

Kosygin's welcome — to smiles and warm hugs all round — was in sharp contrast to the coolness with which he was first received here in 1967 when he arrived from talks with then U.S. President Johnson. Then there were no crowds and only a polite handshake from Castro.

But Tuesday thousands of Cubans, led by Castro, and President Osvaldo Dorticos, greeted him.

U.S. May Cut Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon was "shocked and dismayed" by the "undisguised glee" of United Nations delegates following the vote on the ouster of Taiwan, the White House said today.

A spokesman suggested the United States might be forced to reduce its support for the UN and for foreign aid.

In a strong but delayed reaction to the UN vote Monday night admitting Communist China while expelling Taiwan, Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, speaking for the president, said:

"The feeling is the shocking demonstration and undisguised glee that was shown by some of the delegates to the United Nations could have a detrimental effect."

He also stressed that the administration also feared that the behavior of delegates of countries where "this country has been very generous" in foreign assistance "could also be translated into a deterioration of that support."

While Ziegler said there was no change in administration policy, he hinted broadly that it might support a reduction in the U.S. payments to the world body.

Meanwhile in mainland China, Peking hailed its election to the United Nations today but predicted the United States and Japan will keep trying to create two Chinas.

And in Formosa, President Chiang Kai-shek vowed again to overthrow the Communist regime.

Peking's official New China news agency, referring to the General Assembly vote Monday to admit Communist China and oust the Nationalists, said:

Malaspina Still Lone Applicant

Centennial Natural Gas Pipeline Ltd. of Vancouver has been told by the Public Utilities Commission that it may only appear as an intervenor in PUC hearings on the Malaspina pipeline proposal, Centennial president Charles Bailey said today.

Centennial is one of five companies which submitted bids for the natural gas pipeline to be built from Williams Lake to the Island. The provincial government has selected Malaspina Gas Pipeline Ltd. as the most appropriate company to seek PUC approval to build the line.

OWN PROPOSAL

In an interview from Vancouver, Bailey said Centennial received a letter today from PUC chairman J. E. K. English, saying the company can appear before the commission to question Malaspina's bid but may not present its own proposal.

English said today Centennial's directors would have to meet and decide whether to go before the PUC as an intervenor and question Malaspina's proposal.

"I can't answer that question now," Bailey said, "but it appears to be inappropriate at the present time that we would appear as intervenors."

English said the situation "has become very confusing" because of the conflicting positions of the PUC.

Winter Cracks Whip Early

Winter arrived prematurely overnight when a wave of cold Arctic air scattered snow on parts of Vancouver Island and set low temperature records at some B.C. points.

A temperature of 36 degrees was recorded on Gonzales Hill and 33 degrees was the low at Victoria International Airport.

Black ice and hail added to motorists' problems in the Sidney area and the Malahat section of the Island Highway was "sanded" by highway crews after a light snowfall Tuesday night.

Many parts of the Saanich peninsula also got snow as did San Juan Island and several of the Gulf Islands.

At Tofino, the temperature dropped to 30, breaking the record of 34 degrees set for the date in 1964. Prince Rupert tied its record of 26, set in 1966.

One of the coldest spots in the province was Prince George, where four inches of snow fell and the thermometer dipped to three degrees above zero.

If you've put off getting anti-freeze for the car or covering your favorite shrubs, now is the time to move.

The forecast is for more of the same, with temperatures in Greater Victoria hovering around 30 degrees tonight.

BANANA ECONOMY of tiny Ecuador, world's largest exporter of the fruit loaded on lad's donkey cart, is threatened by competition from Central American countries. The threat could spell disaster for a group of Canadians, financed by low-interest Canadian government loans, which is working on a $200-million flood control, irrigation and crop diversification project.

CONNALLY ASKS POWER SPINOUT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally asked congress today for a year's extension of President Nixon's "admittedly broad and sweeping power" over the American economy, and predicted that post-freeze controls probably would end by December, 1972.

"I know of no one who believes that the goals of Phase II could be reached by April 30, 1972, the expiration date of the current authority," Connally told the house banking committee.

But he stressed that "I don't think we're embarked on a perpetual program of controls" and that he believed the United States would return to an unrestricted economy by the end of 1972. "I hope we can achieve our objectives by the end of next year," he said.

As he testified, the 15 members of the new pay board, including AFL-CIO President George Meany, were sworn in and held their first meeting to plan guidelines for wage increases to be allowed after the wage-price freeze expires Nov. 13.

The government reported meanwhile that its composite index of eight leading economic indicators declined by 3 per cent last month from August, suggesting that administration was falling short of its predictions of an economic upswing.

The September index, which fell by 3 per cent in August, may improve when outstanding consumer installment buying figures, including a sharp rise in auto sales, are tabulated, the commerce department said.

Insurgents Killed

SEOUL (Reuters) — Two North Korean armed infiltrators dressed in South Korean uniforms were killed near the western end of the demilitarized zone Monday night, the defence ministry announced Tuesday.

Cascades Snowy

SEATTLE (AP) — Western Washington measured its first major snowfall of the season as a storm raked across the Cascades Tuesday night dumping a light cover of sleet and rain in some lower regions and at least 10 inches of snow on mountain areas.

The U.S. national weather service said clear skies and sunshine today were expected to melt any remaining snow in the lower areas.

Brezhnev returned to the Elysee Palace for his third round of talks on major political issues, where basic rifts have become evident.

After two long private sessions Tuesday, the French president and the Soviet Communist party chief issued a joint statement which said they developed "a common point of view" on questions of Soviet-French political consultations, on Europe and on "certain aspects of European security." They also said they "envisaged" measures to develop technical and scientific co-operation.

Slow-to-Pay Taxpayers Harassed by Offers

Advertising the addresses of city homeowners who have not paid taxes has embarrassed a number of Victorians this week, but the publicity is required by law.

Property owners with tax arrears are complaining to city hall they have been harassed by prospective buyers.

A Municipal Act amendment came into force for the first time this year, and has prospective buyers looking around for tax sale land.

Today 15 parcels of land owing about $13,321 in taxes are on the city list.

If a property's taxes for the last three years are not paid by Nov. 1, the land is auctioned at city hall.

INFORMED

Correctly predicting a bad reaction from citizens whose property addresses were published in newspapers this week, city hall informed each owner by letter on Oct. 1 that the information would be published.

"Under the circumstances," the letter from assessor Alf Joyce said, "we cannot be held responsible for the listing."

of any properties on which the taxes may have been paid during this period. In order to avoid having the property listed, may I suggest you make every effort to pay these delinquent taxes well in advance of the required limit for publication."

However, the advance publicity is unlikely to help anyone lose his home. The owner, or the mortgage company has another year to find the taxes. Officials say there hasn't been a property lost through tax sale since the 1930s.

THE WEATHER

A few snowflurries and isolated thunderstorms were present over southwestern B.C. last night. However skies had cleared in most areas by midnight which allowed temperatures to drop to record or near record values for the date at a number of locations. By 3 a.m. new records had been established at Tofino with 30 degrees, Williams Lake at 14 degrees and Quesnel with the lowest reading of 11 degrees. Both Prince Rupert and Sandspit at 26 had tied previous records.

Cold dry air pushing southward through the interior of B.C. will give sunny skies and cold temperatures in most regions today. There will be a few cloudy areas with isolated snowflurries, mostly along coastal islands and in the east Kootenays. Winds will be strong northerly in some mainland valleys and coastal straits.

As the cold air pushes southward on Thursday temperatures will start to moderate and winds decrease. Moderate and mainly sunny although cloud will move onto the north coast during the afternoon.

60 Counsellors To Aid Elderly

About 60 senior citizen counsellors opened a two-day conference at the Strathcona Hotel today, an annual meeting to brush up knowledge which will help them meet the problems of the elderly in their communities.

All are senior citizens themselves, active in their own community's organizations for the elderly. On the recommendation of those organizations the province has appointed them members of Senior Citizen Counsellors of B.C.

The department of rehabilitation and social improvement pays them an allowance of $40 a month to cover their expenses and they assist the elderly in a variety of ways, helping fill the gap left by a shortage of social workers, a department spokesman said Tuesday.

Today's program includes reviews of federal pension regulations, income tax, war veterans' allowances, provincial allowances and health care services.

The program Thursday will deal with housing for the elderly, drop-in centres, recreation, camping facilities, house-keeping and nursing services, boarding and nursing homes and hearing aid services.

The department spokesman said the counsellors can help their peers with such problems as completing forms when their spouse dies, unravelling real estate difficulties, assuring local adult education programs include material of interest to the elderly and helping organize spare time activities.

AFFILIATION STEPS TAKEN

Steps were taken this week which could lead to formation of a national federation of provincial government employee unions and affiliation with the Canadian Labor Congress.

Representatives of nine provincial employee unions met in Ottawa Sunday and Monday, among themselves and top officials of the CLC, including president Donald MacDonald.

Only New Brunswick was absent.

CLC officials told the representatives the national body would be "delighted" to have the provincial organizations affiliate and this could be done as separate unions or through formation of a national organization.

Only the B.C. Government Employees Union, at present, is affiliated with the CLC.

The provincial representatives will meet again Nov. 27, in Toronto or Winnipeg, to discuss a constitution for a national organization.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees has been claiming jurisdictional rights for provincial groups coming into the CLC but several provincial groups have said they don't want to merge with CUPE.

Pattison Top Scholar

The annual presentation of academic awards was held at Victoria Senior Secondary Tuesday night with the Scholastic Achievement Award being presented to Sam Pattison by Greater Victoria school board chairman Alan McKinnon.

Deputy provincial secretary Laurie Wallace presented the $500 Nancy Greene Scholarship to Jim Nemeec.

Other winners were:

Jan Scott, $50 Totems' Scholarship; Paul Lacroix, $50 Douglas Dutton Memorial Scholarship; Ruth Siple, $75 Dorothea Hay-Memorial Scholarship; Stephen Foster and Kelvin Chan, $100 Canadian Union of Public Employees' Scholarship; Kent Wong, $100 Women's Canadian Club Scholarship; Mike Harney, $100 Skillings Scholarship; May Lau, $125 Victoria High School Staff Scholarship.

Randy Nofte, $150 IOOF local educational assistance grant; Aristotle Azad, $170 Cecilia Green Memorial Scholarship; Christel Josephy, $200 PTA Council Bursary;

David Harris, $200 GVTA Bursary; Sam Pattison, $250 VHS Students' Association Scholarship; Donna Pollard, $250 South Vancouver Island Zone, Royal Canadian Legion Award;

Rosanna Lozupone, $300 Sara and Jean MacDonald Bursary; Mary Bratt, $400 B.C. Forest Products Award.

Pacific Command, Royal

Canadian Legion scholarships of $300 went to Christopher Gower, Kenneth Macdonald and Barbara Scott.

A similar one, for $250, was won by Jim Kazakoff.

Sam Pattison also won the George Baxter Slide Rule Prize for mathematics.

Michelle Gillis, R. H. Haywood Rose Bowl; Jeannette Coutts, R. H. Haywood Rose Bowl runner-up; Linda Wright, Cox Memorial Trophy; Pauline Turnham, Cox Memorial Trophy runner-up.

Pins were awarded to last year's Grade 10 and 11 honor students.

Kosygin Message Puzzles Parliament

By GERARD MCKEL

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament puzzled Tuesday over whether a communique issued after the visit of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin means that a fruitful European security conference is in sight.

Prime Minister Trudeau suggested it does.

He also said he is hopeful the communique means the Soviet Union is moving away from the doctrine of party leader Leonid Brezhnev, which invokes Russia's right to intervene in the affairs of other Communist states.

The reference in the communique to respect for independence, national sovereignty, territorial integrity and non-interference in internal affairs could not be interpreted as a repudiation of the Brezhnev doctrine. Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield had asked if it was.

"We do not know how the other side will implement this, but we are hopeful," Mr. Trudeau said.

ASKS RE TROOPS

Mr. Stanfield asked whether there had been any indication the Soviet Union was prepared to discuss, at a European security conference, a reduction of troops or simply a withdrawal.

"It is in order to get an answer to this type of question that the NATO countries have encouraged our discussions with the Soviet Union," Mr. Trudeau said.

Mr. Stanfield replied that he had been told during a Russian trip that the Soviet Union wasn't prepared to discuss global reduction of troops at a European security conference, only withdrawal of troops in Europe.

Mr. Trudeau said it was believed Soviet leaders had moved from this position. There had been fruitful discussion of the Berlin issue—a NATO prerequisite to a security conference.

Former prime minister John Diefenbaker asked whether Mr. Kosygin mentioned that the Soviet Union "today has the largest fleet on earth, including 340 submarines, that it controls ingress and egress from the Mediterranean."

REFUSES ANSWERS

"What did he say he intended to do about the reduction of NATO forces, particularly in the Atlantic, and especially in the number of Russian submarines parading through the North Atlantic, and the South Atlantic as well?"

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government was arrogant in refusing answers while talking peace and "allowing Kosygin to fool them."

In the Senate, former external affairs minister Paul Martin, who escorted Mr. Kosygin on his eight-day visit, said both governments declare themselves in favor of a European conference in which the U.S. and Canada would take part.

Deputy Minister To Explain Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate banking and commerce committee decided today to summon S. S. Reisman, deputy minister of finance, to explain new shifts in the government's plan to revise its tax laws for mining companies.

Alfred Powis, president of Noranda Mines Ltd., told the committee that the company embarked on a $120-million expansion program on the basis of an explanation of the proposed new tax law, and now finds that because of a new interpretation of the law, $40 million of the expansion plan will not qualify for tax relief.

Finance Minister F. J. Benson had issued a press release saying expenditure on new mine developments would qualify for tax relief. But later, officials of the finance department said this would apply only to new mines, not to expansion of existing mining facilities.

Senator Walter Hayden (Ontario), committee chairman, said the committee would call the department's top-ranking official, Mr. Reisman, and if it could not get a satisfactory explanation from him, the committee could summon Mr. Benson.

Mr. Powis' brief said the net result of the new tax law now being studied by the Commons will make mining "significantly less attractive in Canada than it now is."

"We believe that the longer term implications for the industry will be profound. Existing operations will not be put out of business by the proposed system, but the incentive to explore for the new mines necessary to ensure the continuation and expansion of mining in Canada will be very significantly reduced."

"Already we have witnessed a very sharp decline in exploration activity in Canada in 1971, and while economic conditions are a factor, we believe that the proposed tax changes are primarily responsible."

Coho 'Sacrificed' If Water Held Up

A valuable run of coho salmon is being sacrificed because Greater Victoria Water Board is delaying release of water to help spawning salmon in Goldstream River, a leading conservationist said today.

Howard English, a director of the IFC Wildlife Federation, said the board apparently plans to time the release of water from the Sooke Lake watershed with the main run of coho salmon about the middle of November.

"If this is so, hundreds of early spawning coho will die a fish which is more valuable than chum," he said.

English said the board did nothing to provide water for spring salmon which spawn earlier in October. They died because they were not able to navigate the shallow stream.

Mayor Courtney Haddock, chairman of the water board, said there is plenty of water in the watershed, and it will be released as soon as the federal fisheries department and the water board agree it's necessary.

Water commissioner Ron Upward said the release will come when there are sufficient fish in the lower pools of Goldstream waiting to move to the spawning beds.

"Water is precious," he said. "It's no use releasing water for a few fish."

Conservationists this morning counted more than 100 coho in the lower pools. Several were moving upstream and a few had reached Goldstream bridge Tuesday.

Why So Many Public Doubts?

The Malaspina mystery has everyone wondering. There are a lot of opinions to be formed if the formers could only get more details on the situation. But the provincial government is playing its usual game, with the cards held close to its collective chest. An added public concern is what cards may be up the government's sleeve.

On the face of it, the Malaspina Gas Pipeline Limited bid meets the government's specifications as to company nationality, route of the pipeline from Williams Lake to Vancouver Island, and other requirements. But the matter of cost will be the dominant factor, and B.C. Hydro says that by taking a southern route it could reduce Malaspina's estimate of $105 millions by $60 millions. That raises the question for potential Vancouver Island consumers as to whether the government is imposing conditions that will inevitably result in high prices for gas.

The doubts are increased by the government's decree that because of the longer submarine pipeline which would be required on a proposed southern route, a performance bond equal to the total cost of the project must be posted. That eliminated both B.C. Hydro and Island Natural Gas Ltd., and left Malaspina the successful applicant over two other companies.

Hydro chairman Dr. Shrum has already made it clear that unless the gas can be sold on Vancouver Island at an acceptable price, Hydro will not be a customer. The same attitude should be held by prospective industrial and domestic consumers, but it will not be known until the Public Utilities hearing just what Malaspina has in mind. Certainly the terrain over which it is proposed to bring the line to tidewater—from Williams Lake to Powell River and Comox—is rugged and presumably costly to cross.

What could happen to Vancouver Island users under such conditions is that B.C. Hydro might be forced by the government to contract for expensive gas which would result in high prices for electric power on the Island; or the government, faced with a utility in trouble, might decide to extend a subsidy, which would be another way of charging costs to the tax-paying consumer.

Other companies are now prohibited from bidding on the project, although they can ask questions which might result in Malaspina's not receiving the contract. Just why the line must hook in to Westcoast Transmission facilities at Williams Lake and pass through Powell River has not yet been explained to the public. If a cheaper route is possible, then Vancouver Island users could find themselves paying more in order to help achieve some government objective on the mainland.

Natural gas is an excellent fuel, low in pollution effects. As an alternative to nuclear power plants—at least for years to come—it appeals to many environment-conscious people, Premier Bennett included. Use of gas for electric power production would free Island rivers from the threat of damming, with possibly adverse effects on the wilderness.

The PUC hearing, yet to be arranged, may answer a lot of questions. But on the other hand, it may not—particularly the kind of questions many people are asking. The real answer may show up only in the monthly bills or the annual taxes. A government can grow quite a credibility gap in 15 years.

Canada's Other 'Two Solitudes'

CALGARY — Every second blue moon, an eastern Canadian newspaper will send a reporter out to these western backwoods to assess the western reaction to the latest crisis to descend on the Toronto-Ottawa-Montreal golden triangle. Usually they are appalled with either of two reactions. (1) Prairie westerners are 'unaware of the problem'; or (2) they work up little anxiety or even interest.

That happened recently when the Toronto Globe and Mail had a reporter on the loose. He was astounded to discover a zero interest in the plight of down east industrial workers threatened with economic extinction by the Nixon assault on foreign exports.

Last week, when the Canadian ambassador to Washington told San Francisco bankers that the 10 per cent surcharge might destroy 150 Canadian businesses it produced scarcely a shrug in Prairie Canada. In short, the reaction was about what one would expect in Windsor if the meeting had been told that the 10 per cent surcharge could bankrupt 150 prairie turkey raisers.

largely to markets where Canadian wheat had gone. Part of the gimmickry used was to dump perfectly good milling grade wheat into the world trade priced as livestock feed.

When the matter was brought to the attention of Prime Minister Trudeau in Winnipeg he exploded impatiently: "Well what do you want me to do, sell your wheat for you?" He was seemingly unaware that there was such a thing as the Canada Wheat Board which was charto rise to parity? Not only did that hit the entire farm population in the income and outgo pockets, it produced mass unemployment in the plywood and pulpwood industries of the west. It hit the cattlemen just as hard as the Nixon surcharge will hit any Canadian industry.

As for such things as the auto-pact which is now under pressure, the sympathy of the prairie people would be easier to arouse if there was a quid pro quo somewhere in sight. But the price of cars on the prairies is as high as it ever was. So are truck prices. And the cars which are sold in Winnipeg for winter driving are still being engineered for the California climate. And all the gadgetry required to satisfy California law-makers is compulsory at extra cost to Manitobans who have no air pollution problems.

Feed Grain Complaint

On the other hand, the farmers of the west have been complaining for years about a federal policy which subsidizes the shipment of feed grain to Ontario and Quebec cattle feeders. This lowers the price of food to eastern consumers and makes it impossible for Manitoba cattle feeders to compete in that lucrative market.

A two-price wheat system has long been advocated by prairie farmers. It would not add a tenth as much to the retail price of bread as the autopact does to the price of cars in Manitoba. But there is a record of any Ontario or Quebec trades union ever supporting any prairie claim for national attention?

Finally, to illustrate the fragmented nature of our country still further, there has been the reaction to the Benson billion dollar boondoggle. Again the reaction has been a cynical shrug that the prime minister himself would envy. If there is anything important for the west in the Benson bag of tricks it is not yet in attention-grabbing focus.

Whose Ox?

The tide of Canadian nationalism is running about as strongly on the prairies as it is anywhere. The problem out here is that most people are convinced Ottawa only gets interested when American aggression goes eastern oxen. One example will suffice.

When the 10 per cent surtax was announced the government immediately went into a huddle and announced that it would provide $80 millions in handouts to industries which were seriously hurt by the impact of the surcharge. There was not a whisper of dissent in the west. Okay, Canadians are getting hurt so let's help them over their trouble.

But—Two years ago, the government of the United States launched a world-wide fire-sale to get rid of its surplus wheat.

financial arguments

ged with doing just that, and to which the farmers were compelled by federal law to deliver their wheat crop.

Ultimately, of course, the administration moved in to provide financial arguments to the wound. Then they untied everything by the late and unlamented wheat-tariff legislation.

And where was Ottawa when the value of the Canadian dollar was allowed

A Tax for Use of the Seas

Since Britannia no longer claims to rule the waves and no other nation has established succession to sovereignty over the deep — except for measured distances from its own shorelines — the recent Woods Hole examination of international government for exploitation of the seas makes good sense.

The high-seas, we are told, are increasingly exposed to pollution. Eliminating pollution will call not only for more careful operation of vessels using the seas, but also for substantial funds to clean up the mess already created.

Dr. Bertrand de Jouvenel, an economist from the University of Paris, presents an interesting proposal to raise at least some of the funds. Those who use the oceans beyond territorial jurisdictions, he says, ought to pay a tax for that use.

Transport is the industry benefitting most from the high seas, although naval operations, harvesting of food, offshore drilling for oil and gas and the extraction of chemicals are also activities making demands on the high seas and profiting from them. So, says Dr. Jouvenel, tax the users of the high seas and use the revenue to finance anti-pollution efforts.

The suggestion is a provocative one and should add one more point of practical interest to discussions at Malta next year, when representatives of 40 nations will consider plans for the future international use of the oceans.

BRUCE HUTCHISON

Response to the Pinpricks?

Every Canadian with normal eyesight sees through the disguise now worn by his government. The autumn fashion in Ottawa is thin, transparent plastic. A panto retreat on the financial front is hailed as a bold advance. A lack of any real policy to deal with the two-headed monster of inflation and unemployment is represented as a cunning strategy for later execution, a mysterious "contingency plan" which the public cannot understand but can surely trust. A prime minister obviously baffled, as well he may be, appears on television as the serene master of events that have overwhelmed him.

All this is comprehensible to the mind of the most ignorant citizen. It fools nobody. But the citizen, if he has a heart as well as a mind, must sympathize with the government and with opposition parties even more confused. Unless he is peculiarly stupid and malicious he knows also that the agony of the politicians should be no comfort to him since he cannot escape the consequences. Certain points, however, are still incomprehensible, at least to the simple mind of this reporter.

In the first place, it is incomprehensible that the government and its warning galaxy of experts failed to foresee the earthquake of Aug. 15 in Washington. Assuredly its exact dimensions and shock force could not be foreseen in date or detail but no Canadian who read the American balance-of-payments figures could expect our neighbors to allow this fatal hemorrhage to continue much longer.

Proposterous Notion

Nevertheless, all the government's economic calculations, all the experts' projections and all the Liberal party's electoral plans were based on the quite preposterous notion that things would go on as usual.

A second point is equally incomprehensible. How, one is constrained to ask, could the government imagine that its continual anti-American gestures would bring no response from Washington, that Joe Greene's shouts at Denver, for instance, would not be heard within the White House, or that any president would ignore Mr. Trudeau's ultimate whoop of complacency — "we know darn well" that the United States will have to defend Canada no matter what Canada does or does not?

To assume that these yelps and pinpricks did not penetrate and hurt our neighbors was to assume that they were not human like us. To be sure, the American public heard little from Canada, taking it for granted as we always complain. But the American government heard all right and reacted humanly, if not wisely.

Any Canadian who ventures to question the manners of his government is widely accused of being soft on Americanism, nowadays an offence almost as inexcusable as being soft on Communism. Any man who sees faults in his own country will be suspected of selling it out. Any man who thinks that Canada must get along with the United States ... never the twin ...

(The reasons far more important than economics) will be charged with un-Canadianism because he seeks no hope in anti-Americanism.

It is not easy, and impossible in a short column, to explain why a man can be passionately Canadian without hating any foreigners, why Canada will waste its vital energies and exhaust itself in hatred, or why such a purely negative struggle to maintain an identity well established already can only lose it in the end.

Leaving that philosophical question aside for the moment, a third point is incomprehensible. How have we managed, in the three years of Trudeau, to reverse the healing work, the climate, and the continental understanding achieved in the five years of Lester Pearson? What has brought us to the present misunderstanding? Why are we busily making friends in Russia, China and elsewhere overseas (a very wise thing to do) but making enemies next door? And what would Mr. Pearson say about it if he felt free to speak?

Doubtless his successors will reply, with the ardent support of the NDP, that it is the Americans' fault and doubtless this is partly true. The Americans have made terrible mistakes and are now trying desperately to correct them at high cost to others, including us. But will any Canadian say that no comparable mistakes have been made in Ottawa where, unlike Washington, mistakes are seldom admitted and, in the economic sphere, there is no plan to correct them?

Anyhow the government's ham-handed method of asserting Canada's rights and sovereignty, its failure to see that its manners are unworthy of its purposes, above all its assumption that Canada can always take the United States for granted while angrily protesting that the Americans do the same in reverse — these things remain incomprehensible.

Soured Nationalism

They are usually excused in the name of nationalism — a perfectly respectable doctrine until it turns sour and becomes mean-spirited and self-pity, as it threatens to become in Canada. Concerning nationalism of the wrong sort the great British historian, G. M. Trevelyan, once wrote a piece of advice which we could usefully remember today:

"The sentiments of nationalism, that simplest of all ideals which appeals to the largest quantity of brute force, has in its nature no political affinities either with liberty on the one hand or with tyranny on the other; it can be turned by some chance current of events, or by the clumsiness or cunning of statesmen, to run in any channel, or to work any wheel. If it has brought more misery on the world than any other political passion, it has often, by alliance with the noblest causes, lent them power which they would never otherwise have obtained."

That point at least is comprehensible — nationalism can be used for good ends or bad. And so it is today that between good and bad, constructive or destructive, generous or mean, Canada must choose. But, punchdrunk after the foreseeable shock of Aug. 15, neither government nor opposition is yet in a fit state of mind to make a choice or frame a national policy.

Losing Character

As a resident of Victoria for nearly 40 years, and a lover of beauty wherever it may be found, I am appalled at the change that has taken place in our fair city. It is fast losing (if it has not already done so) its character, its identity which was unique in Canada, and is becoming just another city with all its 'highrises,' some of which are atrocities.

Such treatment is hard to forget. E. W. Abraham, 1125 Faithful Street.

Canada and U.S. Destined to Grow Further Apart?

By CLAUDE LEMELIN

Relations between Canada and the United States have become increasingly strained since Aug. 15, when President Nixon jolted the international community by imposing his 10 per cent import surcharge and floating the U.S. dollar.

During the two months since then, the tone of public and private communications across the celebrated "longest undefended border in the world" has been raised to a new and grating pitch. Relations between Ottawa and Washington, once cited to the international community as a paragon of harmony, have deteriorated to the point where mutual distrust delays the resumption of fruitful negotiations.

A watershed may have been reached in U.S.-Canada relations. Even if the two nations succeed in patching up their disagreements in the coming months, it may well be that they are destined to grow further apart. Certainly, the Nixon administration's unilateral disruption of trade across the 49th parallel — the most intensive in the world — has compelled the Trudeau government to grope for an alternative to North American integration for the Canadian economy.

Such an "agonizing reappraisal" — a borrowed phrase used by Canada's minister for trade and industry, Jean-Luc Pepin, in a speech delivered in Houston earlier this month — would merely extend to economic policy a basic decision taken three years ago by the Trudeau government in the field of foreign policy.

To dilute the pervasive American influence that grew out of Canada's special and privileged postwar relationship with the United States, Ottawa then decided to "diversify" its foreign policy by establishing diplomatic relations with China and developing closer links with the Soviet Union, as well as by tightening existing relations with Europe, Japan and other countries in the Pacific basin.

It is unlikely that an early removal of the American import surcharge would end the search in Canada for an economic alternative. Come what may, Ottawa is expected at the very least to pursue with a new urgency its drive for diversification of Canada's economic relations.

"What happened once can always happen again," a government official close to Prime Minister Trudeau re-economic policies for more than a quarter century.

Unlike Japan, Britain and the Common Market countries, Canada was not unduly disturbed by the monetary aspects of President Nixon's new economic program. But the import surcharge and the "Buy American" clause attached to the 7 per cent investment credit now before Congress were quite another matter.

Canada's exports to the United States reached $10.2 billion last year — representing 68 per cent of Canada's total exports and almost 15 per cent of her gross national product. The surcharge would severely affect more than a quarter of Canada's exports to America — $2.5 billion of goods — while the "Buy American" clause would jeopardize an additional $300 million of Canadian machinery exports southward.

Canadian officials claim that such drastic curtailment of foreign trade would destroy in a single year more than 100,000 jobs, thus raising Canada's already high unemployment rate — 7.1 per cent last month — by two full percentage points at the very least. Given the fast growth of the labor force and the inevitable concentration of unemployment in Quebec, the French-speaking province where separatist sentiment has been growing steadily in recent years, this prospect horrified the Trudeau government.

In addition, the substantial tax break the United States would grant to the domestic international sales corporations (DISCS) proposed by President Nixon would significantly reduce business investment in Canada. The DISCS — which Canadian officials maintain would violate the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade — would receive long-term deferral of U.S. income taxes by acting as U.S. firms' domestic funnels for foreign sales, thereby encouraging the firms to substitute exports from American plants for production by overseas subsidiaries.

About half of Canadian manufacturing industry and more than 60 per cent of resource industries are owned and controlled by American corporations. Consequently, any substantial disincentive to foreign investment enacted by Congress is bound to bring about economic stagnation in Canada.

But the Trudeau government could not afford to ignore internal political considerations. Not to go to Washington would have provided opposition parties with choice ammunition a few months away from the next federal election.

glum at meeting

It was also felt in Ottawa that, even if an early exemption from the surcharge could not be expected, a top-level meeting would still be useful, if only to probe the Nixon administration's long-term view on U.S.-Canada relations and to remind it of the disastrous impact its new "game plan" would have on the Canadian economy.

After the rebuffs of the Aug. 19 meeting in Washington, the Canadian cabinet quietly began to draw up — almost from scratch — contingency plans to safeguard the country's economic interests.

What shocked the Canadians into this fundamental economic review was not so much the U.S. Treasury's emphasis on the admittedly substantial bilateral balance of payments surplus from which Canada has benefitted in the last two years — the first such surpluses since 1891. (Ottawa and Washington don't even agree on figures; according to Canadian statistics, the surplus was $1.1 billion in 1970, while U.S. statistics put it much higher, at $1.6 billion.)

The Canadians were totally unprepared for a major onslaught against Canada's industrial development policies, an onslaught that could easily have been construed as an unwarranted American intrusion in the country's internal affairs.

Canada's trade and development policies toward the United States are essentially mercantilist, U.S. Treasury officials are reported to have said. Not only do Canadians want to sell their natural resources, for which the United States has an urgent need, but they also try to expand by all possible means — efficient or not — their output and exports of manufactured goods.

Whenever the Canadian government agrees to import anything from the U.S. — be it automobiles, aircraft, military equipment or computers — it always tries to negotiate "Canadian content" and other offsetting clauses. In fact, the Nixon administration often has the impression that Canada would prefer not to import anything from the United States, it was further said. (Canada's imports from America totalled $9.2 billion in 1970, more than the total for Japan and the United Kingdom combined).

In recent years, Treasury officials allegedly went on, Canada's industrial development has become — distinctively more — interventionist and more aggressive. Rather than let market forces freely determine the location of manufacturing plants within North America, Ottawa attracts U.S. firms to Canada with a wide range of subsidies. Branch plants recently established by Control Data and IBM are obvious examples.

Thus, concluded the American spokesmen, there are several aspects of Canadian economic policies that inevitably lead to "climaxes and contradictions" with the United States. Many of Canada's secondary industries are inefficient and excessively dependent on the U.S. market, while their artificial expansion has put a ceiling on U.S. exports of manufactured goods to Canada.

Canadians Unprepared For Onslaught

How, then, is the United States expected to get the foreign exchange it needs to buy Canadian raw materials? Canadians would clearly be better off if their secondary industries were based on the processing of natural resources. Continental economic integration could then proceed without conflicts of interest arising regularly between Canada and the United States.

Despite the near panic these blunt statements provoked within the Canadian government, politicians maintained a shocked silence in Ottawa for several weeks while officials probed further the Nixon administration's intentions toward the Canadian economy.

When a second meeting in Washington between civil servants failed to dispel the ominous signs of a U.S. retreat into protectionism and economic nationalism, the Canadian cabinet feverishly began to draw up its contingency plans, both to counter the immediate threat of the U.S. import surcharge and to reassess Canada's long-term development strategy and trading patterns.

On Sept. 7, Canada became the first country to take legislative action seeking to neutralize the impact of the import surcharge on its trade with the United States. For the remainder of the current fiscal year, which ends next March 31, $80 million has been allocated for so-called "employment maintenance grants" — a thinly disguised form of export subsidy that will enable firms exporting more than 20 per cent of their output to America to maintain at least in part their competitive position in the U.S. market.

If the surcharge outlasts the current fiscal year, a further $300 million is expected to be allocated to the employment maintenance program. Ottawa also announced special government purchases of food exports that have been hurt by the U.S. surcharge. The resulting stocks will be donated to the world food program.

Ominous Signs Of Retreat to Protectionism

Also following the Washington meetings, Trudeau announced the indefinite postponement of talks with the U.S. on joint development and exploitation of energy resources on a continental basis. The Nixon administration is eager to negotiate with Canada a North American free trade agreement for energy resources, so Trudeau's curt announcement, justified by lack of ministerial time, given Canada's urgent economic problems, could be interpreted as a subtle reprisal against Secretary Connally's poker tactics.

Opposition parties in the House of Commons have repeatedly called for the imposition of a surcharge on Canadian exports of natural resources. Business lobbies in Canada have begun to press more and more forcefully for the imposition of a retaliatory surcharge on imports of manufactured goods from the United States.

Since the abortive visit to Ottawa of Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans on the last weekend of September, there have been no official communications between Ottawa and Washington, short of normal diplomatic contacts. During the EMF meeting at the end of September, however, John Petty, assistant treasury secretary for international affairs, convoked the Canadian press corps in Washington for an unusual on-the-record briefing.

Though Canadian correspondents generally interpreted this move as a thinly disguised attempt at U.S. arm-twisting, Petty actually tried to dispel the ominous impressions gathered by Canadian ministers and civil servants during their August meetings with U.S. Treasury officials.

He categorically denied that it was the Nixon administration's policy to reduce Canada to the role of raw material supplier for the United States. Indeed, he expressed satisfaction at the recent expansion of Canadian output and exports of manufactured goods. To be sure, Petty reiterated Washington's criticism of several aspects of Canadian economic policies, but he emphasized that these disagreements could — easily be resolved through bilateral negotiations.

Canadian officials were not displeased by Petty's somewhat irregular initiative, but wondered why the Nixon administration chose not to make its views known through official channels. Puzzlement verged on irritation when the Chicago Tribune, on Oct. 11, published an alleged Treasury document entitled "Grievances Against Canada." The document listed 17 U.S. demands (including unilateral tariff changes, amendments to Canada's tax reform bill, and revision of her industrial development policies) as conditions for the exemption of Canadian goods from the import surcharge. "We believe there is nothing wrong with communication channels," Prime Minister Trudeau told the Commons in answer to question by opposition members. The problem, Trudeau said, is that "it is not American policy to put the proper stuff into the channels which would satisfy the Canadian people."

Ottawa's reaction to the Chicago Tribune article exemplifies the Trudeau government's tough, yet subdued stand, toward what are literally considered in the country as "beggars-ty-neighbor" policies by the Nixon administration. Canadian officials first expressed skepticism about the authenticity of the document — at least on its status as a policy statement. The external affairs minister, Mitchell Sharp, duly acknowledged a State Department denial that the list of grievances represented in any way official policy toward Canada. But at the same time, Sharp began to list Canada's own grievances against the United States, thereby implying that, in Ottawa's view, the Chicago Tribune leak had been deliberate and represented the U.S. Treasury's response to a tough speech in Toronto three days before by Revenue Minister Herbert Grey.

Quite obviously, then, the Trudeau government has been far from innocent of recourse to "unofficial" or "improper" channels. Indeed, Canadian ministers have mounted since mid-September a barrage of increasingly aggressive statements on the future of U.S.-Canada relations.

Trudeau was blunt on Sept. 23, during one of his frequent television interviews: "When the Americans look at what they're doing they say: 'Well, you know, we're doing this to the Japanese, and we're doing this to the Europeans.' They don't seem to realize what they're doing to Canadians. If they do realize what they're doing, and if it becomes apparent that they just want us to be sellers of natural resources to them and buyers of their manufactured products — all these 'ifs' — I repeat we will have to reassess fundamentally our relations with them, trading, political and otherwise."

"They will have to realize that Canadians are also a proud nation," the Prime Minister warned "and that if they are really trying to rearrange the North American continent so that we are just a supplier, and that we won't be able to find jobs for our growing labor force, and we won't be able to have an advanced technological society that we can manage ourselves, that is a very, very serious hypothesis. I don't think the Americans realize this or envisage it."

As part of Canada's reassessment of her economic relations with the United States, Sharp earlier this month submitted to the cabinet an external affairs staff study outlining the various alternatives. None of the theoretical possibilities — which range from a trade war to a common market arrangement with the United States — has yet been excluded, Trudeau recently noted.

But Sharp indicated earlier that, in practice a common market arrangement was out of the question. This would provide not only for free trade between the two countries, but also for a common North American tariff against the rest of the world.

It is felt in Ottawa that, given the relative size and political weight of the two economies, such an arrangement would virtually shift the responsibility for Canadian commercial and development policies from Ottawa to Washington, thereby drastically eroding Canada's sovereignty.

Canadian Air Industry Marking Time

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's aerospace industry, in a tailspin since the United States and Canada cut defence spending, continues to hold on, waiting for better times.

Canadian production reached about $800 million in 1967, with about half going to fill Canadian defence orders and another $300 million shipped to the U.S.

But by 1970, production had dropped to $500 million and U.S. orders had fallen to about $267 million.

The result has been the most drastic series of layoffs ever to hit the industry.

Employment reached about 50,000 in early 1967 but dropped to about 24,000 by mid-1971. A survey by the Air Industries Association projects that it will drop to about 15,000 by the end of 1972.

An association spokesman says he would like to see an over-all policy formulated for the industry, specifically on development of a STOL program.

STOL stands for short takeoff and landing aircraft, proposed as ideal for relatively short flights and in areas where long airstrips are not available.

The Science Council of Canada last December strongly advocated an early start on a STOL program in Canada but said some rationalization of the industry might be necessary.

The council said that while "the skills do exist in Canada to tackle a program of this type . . . they do not reside in any one company."

"It will be necessary to find some viable means of amalgamating the design capabilities of one company with the production capabilities of another."

The industry sees some encouragement in the decision of the federal government to proceed with a Montreal-Ottawa demonstration system for STOL aircraft. The hardware—the electronics and so on—is expected to cost about $15 million.

All of Canada's major plane makers are developing STOL aircraft.

De Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. is developing the DHC-7, a four-engine aircraft capable of carrying 48 passengers.

Canadair Ltd. of Montreal has three STOL on order by the Canadian Armed Forces. Its civilian project, the CL-246, is still on paper. It is designed to carry 70 passengers.

Hunter Douglas To Netherlands

TORONTO (CP)—Shareholders of Hunter Douglas Ltd., a manufacturer of aluminum consumer goods, building products and machinery, have approved a corporate reorganization that will move the head office from Pointe Claire, Quec., to the Netherlands.

The restructuring dissolves the Canadian company in a one-for-one share exchange that creates a Dutch company, Hunter Douglas NV.

Company officials said the move reflects the fact that only 14 per cent of the multinational company's sales are in Canada and 64 per cent are in Europe. Another factor is more favorable tax legislation in The Netherlands.

Shareholders had been given three options to dispose of Hunter Douglas Ltd. common shares, including one to trade them for voting preferred shares of Hunter Douglas Canada Ltd., the company's Canadian operating subsidiary.

Another option was a cash offer by a banking group led by N. M. Rothschild and Sons Ltd. of $14 a share.

EDITOR: G.S. KENT

Standard

Consolidated net earnings of Standard Broadcasting Corp. of $1.5 million (27.3 cents a share) for the six months ended Sept. 30 were 5.9 per cent above $1.45 million (25.9 cents) in 1970.

Gross revenue was $6.66 million while last year's total of $6.87 million included income of Standard Sound Systems Toronto contracting business, closed down at the end of 1970.

Working capital of $9.5 million at Sept. 30, compared with $8.76 million at April 1 and $8.54 million a year ago.

Super-Valu

Super Valu Stores in the just-ended quarter had net income of $1.7 million (71 cents a share) compared with $1.23 million (51 cents) 12 months earlier.

Sales rose from $203.03 million to $239.46 million, raising nine-month performance from $649.65 million to $743.8.

For the three-quarters, net income was $5 million ($2.09 a share) compared with $3.6 million (14.8 cents a share) for the same period in 1970. In the third quarter, net earnings advanced 40.8 per cent to $7 million (37 cents).

Phelps

Decline in the copper market is reflected in the third quarter statement of Phelps Dodge, the U.S.-based parent company with international mining interests.

A net loss of $500,000 compares with a profit of $19 million (94 cents a share) a year earlier.

Sales were down from $174.3 million to $141.2 million. Performance in the nine months was restated to compare more accurately with the period in 1970, and shows sales of $527.6 million ($560.3 million) and net income of $52.3 million ($84.2 million), including extraordinary gains each year. This equals $2.57 a share and $4.18 a share, respectively, or $2.46 and $4.16 before gains.

HBOG

Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Co. Ltd. reports net earnings of $15.85 million (81 cents a share) for the first nine months, a 22.4 per cent increase over the corresponding period last year.

In 1970, nine-month earnings were $12.94 million (65 cents).

The company also reports

Aquitaine

Aquitaine Co. of Canada Ltd. had net earnings of $13.25 million (64.3 cents a share) for the nine months ended Sept. 30, up from $10.6 million (51 cents) for the period in 1970.

Gross revenues were $19.8 million compared with $19.58 million for the nine-month period last year.

Weyerhaeuser

The Weyerhaeuser Co. reports earnings were down 14 per cent during the third quarter of 1971 despite a record $323 million in sales.

The firm reported net earnings of $23.2 million (33 cents a share), down 18 per cent for the quarter ended Sept. 31. Nine-month earnings totalled $1.10 a share, down 24 per cent.

Sales during the quarter were up 4 per cent and for the first nine months were $332 million, up 1 per cent.

GCOS

Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. reports its loss for the first nine months of this year was $7 million representing an improvement over the loss of $12.68 million a year ago.

Revenue for the three quarters of 1971 increased to $36.44 million from $26.1 million during the January-September period of 1970.

Loss during the third quarter was $3.78 million, compared with $4.11 million loss a year earlier, on revenues of $11.33 million and $9.18 million respectively.

HBOG

Nine-month profit for Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Co. Ltd. shows a respectable 22.4 per cent gain from a year ago at $15.85 million (81 cents a share) compared with 65 cents in 1970.

Gross operating revenue advanced 17.8 per cent to $70.84 million, of which $36.83 million came from operations.

In the third quarter, net earnings rose 40.8 per cent to $7 million (37 cents) on gross of $24.37 million, an increase of 22.9 per cent.

Exports Important In B.C.

The importance of exports as a source of growth in the B.C. economy is unparalleled among economically advanced nations, a provincial government study shows.

The value of exports per capita in British Columbia was $890 in 1969, compared with $654 for Canada as a whole, according to a report of the industrial development, trade and commerce department.

Comparable figures for other countries for per capita value of exports are listed as: Germany, $478; United Kingdom, $315; France, $298; Italy, $230; United States, $187; Japan, $156.

B.C. exported 53 per cent of its total goods production in 1969, compared with about 35 per cent for the rest of Canada.

Exports as a percentage of gross national product in Canada are 18.5 per cent. The comparable figure for B.C. is 22.9 per cent. For Germany, it is 17.7 per cent; United Kingdom, 16.1 per cent; Italy, 14.2 per cent; France, 11.2 per cent; Japan, 9.6 per cent; U.S., 4.1 per cent.

Market Grows

EDMONTON (CP)—An increasing market for Alberta agricultural products is being found in Japan, particularly in pork and beef, H. J. Hargrave, Alberta's marketing commissioner, said Monday.

Hargrave said four Japanese trade missions have visited Alberta during the last month with specific interests in processed foods, forage seed, meat processing and beef.

"Even though the number of missions has been steadily increasing, during the last year, four in one month is quite a record," he said.

FOUR-DAY WEEK AT IMPERIAL

TORONTO (CP)—Imperial Oil Ltd. will introduce a four-day work week for about 700 employees at its eastern region controller's office in suburban Don Mills starting Nov. 8.

Company officials said Tuesday the shorter week is the first of its kind for a large, complex accounting operation in North America.

Under the scheme, employees will normally work four 8½-hour days with three days off, including the Saturday-Sunday weekend. The third day off will be on a rotational basis and will provide employees with one four-day weekend every five weeks.

Heavy Opposition Faces Purchase Bid

CALGARY (CP)—Canadian Pacific Ltd. hit stiff resistance Tuesday in its bid to purchase 50 per cent of Commercial Solids Pipe Line Co. of Toronto.

Eight oil companies and the governments of Alberta and Saskatchewan threw up the opposition at a Canadian Transport Commission hearing.

The interveners said Canadian Pacific's acquisition would inhibit competition because of its interest in other modes of transportation.

"A commodity pipeline which is partially controlled by a railway is bound to operate an unfair disadvantage in respect of traffic which can be carried either by rail or by pipeline," said Calgary lawyer J. M. Robertson who presented a submission for the oil companies.

He said Canadian Pacific's acquisition would contravene the National Transportation Act which aims to keep various modes of transportation competitive.

A Saskatchewan government submission said there is no case more important to the future of transportation in this country.

'Family' Bus Service Is Booming

The Sidney-based Pacific Commuter bus line is making a success out of a money-losing service which was discontinued a year ago by Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

At that time 32-year-old Wayne MacArthur, former V.I.C.L. director of sales, lobbied Sanich Peninsula councils for two months to convince them he could successfully operate the service.

His proposal was finally approved, the two-bus service is successful and the company has just bought a 41-seat coach equipped with a washroom for the charter business.

MacArthur is "going great guns" with bus tours. Last week, he hauled the Victoria Cougars hockey team through the Interior and says "we can hold our own on regular runs, but to better our equipment we have to have charters."

B.C. Hydro is the big competition.

"Bucking something as big as B.C. Hydro is tough," admitted MacArthur who is bitter about a government-subsidized operation taking "the cream" of the bus business.

Nevertheless, the two buses which started in Peninsula service have been paid off and the financial picture is healthy.

How has the Pacific Commuter managed to attract customers?

By re-routing, basing the depot in Sidney and achieving a "family atmosphere," says MacArthur.

Each driver treats his bus as his own car and gets to know his passengers. The morning bus picks up school children between the early city run and later shopping schedules.

School bus trips are rowdy but controlled with a background supplied by C-FAX. Driver Bob Fiddick makes sure that any student having a birthday is acknowledged on the radio which also carries Fiddick's road report early in the day.

There is no bus operating on Sunday because "preventative maintenance is the absolute answer" to transport headaches, says MacArthur.

On Sunday, he and his wife Donna, who runs the office and maintenance man and driver Harry Williams and his wife, clean and check the buses from top to bottom.

"Consequently, we have never missed a trip or had an accident."

Pacific Commuter will move shortly into a new office on Beacon Avenue near Rest Haven Drive where there will be a waiting-room and another member of the "family", this time Mrs. MacArthur senior, will lend a hand.

Greenpeace in Canada

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — The Greenpeace nuclear protest mission arrived back in Canada Tuesday, the mission vessel Phyllis Cormack docking at this northern British Columbia port 41 days after it sailed from Vancouver.

The Phyllis Cormack, a Canadian halibut boat, slipped into port about two hours earlier than expected, and was cleared quickly by customs officer Jack Yager.

The 12 members of the mission were to take part later in a car cavalcade through Prince Rupert, led by Mayor P. J. Lester, and then were to attend a welcoming dinner and hold a news conference.

The Phyllis Cormack planned to sail again at midnight, and is expected to reach Vancouver on Saturday. Original plan of the mission was to cruise just outside the three-mile U.S. territorial limit off the Aleutian Islands of Amchitka when the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission detonated a five-megaton nuclear bomb on the island.

The plan was abandoned when the blast was not held when expected, in early October. Although the test still has not been cancelled, no date for it has been set.

Several U.S. court actions against the proposed test remain to be resolved.

EDITION LIFTED

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 16,000 copies of the UBC student newspaper, Ubcyssey, the newspaper's entire run, were stolen Tuesday shortly after they were dropped off at 20 distribution points on the campus.

A student said it is believed the theft is connected with a referendum being held today in which students are asked to approve or reject the program of the Human Government, the student government in power.

Compensation Hearings Open

VANCOUVER (CP) — A total of 49 briefs are to be considered at public hearings which opened Tuesday to deal with proposed new regulations governing compensation for job inquiries in B.C.

The hearings, expected to last two weeks, are before Cyril White, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board and are being held in the board's administration building.

A joint board-labor-management committee, headed by board commissioner R. B. Carpenter, worked on the new recommendations for more than a year and submitted 255 new regulations and 530 revisions in existing laws.

One of the main recommendations calls for a separate category for the oil and gas industry, formerly covered in general regulations.

White said the proposed revisions will provide the province with the most advanced accident prevention regulations in Canada.

War Games Still Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Donald Macdonald said Tuesday that British troop exercises will go ahead as planned next spring in southern Alberta, despite contentions they will threaten the natural environment.

Steve Paproski (PC-Edmonton Centre) asked in the Commons whether the government was having second thoughts about the exercises

"in light of the negative ecology report on the possible consequences."

The report concluded that grass fires started by gunfire would be a major safety and environmental hazard.

Whose Wreck Is It?

NEW ORLEANS (NYT) — After four years of diving, digging, mapping and electronic sounding, an American explorer believes he is nearing success in his search for the wreckage of Christopher Columbus' flagship, the Santa Maria.

A sonar profile made in August indicated a hulk 100 feet long embedded in a sand-and-coral reef off the northern coast of Haiti.

Fred Dickson Jr., the 42-year-old explorer, was enthused about what the soundings showed. The hulk might be nothing more than a concentration of coral, but it might be the ballast mound and the remains of the hull of the lost ship, he said.

ANTIFACTS

The reef has already yielded several artifacts that Dickson believes are from the Santa Maria. They included six copper spikes, four pieces of wood, two iron rudder clamps, a brass bolt and a fragment of pottery.

The Museum of Applied Science Centre for Archeology at the University of Pennsylvania has made tests on the wood and pottery samples. It reported that the pottery was made in 1475, give or take 100 years, and that the wood probably was cut between 1500 and 1770.

"I am certain that the pottery came from the Santa Maria," Dickson said in an interview here. "I am also certain that the Santa Maria is on that reef around wreck site No. 5 (the site of his search), but give me a quarter of a mile leeway."

NON-PROFIT

The Santa Maria went aground, pierced by coral, early Christmas morning in 1492. Columbus' log, lost after two early historians had studied it, indicated that the wreck occurred in Cape Haitien Bay a few miles east of what is now the town of Cape Haitien.

The Haitian government has granted permission to search for the wreckage to the Santa Maria Foundation, a nonprofit American organization with headquarters at Palm Beach, Fla.

The foundation is headed by Dickson, a bachelor and a 1951 Yale graduate who has been a full-time explorer and treasure hunter since 1960.

AIR SUCTION

Dickson said he found that no one had tried to spot the wreckage from the air. He got permission from former President Francois Duvalier of Haiti to search for it in 1967.

He flew over the bay, studied the reefs and spotted what looked to him like the shape of a ship in the coral six miles east of Cape Haitien and about a mile north of the nearest suggested site.

"I nearly fell out of the airplane," he said.

He began digging in the coral with an air-suction device. First he came up with a piece of ballast, that, he now believes, was from a neighboring shipwreck that had been scattered onto his reef by a storm. About eight wrecks lie in one two-mile stretch of the bay, he said.

CONVINCED

Then he found spikes and pieces of wood and finally the piece of pottery that convinced him he was near the wreckage.

H. K. Brooks, associate professor of geology at the University of Florida, made the sonar sub-bottom profile that bolstered Dickson's belief this summer. Dr. Brooks had studied the site earlier.

In a letter to Dickson last April, Brooks said he believed that a considerable amount of sediment had accumulated around the reef since 1492, which means the Santa Maria, if there, probably lies under a heavy blanket of coral and sand.

"This is going to hamper discovery and excavation of the wreck," Brooks wrote, "but it is good in that the remains will have been protected from destructive submarine processes."

Scouts on Rise

VANCOUVER (CP) — Membership in Boy Scouts organizations in Canada has been increasing over the past year. John Sharp of Montreal, president of the scouts' national council, said there are now 275,000 boys and 32,000 adult advisers in the movement.

Ball to Highlight Save-Venice Drive

OTTAWA (CP) — A $50-ahead grand masked ball will be held in lavish surroundings of the National Arts Centre Nov. 6 to help save Venice.

The ball will highlight a week-long program arranged by the Ottawa Save Venice committee to raise money to preserve the Arsenal, one of the Italian city's famous buildings. Actually a shipyard when Venice was a republic, it was built in 1104.

"This ball promises to be the most glamorous of the season in all of Canada," the organizers say in a letter to prospective ticket-buyers. The $50-per-person charge is "little enough when you consider both the cause and the occasion."

The cause is that Venice, a city built on small islands in a lagoon on the Gulf of Venice and noted for its splendid churches and palaces, is sinking "imperceptibly but continuously" into the Adriatic Sea.

The occasion will be elaborate. The opera house of the arts centre, where the ball will be held, will be decorated in the black and gold colors of 18th century Venice.

FLY IN FLOWERS

A red velvet canopy with scalloped edges will hang over the huge stage, supported by pillars decorated with some of the 10,000 red-and-white carnations to be flown in from Italy by Alitalia.

The formally-dressed guests will be given eye masks on arrival. They will sip cocktails from bars set up on the sprawling red staircase along the side of the opera house and dance on the main stage to the music of Bobby Gimby and his orchestra.

Donated door prizes include two first-class tickets for a winter cruise to Venice and an Italian-built sports car.

The arts centre director-general, Hamilton Southam, is a co-chairman of the organizing committee for Save Venice Week. The centre is not charging its normal rental fee for the event although it will regain costs of any outlays for food and ushers.

The Ottawa Save Venice Committee has on its honorary committee Prime Minister Trudeau, External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp and State Secretary Gerard Pelletier.

Its program also includes free displays at the National Library and National Gallery as well as a concert and film at the arts centre for which admission will be charged.

The concert by the National Arts Centre orchestra will feature works either by Venetians or written for Venice. Canadian-born conductor Mario Bernardi spent part of his youth in Treviso, Italy, north of Venice, and earned his diploma in piano, organ and composition from the Venice Conservatory.

Trunk Murderess May Be Paroled

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The life sentence of 1930s murderess Winnie Ruth Judd has been commuted to time served in prison.

A final decision on parole resulting from Gov. Jack Williams' commutation action Tuesday rests with the state board of pardons and paroles which decided by a 2-to-1 vote last Feb. 23 Mrs. Judd's sentence should be commuted.

Since Mrs. Judd has indicated she wants to rejoin a San Francisco family with whom she was living until her capture and return to Arizona in 1969, an agreement on parole board supervision between the two states would have to be reached, board Chairman Keith E. Edwards said.

Mrs. Judd, 66, was convicted in 1932 of the shooting death of Agnes Anne LeRoi on Oct. 17, 1931.

SENTENCED TO DIE

Mrs. Judd was not tried for the murder of Hedvig Samuelson. His dismembered, nude body was found in one blood-soaked trunk and Mrs. LeRoi's in another at a Los Angeles railroad station where they were shipped by Mrs. Judd.

Mrs. Judd was sentenced to death Feb. 24, 1932, after a sensational trial but shortly before she was to be hanged, a sanity hearing indicated she was mentally incompetent and in April, 1933, she was committed to the Arizona state hospital in Phoenix.

Years later, Gov. Howard Pyle commuted her death sentence to life imprisonment with no possibility of parole.

During her years at the state mental hospital, Mrs. Judd escaped seven times. The latest disappearance was Oct. 8, 1962. She stayed hidden until June, 1969, when she was discovered working as a domestic for a San Francisco family.

Mrs. Judd was returned to Arizona and placed in the Arizona state prison after she was ruled sane at a second sanity hearing.

SORRY ABOUT THAT, DEAR, was probably the way Mrs. K. Bennett of Medicine Hat started her conversation with her husband Tuesday when she got home from a shopping spree. Mrs. Bennett had left her car to go into a department store. While inside she heard about a car that had gone through the store window. It was hers. Damage to the store was $1,500 and to her car $150.

Last Day of Campaigning For Newfoundland Race

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood and Progressive Conservative leader Frank Moores enter the final day of campaigning today for Thursday's Newfoundland general election.

Both men, key figures in a lacklustre campaign, spoke to party rallies Tuesday night.

Premier Smallwood, seeking his seventh straight political victory since Newfoundland joined Confederation in 1949, made one of his few paid television appearances of the campaign, just before the legal ban on political broadcasts came into effect.

The 70-year-old premier referred to his 22 years in office as "a great beginning" and asked that his government be re-elected.

HECKLE PREMIER

The premier was heckled throughout the meeting by a small group of teen-agers and by two men sitting near the front of the hall. Teen-agers—Mr. Smallwood says some of them are Mr. Moores' children—have disrupted several of the Liberal campaign meetings.

In Corner Brook, Mr. Moores, 48, spoke to a crowd estimated at 4,000. He told the rally in the city's main stadium that Newfoundlanders' votes would not be bought with promises from Mr. Smallwood.

Only the Liberals and Conservatives are running candidates in all 42 ridings. The New Democratic Party, under leader John Cunniff, is contesting 17. The party has never elected a Newfoundland member.

In the last election in 1966 the Liberals won 39 seats, the PCs three. But at dissolution the standings were Liberals 26, PC seven, Independent Liberals two and seven vacancies.

Jesus A Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway and the rock artists have found a new hit in Jesus.

Besides the wave of pop songs about Him, He's now the centre of two current theatrical attractions, the crowd-pulling musical comedy, Godspell, and the newly-opened rock opera, Jesus Christ Superstar.

In both cases, the presentations offer vivid glimpses of the man, and His magnetism, but not much of the mystery. In the end of both, He's dead, with only orchestrated intimations of anything beyond that.

Both have caught on strongly, on record, with young people—both in the churches and outside them—with their elders variously puzzled and impressed.

Religious leaders, while applauding the new interest in Jesus reflected in the youth culture's art and phrases, have had both pro-and-con reactions to the one-dimensional portrayals of Jesus.

"It's a new and perhaps healthy 'paganism,'" said Rev. Gilbert Meilaender of St. Louis, a Lutheran clergyman, noting that Greek and Roman pagan gods were active in the world, sharing human faults and weaknesses.

SEEK COMMON GROUND

"The God of the Hebrews and Christians was transcendent, but the gods of the pagans were only men immensely multiplied," he wrote in an evangelical weekly, Christianity Today. "With them one could attempt to stand on equal footing."

He said this is the rock opera's view of Jesus, adding: "It cannot affirm that in this man God is acting, because it finds in him only a man—a man writ large, a man like the gods, a superstar, but only a man."

A Roman Catholic Bible scholar, Rev. John L. McKenney of Chicago, strongly commends the rock opera, after listening to a recording of it.

"It is reverent in the sense that it took Jesus seriously," he said in the monthly journal, The Critic. "It showed a surprisingly sympathetic understanding of the historical Jesus, an understanding which many believers do not have."

'Refuse Raises' Prof Tells Labor

VANCOUVER (CP) — A University of British Columbia economics professor suggested Monday that organized labor in Canada accept no wage increases until unemployment levels are reduced.

Erwin Diewert, speaking at a lecture series on economic problems as seen from the west coast, said organized labor should voluntarily freeze wages until unemployment levels drop to three per cent.

Dr. Diewert also urged employers to resist demands of their employees for wage increases and to search for production methods which would employ more, not fewer, workers.

Curtis Eaton, another economics professor at UBC, said unions were cast in the role of villains in inflation.

"They exercise their monopolistic power to extract unreasonable wage rates from employers, who react to this increase in costs by raising prices," Mr. Eaton said.

Mr. Eaton, in endorsing a wage freeze, said a slight reduction in the standard of living of workers would be offset by the benefits to those now unemployed.

The wage freeze would be short-term, Mr. Eaton said,

STOWAWAY NOT FAR AWAY

FLEETWOOD, England (UPI) — Michael Blade, 15, picked the wrong ship when he decided to stow away.

He sneaked aboard a trawler but instead of ending up in Iceland as he expected, he found himself 100 yards away in another part of the shipyard when the vessel had been moved for repairs.

20-Year Sentence

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 20-year prison term was handed down in Vancouver Monday to Jerome Trojan, convicted of trafficking in narcotics.

He was arrested in June, 1970, in a police raid on a Vancouver home in which heroin and cocaine was seized.

TWO-WAY LETTERS

Take a Flower Not a Firearm

In which we have a dialogue with some of our dear friends out there in Readersville:

W. W. Gemmell (Lieut. R.C.E.), of Victoria, has this to say to me:

"There was a time when, occasionally, I did read the usually meaningless drivel written by your egotistical and seemingly iconoclastic self. Those occasions will be no more since I had the misfortune to read your idiotic column entitled 'Taking The Guns Out of a Sorrow.' What bombastic hogwash."

"Jack, how many relatives did you lose in the last war? None, I hope. For if you did, surely you could understand why Armistice Day is something special to all the 'old sweat.' By the by, how does your war record read?"

"For your information, most of us don't 'creep' into beer halls. We walk in, like men. Can you say the same? I doubt it, for I know you wouldn't be caught dead in a Legion hall, where comrades in arms, common men all, can get together once in a while to 'shoot the breeze.' I realize now, Scott, that such an action would be far beneath you."

"To enlighten you further, we don't go on parade on Armistice Day to glorify war. I know that most of us had 'a gut full of that.' As for me, I go to pay tribute to two brothers and some close buddies who didn't make it back. Did you have two brothers and some close buddies who didn't make it back? If you did you are an extraordinary man."

"That you can inflict your sometimes biased views on the public, as you do, is a privilege you owe to those who didn't come back and to scores of thousands of veterans who are now 'creeping back to the beer halls.'"

"What a guy you must be. If you are a vet you must have had some very, very terrible experiences or you must have been behind a desk somewhere. Somehow, I think—well, never mind."

"Scott, I do hope you make it to Spanish Wells, where you can do nothing, drink once in a while, go to church, be selfish and bone lazy and have total and selfish serenity. Somehow this fits. I can see you now. Best of luck."

And I say to Lieut. Gemmell: I was a captain in the Canadian Army, lieutenant, so watch your manners or I'll pull rank on you. You write as if the participating members of the Canadian Legion, whose South Vancouver Island Zone makes the arrangement for the Remembrance Day ceremony, were the only veterans. My guess is that there would be as many more non-joiners who would agree with the Humanist Fellowship that the day should be one of Renewed Resolution to Work For Peace and that there would be no place for guns and medals if that were achieved. In the Netherlands, where men and women know the horrors of war better than we, artillery fire and rifles have been banned, as symbols of man's inhumanity to man, in all such ceremonies. Carry a flower, this year, buddy, and leave your shootin' iron at home.

A lady who wishes to be known as Anonymous (come on, dear, stand up like a man!), comments on the notes here in praise of women's role as mothers and wives, in verse form:

7 Little girls should not complain.
Happy is their lot.
To mother, marry, nurture
Men like Scott.
If a lifetime in this service
Leaves the mind a trifle dim.
Reflect upon your masterpiece:
HIM.

And I say to Anonymous: I would give large odds that you are single and hung up on the Women's Liberation kick. There's no sillier stereotyping than the notion that wives are subservient drudges toiling away for the aggrandizement of a man. That may seem the case when a marriage goes sour, but in the great majority of homes there is a mutual understanding and respect, an awareness that each has a contribution to make. That's the ultimate equality.

Emmy Bower, of Salt Spring Island, has this to say to me: "The annual greasy pig contest has come and gone here on the island and this time without even a murmur of protest from those who stand on guard against cruelty to animals. Once again the innocent children, in this adult-organized sadism, were indoctrinated in the idea that there is no harm in terrorizing small, helpless animals and, again, with the fact approval of the SPCA. Since I recall your letter of a year or two ago to our island paper, The Driftwood, I was particularly distressed that you did not see fit to object to it in your Times column."

And I say to Mrs. Bower: I feel as strongly as ever about that damnable business, but just happened to be occupied with other matters when it took place. What interested me this year was the ultimate gesture of hypocrisy by the organizers who arranged to have "silent pigs" as the victims. As one newspaper report put it, "Perfect weather and squealing pigs added to fun. Pigs were quieter type because of fears of cruelty by SPCA officials. There were few problems this year and much hilarity in slippery chaps." Odd that the Germans didn't think of that at Auschwitz and Belson. Voiceless humans would have made it so much more antiseptic.

Mrs. M. L. Maddock, of Sidney, writes me: "Your thoughtless condemnation of the Ottawa announcement that cadet training will be extended strikes a new low, even for your column. To suggest that this is simply a way to quieten, or restless youth—'give 'em guns to play with'—as you put it—only reveals your abysmal ignorance of the cadet training program. I have had two sons in that program and thank God for it. They have learned many skills, such as life-saving and wilderness survival, but more importantly it has given them a sense of discipline and citizenship in their teen-aged years that you will never find in a long-haired hippie."

And I say to Mrs. Maddock: I am very familiar with the cadet training program and agree that many of the courses are worthwhile. It is the indoctrination into militarism, at a very impressionable age, that I deplore. Would much rather have a hippie son, doing his own thinking, than a son learning to use a weapon designed for the killing of another human being, whatever the rationalization may be.

Q. I have heard Craigdarroch Castle was won in a raffle and given up for taxes. This seems ridiculous. Can you elaborate?—J.G.

A. Historian James K. Nesbitt says Sol Cameron of Spokane won the castle in a $1 raffle, around 1911. The raffle was used as a "come-on" to buy lots which were once part of the estate. Cameron, however, could not afford the upkeep of the castle and moved out. The city of Victoria got the property because of unpaid taxes.

Pay Ceiling Met With Anger

Teacher and school board spokesmen reacted angrily today to Education Minister Donald Brocks' Tuesday announcement that provincial funds for teacher salary increases will have a ceiling next year.

But criticism was directed at more than Brocks and not everyone disagreed with him.

Locally, Byron Barker, president of the 1,383-member Greater Victoria Teachers Association, said he was "most disturbed" by what he sees as unfair interference by the province but added teachers will continue to bargain "without letting this influence us too much."

Trustee Peter Bunn, former chairman of the Greater Victoria school board, said there is real danger the aggressive leadership of the provincial teachers' association may result in them ending up as civil servants.

6.5 PER CENT

Brocks announced the provincial government will limit to 6.5 per cent the teacher salary increases it will share.

A week ago the Vancouver school board agreed to increase salaries of its 2,900 teachers by about 8.9 per cent. Brocks called the Vancouver increase inflationary and unrealistic and said he was announcing the policy changes because other school boards normally use Vancouver's settlements as a weather vane.

Vancouver school board chairman Fritz Bowers described the government move as most unfair, improper and incomprehensible.

Adam Robertson, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation agreed with him, calling the government move discriminatory.

But Jack Smedley, president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, said the limit was a reasonable one.

Bowers said he cannot say what the Vancouver school board will do until the provincial government move is clarified.

"We believe teachers have been singled out for wage control," said Robertson.

CUT BACK

Smedley said if teachers won't accept the 6.5 per cent increase limit, many school boards would have to hold referendums asking taxpayers to pay all the difference between a 6.5 per cent increase and the actual percentage which might be awarded through compulsory arbitration.

"The real tragedy is that if the taxpayers are not prepared to vote this extra money, the education programs in the districts will have to be cut back to free the funds for teacher increases."

In Victoria, Barker declined to say what increase teachers are seeking, saying there is a pact with school board negotiators not to reveal such information.

"The machinery has been set up (by the provincial government) for contract negotiation, conciliation and, if necessary, arbitration and now, right in the middle of the game, he (Brocks) has changed the rules."

The latest move together with earlier limitations placed by the province on school board operating budgets leaves trustees with no flexibility, said Barker.

FIRST STEP

Said Bunn: "There is great danger of teachers, because of their very aggressive trade union leadership, pricing themselves out of the field or ending up as civil servants... they're making themselves too expensive for school boards to buy in any number."

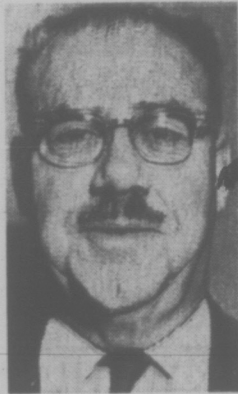

"This has led to the action of the minister (Brocks) which is really the first step toward reducing teachers to civil servants," he said.

Voters

Spotted

BAIRD... studying

An Oak Bay resident said Tuesday he has found the names of 35 aliens on the municipal voters list.

Tom Chatham, 2567 Windward, said all but one of the 35 are Americans. He said he had confirmed this by telephoning them.

Only Canadian citizens and British subjects should be on voters lists and aliens who appear on the lists are not permitted to vote. In addition, Americans who vote, stand to lose their U.S. citizenship.

Chatham, earlier, turned over the names of some aliens to Oak Bay clerk, Ted Hart. Today, Hart said officials are checking the names. One of them was an American, but some were Canadians or British. Some voters with American addresses were Canadians living away.

He said land registry used to note on the copy of property titles if the owner is an alien but this is not done any longer.

Hart pointed out that proof of citizenship, through a signed declaration, can be demanded by poll clerks on election day.

Deputy municipal affairs minister J. D. Baird said earlier this week his department is studying ways of "closing up" the possibilities of aliens getting onto voters lists.

He said the onus is ensuring only qualified persons are on the list with municipal clerks.

A city official, meanwhile, concerned that ineligible voters on the list might actually vote, said they would face on conviction a fine not exceeding $200 or prison not exceeding six months, or both, under Section 147 of the Municipal Act.

ESQUIMALT IS THINKING about bringing in cat control measures, and I wish the right little, tight little municipality luck with what could be a losing game.

I have been trying to control a cat for years, and haven't got to first base. There are times, in fact, when I have an uncomfortable suspicion that our cat controls me.

Dogs as a species are amenable to man's will. Your average dog possesses a conscience and a loving heart, whereas the cat is hampered by no such impediments to the exercise of its own free will.

It can't be disciplined, it is virtually uncatchable, and as Esquimalt officialdom will learn if a control program is attempted, its ownership can be extremely difficult to trace.

Cats don't have owners. They may frequent certain

Salary Talks to Continue

Contract talks between Victoria Symphony Society and musical director Laszlo Gati began to move again Tuesday evening, with establishment of a new negotiating committee.

The society's board of directors, at a closed meeting, approved formation of the new committee headed by Malcolm Anderson, to replace the first group which had reached a deadlock on the issue of Gati's salary.

Also on the new committee are Allan Purdy, nominated by Gati, and John DiCastri, nominated by the board.

The board debated for approximately 35 minutes Tuesday evening before deciding to refuse admittance to the press.

Society president Stuart Soward said today the move to bar the press was taken because "we didn't know the subject of Mr. Gati's item" on the agenda.

But he said a resolution was passed by the board "to welcome any member of the press at any of our board meetings... except for salary and personnel sessions."

Soward denied recent charges of administration in secret by the executive of the society, and said it "merely operates like the executive committee of any other organization."

He also said intimations of a rift between the executive and Gati are unfounded.

"If there is any personal antagonism between any member of the executive committee and Mr. Gati there is no ground for it," he said.

He said the only point of disagreement at present is the salary issue. "The ceiling we have set is not acceptable to Mr. Gati."

Heavy Construction in Slump

An upswing in Canada's heavy construction industry is not expected before mid-1972, the president of Industrial Contractors' Association of Canada said here today.

The 33-member group, representing about $1 billion a year in heavy construction and engineering projects, met for two days at the Empress Hotel for its semi-annual session.

President Karl Martitsch, of Toronto, vice-president of Stone and Webster Canada Ltd., said the outlook for next year depends largely on Canada's new tax legislation, Director George A. Wilkinson, a past-president of ICA, said the effect of taxation on mining and the petroleum and petrochemical industries will be of great importance in the volume of new contracts launched in 1972.

Also of significance will be the total effect of U.S. economie policies, the state of the pulp market and the impact of capital gains taxation, Martitsch and Wilkinson said.

Wilkinson, a former trade unionist and secretary of Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, is now president of Interprovincial Construction Ltd.

Taiwan has been expelled from the United Nations, and even though morality between powers is an empty phrase, I find that expulsion a deeply immoral act.

The United States, to her credit, fought to prevent it. I could wish that Canada had tempered her eagerness to accommodate the People's Republic of China by taking similar action.

As for the UN in total, it has suffered a loss in stature that the seating of Mainland China will not restore.

Most certainly, the People's Republic belongs in that union. If the United Nations is to achieve full effectiveness as a force for peace and an arbiter of disputes between nations, so also do all countries great and small.

Taiwan, at least, should have enjoyed a decent freedom of choice in the matter—to withdraw, or to retain her UN seat, not as representative of the Chinese people, but as a nation in her own right.

I see her ejection as a piece of juggernaut diplomacy based on the premise that the end justifies the means.

The fact that Canada should assist in the strangulation leaves me more than a trifle uneasy.

As another small and not entirely threat-free power, it might have been better if our country had maintained a tougher integrity.

Irate Oil Kings Trip Cougars

EDMONTON — Edmonton Oil Kings, still smarting from a 7-0 loss to Calgary on Sunday, took out vengeance on Victoria Cougars in a Western Canada Hockey League game here Tuesday.

Cougars failed to cash in on an early opportunity and dropped a 5-1 decision to Edmonton, which gained a share of first place in the Western Division with the victory.

The Victorians, who have yet to win a game on the road, had a man advantage for five minutes early in the opening period when Oil King forward Don Kozak drew a major penalty for spearing.

However, Cougars failed to score, and Edmonton took command before the period ended.

Kozak also had a hand in the Cougars' downfall while he was on the ice. Despite spending a total of 20 minutes in the penalty box during the contest, Kozak led Kings with three goals and an assist.

The second goal by Kozak, at 18:32 of the first period while Victoria enjoyed another man advantage situation, proved to be the turning point.

"We were in the game up to that point although we were two goals down," Victoria manager Eric Bishop explained. "That third goal turned the game around and Edmonton was away."

Fred Comrie, who opened the scoring, and Darcy Rota, who assisted on each of Kozak's goals, also counted for Edmonton.

Edmonton led 5-0 in the second period before centre Rick Kennedy scored for Cougars on a pass from Gary Howatt.

Kozak and Howatt clashed in the second period and drew five-minute penalties but linesman Bob McGee wasn't so lucky. While attempting to break up the scrap, McGee received a cut from a skate blade which required 15 stitches.

Bishop had praise for the efforts of Kennedy, Les Chalmers and goalkeeper Darryl Fedorak.

"Kozak would have had six goals if Fedorak hadn't been so sharp," Bishop said. "Kennedy played his best game so far and Chalmers checked well."

Victoria continues its trip with a game against Centennial in Calgary tonight before tackling Tigers in Medicine Hat on Thursday.

BILL WALKER

It seemed like a good time to talk to John Pickburn. He and Bob Christopher were just back from their recent scouting and business trip to the old sod, and might have some stories to tell. Maybe even some new ideas.

They did, on soccer, sex and booze. These fads are currently popular in Britain, and not necessarily in that order.

John was remarking that "it's 90 per cent certain" that Arsenal will play football in B.C. and California next spring. "They want to come, on a sort of a holiday-type junket," Pickburn explained, "and not too strenuous a tour. We agreed we could accommodate them."

The only problem is that Arsenal, which last season scored soccer's magnificent double, the league championship and then the Football Association Cup, may get too deeply involved in international competition and be unable to make it. Otherwise, it's all set.

Which would likely produce another bonanza for Messrs. Pickburn and Christopher. And they can use the money. Arsenal should draw. Not as well as Santos of Brazil, and soccer's super, super-star, Pele, but still better than most out-of-season attractions.

There's one thing about soccer fans. They recognize a team for what it is; and there's none finer than the champs, until the champs are beaten.

So give Pickburn and Christopher full marks in the field of initiative and daring. They lost more than a few dollars on their first promotional ventures. The Ipswich training experiment was a complete dud, too. Then they backed Spartans, no ball of fire and, more important, no great draw at the gate, either.

But the pair of them has persevered. And when Pele came calling with Santos, they got off the hook. Which was good. They deserved it. Now they are willing and eager to try again.

Meanwhile, Christopher suggested that the shiny, new look, semi-professional soccer league planned for 1972 could feature some bright new faces, and some pretty fair footballers.

"There are several players over there who are interested in coming over here," he said. "Some indeed are waiting only for the invitations to arrive."

These include some veterans, some who are anxious for a change of venue, and rash of fourth-division players. Of that selection Christopher said: "We'd prefer the former. So keep that Victoria team alive," he cautioned.

If the hunting has been good, Christopher also had a suggestion on how to succeed without really trying, even though it couldn't happen here.

His tale concerned how West Bromwich Albion paid its way while drawing only an average of 20,000 fans a game.

"Bars with breads," is the answer.

It started when the West Brom club, through one of its directors, bought up some unused property and vacant buildings, sold one parcel of land to an oil company, and then persuaded a brewery to help develop the rest.

For a 15-year exclusive on its products, the brewery firm paid the whole shot for brand-new club premises, consisting mainly of a complex of bars and lounges.

Socially, the move was an instant hit, particularly on Sundays.

That's the big day, with strippers vying with booze for the spotlight. The get equal billing, and are a sellout, or as Christopher pointed out: "That's only one of six such clubs operated by the West Brom team and which, in terms of cold hard cash, means over a million dollars yearly in the club treasury."

And that, kiddies, is why West Brom can afford to play football in an area otherwise dominated by three fairly successful and established clubs, all with bigger grounds — Wolverhampton, Birmingham and Aston Villa. "Otherwise West Brom would be dead."

Which only goes to prove that if you try to give the customer a little extra, he'll respond. And if bars, babes and football don't mix here, has anyone ever tried it?

Think of it, Jack Morgan — Athletic Park filled to overflowing, and all those happy customers, too. Tugless girls to go with lunch, the money rolling in, and no problem at all in getting new turf, or drains, for the playing field.

Oh well, there's always Arsenal. As only the fourth team ever to win that historic double, who needs breads?

It was just an idea that Christopher thought he would mention. Something to do with imagination. And soccer here can always use that, Right?

Ontario Seeking Open-Door Policy

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's golf pros approve opening the Canadian championship to outstanding young professionals in their association.

The Ontario branch of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association, at its annual meeting Monday, said widening the qualifications was in line with the U.S. method of permitting approved tournament players and tournament winners to enter its national championship.

Present CPGA championship rules say players must be club pros or teaching pros with a minimum of five years experience and membership.

Veteran tournament pro Al Balding of Toronto made the proposal at Monday's meeting, noting that it similar rules existed in the U.S., "Jack Nicklaus would not have been able to play until this year."

"And others like Gary Player, George Knudson and myself would never have been able to play," said Balding, first Canadian to win a major U.S. tournament. "In fact, Knudson was eligible to play in the U.S. PGA championship before he was allowed to play in the Canadian PGA."

Late Scoring Spurs Power Bruins, Regina

(Times News Services) Late scoring carried New Westminster Bruins and Regina Pats to convincing Western Canada Hockey League triumphs Tuesday.

The Bruins, playing Swift Current, whipped in three unanswered goals in the third period to rope the Broncos 6-3 while Earl Ingardell's Pats, playing at home, whipped in six straight goals in the last half of the game to trounce Flin Flon Bombers 9-3.

Bruins got a strong net-minding performance from Doug Sauter and ample goal production from Les Jackson (2), Ken Ireland, Ron Kennedy, Lorne Henning and Vic Mercedi.

Ven McCormick, Kelly Pratt and Brent Leavins replied for the Broncos, who drew only three of the game's nine minor penalties.

At Regina, Ken Marit, playing his first game of the season, and Mike Wanchuk each scored twice to pace Pats in a rugged encounter.

Scott Smith, Clark Gillies, Dwight Blalows, Dennis Sobchuk and Rick Uhrich scored the other Regina goals. Victoria Cougar discard Ron Andruff scored twice for Flin Flon and Rod Laynachan added the other.

Twenty-five penalties were handed out, including seven majors, three misconducts and one game misconduct. Flin Flon took nine of the 14 minor penalties, four majors, and all the misconduct and game misconduct penalties.

Two Tigers Share Scoring Lead

Two linemates with Medicine Hat Tigers — forwards Stan Weir and Jeff Ahlert — lead the Western Canada Hockey League individual scoring race despite the fact that their club now rests in the Western Division cellar.

Weir and Ahlert have contributed 20 of the 42 goals Tigers have scored this season and have 18 points each for a one-point lead over Blaine Stoughton of Flin Flon Bombers.

Weir paces the league with 11 goals while Ahlert has nine goals and nine assists.

LYSIK LEADS

Topping the list of "helpers" thus far is Tom Lysiak of Medicine Hat with 13 assists. Lysiak is in a three-way tie for third place with Lorne Henning of New Westminster Bruins and Dennis Sobchuk of Regina Pats, each with 16 points.

Sobchuk connected for a goal and three assists during a 9-3 win over Bombers on Tuesday and Henning climbed the ladder with a goal and an assist during the Bruins' 6-3 triumph over Swift Current Broncos.

Darcy Rota of Edmonton Oil Kings, currently tied for first place in the Western Division with Calgary Centennials, recorded the largest jump with three goals and an assist during the Kings' 5-1 win over Victoria Cougars. Rota now is tied for fifth place with Rod Laynachan and rookie Al Hillier of Flin Flon, each with 15 points.

Calgary netminder John Davidson has the best average of league goalies with a 2.11 goals-against record, including two shutouts.

Sanderson Misses Fun

MONTREAL (CP) — Derek Sanderson of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins said Tuesday he is becoming fed up with hockey.

"Sanderson, in town for tonight's encounter with Montreal Canadiens, said in an interview that the sport had become "all work."

"The schedule's too long and the people running the game are too money-hungry. Maybe most of the guys need hockey no matter what they're married and they like that income — but not me. There's a lot of other things I can do."

The Bruin centre added that

Schedule Tough, Fans Are Rough

he was looking at some land in northern Alberta and seriously considering settling on it for good.

Sanderson says his money worries are over. "So the only pleasant part of hockey I can see now is the companionship."

"I've got three bars and a grocery and it's really coming in."

There are a great bunch of guys on our club. I like being around with them, but I'm fed up with being told to do this, do that, go here, go there.

"There are a lot of things I should be doing besides playing hockey. No, getting married is not one of them."

Sanderson also said he was fed up with the Boston fans, and the travelling involved in pro hockey, and would retire, "probably soon." Once it was fun to play in the Boston Garden.

"Now, if you're not ahead 8-1 at the end of the first period, they're booing. They're expecting too much."

Sanderson said the calibre of hockey had fallen badly but "with all that travelling, you can't be up all the time."

Wings Know Now How Mikita Hurts

By CANADIAN PRESS

Stan Mikita started the season with a painful back, but the ones hurting are Chicago Black Hawks opponents in the National Hockey League.

The Hawks' centre star scored once, the winner, and set up two other goals in a 5-2 win over Detroit Red Wings in the only NHL game scheduled Tuesday night.

The win moved Chicago five points up in the West Division race over second-place Minnesota North Stars and Pittsburgh Penguins.

Tonight the Wings get an opportunity to reverse the setback when they visit New York Rangers, the East Division leaders who have a one-point edge on Boston Bruins.

In other games, Vancouver Canucks are at Toronto Maple Leafs, Buffalo Sabres visit Los Angeles Kings, Pittsburgh Penguins visit California Golden Seals and Minnesota takes on the Blues at St. Louis.

BACK IS BAD

Mikita's back has been ailing the last two seasons and has reflected in his play.

He's not ready to forsake hockey, but he'd probably give a lot for a remedy.

The Czechoslovakian-born star remembers when the pains first started to show, following a game against Montreal in February, 1969, after "I got crosschecked a couple of times in a row."

"Ever since then I've had the pain at the base of my back."

Last summer he visited the

Rondon Keeps Boxing Title On Late TKO

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Vicente Paul Rondon methodically pumped close-range punches against challenger Gomez Brennan's head Tuesday night and claimed a 13th-round TKO to retain the World Boxing Association light heavyweight title.

"Brennan can really take it," said Rondon, son of a Caracas fruit picker. "I kept waiting for him to go out, but he kept coming back for more."

Four thousand customers paid up to $20 at Miami Beach Convention Hall to watch the Caribbean slugger stand shoulder-to-shoulder for 12 rounds.

There were no complaints when the referee and ring physician halted the scheduled 15-round bout. It was logged as Brennan's first defeat by knockout in a career that began in 1956.

Rondon, now 36-5-1 with 20 knockouts, will meet middleweight king Carlos Monzon in a non-title fight Nov. 20 at Buenos Aires and plans "a title defence in February — probably in Berlin but I don't know who'll fight."

Casper Joins Top Ten List

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Casper's $30,000 victory in the Kaiser International Sunday pushed him into eighth place in the year's professional golf money list, still led by Jack Nicklaus.

The latest figures were released Tuesday by the Professional Golfers Association.

Undefeated Mt. Doug Field Hockey's Choice

Mt. Douglas, current leaders of the Victoria High School Girls' Field Hockey League, appears to be a leading contender in the Vancouver Island championship tournament scheduled for Saturday at Lansdowne Junior High School.

Mt. Doug, with a 9-0 win over Claremont and a 3-0 victory over Esquimalt in its last two league games, now has 35 goals for and only one against in eight matches this season.

Norfolk House, runner-up in standings at the mid-way mark of the season, trounced Belmont 9-0 in their last meeting and have only lost to Mt. Doug.

Other local league teams to qualify for the Saturday tournament are Oak Bay, defending Island and H.C. champions, and Esquimalt.

Third-ranked Oak Bay scored 7-0 wins over Belmont and Claremont in the last two matches, while fourth-place Esquimalt tied 2-2 with St. Margarets as well as losing to Mt. Doug.

Schools from Campbell River, Courtenay, Cowichan and Duncan round out the eight-team tournament. The top five squads from the 15-team advance to the B.C. championships, also to be played in Victoria, Nov. 5 and 6.

As Young Award Is, Youngest Achieves

OAKLAND (AP) — "The way I look at this year is that it helped prepare me for next season," said Vida Blue, the American League's Cy Young Award winner.

The 22-year-old left-hander, in his first major league baseball season, had a 24-8 record, eight shutouts and a 1.82 earned-run average as he pitched Oakland Athletics to the West Division title.

He is the youngest player ever to win the award and is considered a strong contender for the league's Most Valuable Player Award, to be made next month.

"I'll never get that one. They can't give me everything," Blue said Tuesday after the Baseball Writers Association of America named him the league's best pitcher.

He was surprised at the outcome of the Cy Young Award voting, saying: "I really thought Mickey Lolich would win it, but I'm glad I did."

LOLICH SECOND

Lolich, of Detroit Tigers, was runner-up in the voting and Wilbur Wood of Chicago White Sox finished third. Blue got 14 of the 24 first-place votes, Lolich nine and Wood one.

Coveted Honor Claimed by Blue

Lolich and Wood, also southpaws, finished the season strong while Blue was tailing off from a sizzling start that made him baseball's biggest drawing card. Lolich finished 25-14 and Wood was 22-13.

"The last part of the season, I was just pooped," Blue said.

Ranger Forward Undergoes Check

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Ranger centre Pete Stemkowski was admitted to Lenox Hill Hospital Tuesday to undergo tests for a head injury suffered during a National Hockey League game Oct. 16 in Toronto.

Stemkowski, hurt when he collided with Mike Pelyk of the Maple Leafs, has been complaining of headaches for the past few days.

"But it wasn't my arm. It was all that pressure from the publicity. I just couldn't take it mentally."

Blue, a handsome bachelor, signed with the Athletics after a great high school athletic career at Mansfield, La.

He got some national attention last year with a no-hitter against Minnesota Twins in a late-season stay with Oakland. But he took baseball fans largely by surprise this year, and more than a million paid to see him pitch.

HAS A THEORY

"I guess a lot of people came out to see if I was for real," said Blue.

He won 19 games before his 22nd birthday on July 28. Two 1-0 losses and a game in which he pitched 11 shutout innings, and left with the score 0-0, later helped ruin his chance to win 30 games.

Blue received a reported $13,000 this year, plus a new car that owner Charles O. Finley presented him.

President Nixon, two days after announcing his wage-price freeze, met with the Athletics at the White House and called Blue "the most underpaid player in baseball."

ALOUETTE PROTEST DISALLOWED

Suddenly, There's a Ball Game

Times News Services

Jake Gaudaur, Canadian Football League commissioner, announced Tuesday he has disallowed a protest filed by Montreal Alouettes against the result of their game Sunday against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The Als lost 19-18 and Als owner Sam Berger protested on grounds that game officials failed to call an offside penalty against Winnipeg on a crucial fourth-quarter play.

Berger said films of the play in question showed two Winnipeg players moved offside before Montreal snapped the ball.

JUDGMENT CALL

In a prepared statement, the CFL commissioner said his decision to disallow the protest was based on CFL bylaws, paragraph 1, section 2, which provides that a protest shall not be based on a judgment call by an official.

"The result of the game, therefore, remains unchanged," Gaudaur's decision won't hurt the ticket sales for Saturday's game between Montreal and Ottawa Rough Riders.

Until last weekend, it would have been tough to give away tickets to the season-ending meeting.

But an Ottawa victory and Alouettes' loss combined to give Rough Riders a chance to crack the EFC playoffs, and Ottawa officials are looking for the largest crowd of the 1971 season.

SALES BRISK

Long lines at the ticket windows in Ottawa now indicate that the season's high attendance of 26,394 for the Aug. 11 game against Hamilton is seriously threatened.

Only three weeks ago, Riders appeared certain to finish last. Lopsided wins over British Columbia Lions and Hamilton suddenly gave Riders a good chance to finish third or even second.

A win over Als would tie Riders with Montreal for the third and last playoff position.

tion in the East. Because Ottawa would have beaten Montreal twice in their three meetings, Riders would be awarded third place.

If they beat Alouettes by 13 or more points, and Hamilton lost to Argonauts Sunday, it would create a three-way tie. On the basis of points scored, Riders would take second place and Hamilton third.

Alouettes, meanwhile, took out quarterback insurance Tuesday by inviting veteran Wally Gabler in for a five-day trial. Gabler, formerly with Toronto and Winnipeg, was cut by Hamilton, earlier this season.

With the Ticats this year, Gabler completed 16 of 38 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns. He had four of his aeriels intercepted.

Als' quarterback Jim Chasey dislocated his left elbow late last Sunday while Sonny Wade, Montreal's No. 1 signal-caller most of the season, has been hampered by a shoulder separation. Wade is expected to start against the Rough Riders. Gabler is expected to be the backup man.

Goaltending Call Gives Houston Win

By THE ASSOCIATED

Bill van Breda Kolff was fit to be tied.

The coach of Detroit Pistons fumed over a goal-tending call in the last four seconds of play that gave Houston Rockets a 104-103 nod over the Pistons in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night.

"Elvin Hayes was all over the basket," the Pistons coach screamed. "Bob Lanier didn't touch it."

With time running out and Detroit leading 103-102, Mike Newlin got off a jump shot for the Rockets. Hayes and Lanier both went up for the air from underneath the basket.

Referee Kenny Hudson ruled that Lanier knocked the ball off the rim. He called it goal-tending and awarded the winning basket to Newlin.

The champion Milwaukee Bucks made it seven in a row by routing Baltimore 120-90 and the New York Knicks made it seven straight over Boston by defeating the Celtics 106-101.

Chicago whipped Portland 123-111, Phoenix drubbed Cincinnati 126-99 and Buffalo shaded Golden State 91-89 in the other NBA games.

New York Nets went two overtimes to defeat the Floridians 128-118 in the American Basketball Association. Utah beat Dallas 131-116, Virginia overcame Pittsburgh 149-136 and Denver whacked Memphis 115-110 in other ABA games.

Little Guy With Heart 'Makes Things Happen'

By DAN STINSON
Times Staff

VANCOUVER — "It's not the size of a hockey player that counts," insisted coach Hal Laycoe of the Vancouver Canucks. "It's the size of his heart."

Laycoe's observation was made early last month at training camp as the Canucks prepared for their second season in the National Hockey League.

But Laycoe wasn't just speaking in generalities. He was referring to little Bobby Lalonde, the Canucks' second-round draft choice last June, and — at five-foot-five, 155-pounds — the big league's smallest player.

FANCY CREDENTIALS

But if Lalonde didn't come to the Canucks as Goliath, he did bring some impressive credentials as David. A teammate of Jocelyn Guevremont, Canucks' No. 1 draft choice with the Montreal Junior Canadiens in 1970-71, Lalonde scored 59 goals while amassing 127 points in 61 games.

Still, the 20-year-old centre was determined to prove that he belongs in major hockey, where coaches and managers tend to look more favorably at players with the talent of a Lalonde AND the size of a Goliath.

"Lalonde is a little guy with a big heart," said Laycoe. "He makes things happen when he's on the ice."

In style, Lalonde closely resembles Andre Boudrias, the Canucks' impressive centre. And, like Boudrias, Lalonde quickly became popular with Vancouver fans because of his aggressive skating and exceptional balance.

EASY TO SPOT

Because of his jockey-like stature, Lalonde is actually noticed more readily than most players. A relentless checker and tireless skater, he brought the Pacific Coliseum fans to their feet when he scored a brilliant breakaway goal against Jacques Plante of the Toronto Maple Leafs in a pre-season exhibition game. That effort was wiped out by a questionable offside call, but any doubts anyone had as to Lalonde's capabilities were dispelled then and there.

After seven starts with the Canucks, Lalonde has recorded two assists but is still looking for his first NHL goal.

"Oh, I've had the chances," he explained Sunday from his press box seat high above the ice surface where the Canucks were playing Boston. "I've missed an empty net twice, and hit a few posts. There's a lot of pressure to get that first NHL goal, you know. But after that, I hope I can settle down and play hockey."

NEEDS MORE ICE

Lalonde, one of five Canucks who haven't yet scored this year, says he needs more ice time.

"I think I play well when I'm out there," he insists. "But that's the problem — getting out there. I sometimes take a shift only every 10 or 15 minutes. That's bad for a hockey player."

Lalonde has been used sparingly by Laycoe, first at centre between Mike Corrigan and Murray Hall, and then at left wing with Boudrias and Rosaire Pailment.

"I much prefer centre to the wing," says Lalonde, who was a standout down the middle throughout his junior hockey career.

THEY TAKE TURNS

Disappointed at having to sit out the Boston meeting Sunday (Laycoe is forced to bench two skaters every game since the Canucks are carrying two extra players), Lalonde had a chance to collect a few thoughts and offer a few opinions.

On Vancouver fans: "Yeah, they really get behind a club, but they're knowledgeable too. They'll boo you if you're lagging behind. But that's all right, it gets us moving."

Aussies Plan Bid for Cup

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australia has put up a challenge for the 1973 America's Cup yachting classic but there appears to be some uncertainty as to whether it will go through with it.

The challenge has been issued by the Royal Perth Yacht Squadron. A syndicate has been formed in Perth but it does not yet have a boat. Three 12-metre boats owned by former challenger Sir Frank Packer are up for sale.

"But why did the management sell out the building in season tickets? It's crazy! In Montreal, they always leave a few thousand open for rush sale."

On the jump from junior to major league hockey:

"No, it's not all that big. Sure, the play is faster here, and the players are smarter, but I haven't found it too difficult to adjust so far."

But he does find it difficult to watch the action from the sidelines. In the press box, often standing in order to catch it all, he squirmed and turned as the Bruins were heading for a 4-3 victory.

It was very obvious the little guy's big heart was with the action.

BOBBY LALONDE

Minnesota's Attack Improved

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Coach Jack Gordon continually wondered through the 1970-71 National Hockey League season what happened to Minnesota North Stars' offence. He surmised that perhaps he had put too much of a stress on defence.

When training camp rolled around this season, Gordon went to work on the scoring aspect. Only this time, the North Stars didn't forget about defence.

Chicago Black Hawks' 26. Montreal Canadiens are the highest scoring team with 31 goals.

Bill Goldsworthy and Danny Grant have scored five goals each while goalie Cesare Maniago and Gump Worsley have alternated to post a 1.71 goals-against average.

The North Stars, with 18 goals in their last three games, meet Pittsburgh at home Thursday night.

OUTDOORS with Stewart Lang

In the not-too-distant future, the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association outdoor recreation complex now under construction on the Malahat will contain the most complete set of shooting ranges on the southern end of Vancouver Island.

But before we get too deeply involved with the present and proposed layout of the complex, perhaps it might be pertinent to dwell first on the background of the situation.

The club, which currently boasts 658 members, had its beginning at a meeting in Victoria City Hall on June 16, 1919. During 1946, the club negotiated and obtained a lease for their existing facilities on Goldstream Flats from the Greater Victoria Water Board and a clubhouse was raised by volunteer labor by 1948.

Since Goldstream Park was expanded to include the water board property last year, the provincial parks branch is purchasing the clubhouse for use as a nature house. The club continues to use the area under a parks use permit.

Even if the park had not expanded, however, the club would have had to consider an alternative location.

They had no room for expansion on the Flats and temporary use of a rifle range in a gravel pit off Esquimalt Lagoon had to be voluntarily discontinued three years ago because of vandalism and encroaching residential developments. Since then club members have been without a rifle range.

But from now on that lack is a thing of the past. Last year the club purchased a 166.5-acre spread opposite the road into Spectacle Lake on the Malahat, bounded by Saanich Inlet and the Island Highway. Access to the complex is through Holker Place.

The 100 and 200-yard rifle ranges are now nearly complete and were "shootable" enough for members to sight their rifles for hunting season.

And on Sunday, 20 members turned out to apply the finishing touches to a 15-target field course for archery enthusiasts. To date, space has been cleared for a main parking lot, a parking lot for archers and a caretaker's trailer.

The caretaker, Ron Coleman, is expected to move in as soon as his water supply is set up and will be on hand to prevent misuse of the facilities by non-members.

Power poles for his electrical hook-up are now in place and the lines are expected to be put in shortly.

Still in the planning stages are the clubhouse and four trap ranges. The trap-shooting setup is one more than the club has at Goldstream.

Money from the sale of their Goldstream clubhouse as well as proceeds from their annual two-day "turkey" shoot on Dec. 11 and 12 will help defray some of the expenses incurred in developing their new property.

Most of the property will remain in its natural state, both through choice and the dictates of an almost vertical grade nearer Saanich Inlet.

This leaves the door open for a wider scope of use, including the possibility of hiking and nature trails.

"We can really look forward to a tremendous future up there," said club president Jack Coey.

Coey noted that the club "owns a terrific hunk of land" which will provide a buffer zone, so that the shooting activities will bother no one, even if the surrounding area should become built up.

Members pay a mere $6-per year in fees, which entitles them to the use of all facilities and insurance coverage in case of a hunting accident.

In addition to the "fun" aspect of belonging to the club, members have an opportunity to take a more active role in the battle against misuse of our natural heritage through its affiliation with the B.C. Wildlife Federation.

By reason of its proximity to the seats of power, the VFGPA has often played a leading part in federation submissions to the provincial government.

And on occasion the club has submitted its own briefs on such issues as public access and mining developments in Strathcona Park.

Anyone interested in joining the club can either contact Alan Campbell at 478-6192 or turn out for one of the general meetings at 8 p.m. on the third Monday of every month at Goldstream.

But note that the meeting place is only temporary.

Orioles Lace Giants 10-1

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — Right-hander Pat Dobson's stellar three-hit pitching, coupled with a dynamic 13-hit assault, enabled the American League champions, Baltimore Orioles, to whip Japan's Tokyo Yomiuri Giants 10-1 today.

The 29-year-old Dobson, one of Baltimore's 20-game winners this season, held the Japan Series champion Giants scoreless until two out in the ninth inning.

Dobson, who wound up with a 20-8 won-lost record, yielded a solo homer to first baseman Sadaharu Oh, who captured the Central League's home run title with 39 this past season.

The triumph extended Baltimore's winning streak to three in Japan. The Orioles, guests of the Giants, arrived in Tokyo last Thursday for an 18-game post-season goodwill tour.

OTTAWA (CP) — Rare, endangered wildlife in and out of Canada soon may get a helping hand from the federal government.

Sources in the environment department recently explained details of planned legislation which would give the government its first opportunity to study problems being encountered by many Canadian wildlife species and to formulate programs to ensure their survival.

The legislation, which now amounts only to a suggestion by the federal government, could be the vehicle by which Canada signs a rare and endangered wildlife convention next June at a United Nations environmental conference in Stockholm.

IT'S ABOUT TIME

Long-awaited by naturalists, the proposed Canada wildlife act is meant to bring order to what one official called the "can of worms" of federal-provincial wildlife problems.

Under the British North America Act, the federal government has jurisdiction only over fisheries, including marine mammals, and migratory birds. Other wildlife species are "resources" for which the provinces are responsible.

Despite the BNA Act, the Canadian wildlife service has gradually increased its activity and its expertise relative to other wildlife species.

But until now, a wildlife service biologist said in an interview, federal legislation dealing with migratory birds has been the wildlife service's only legitimate reason for being.

FAR-REACHING ACT

The proposed act would provide a legislative base from which the wildlife service can extend its programs to include other species, as well as federal-provincial arrangements on land use and the acquisition of land for wildlife conservation areas.

Negotiations are in progress between Environment Minister Jack Davis and his provincial counterparts, all of whom are said to accept without question the need for protecting endangered species.

No unresolvable problems have yet cropped up, an official said. But the biggest problem of all may be time.

John Tener, wildlife service director, said in an interview that the wildlife legislation could be that which will link Canada to the provisions of the rare and endangered wildlife convention due for signing at the U.N. meeting.

TIME FACTOR

The conference is in June, meaning that the government will have to table the legislation and get it through both the House and the Senate before then. At present, the bill is still being drafted into legal language by the justice department.

Only countries having national laws relating to rare and endangered species will be allowed to sign the convention, which relies on national laws to prohibit the importation or exportation of rare or endangered animals, their skins, or any part of them.

More Protection for Wildlife

Legislation Proposed For Endangered Species

For the purposes of the convention, and the wildlife act, a rare and endangered animal is any animal listed in the Red Book published by the International Union for the Conservation of Nature.

Officials in the wildlife service generally agree that at least 60 Canadian species are endangered.

If the wildlife act is to be used as enabling legislation for the Stockholm convention, it will have to be matched by provincial legislation. Dr. Tener says Ontario already has an endangered wildlife act.

But other, existing legislation could be used to control the trade in rare and endangered animals.

Endangered animals could be added to a list of goods prohibited from entering Canada, and the Game Export Act could be amended to include not only trophies but live animals.

The provinces could then pass their own legislation concerning the transport of endangered animals.

The trade department could also prohibit the export from Canada of endangered animals of their skins.

Tax Department Probes Drop in Gardens' Shares

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the federal revenue department's tax-ation branch will investigate a drop of approximately 12 per cent in Maple Leaf Gardens shares on the day its president, Stafford Smythe, died.

The newspaper, in an Ottawa dispatch, quotes an unnamed senior officer of the branch as saying tax valuations pay particular attention to the tax returns filed by executors of large estates. The drop in Gardens shares on the day of Smythe's death "reduced the value of the estate and ostensibly the amount of tax payable," the newspaper says.

Smythe died early on the morning of Oct. 13. By the end of that day, Gardens stock had dropped $3.28 a share to $24.12 from its previous close at $27.50. On the following day it rose to $26.50.

The Estate Tax Act states that the value of any security listed on a stock exchange "shall be deemed to be the closing price or quotation of that security on the day as of which such value is required to be computed."

The Globe and Mail quotes the Ottawa official as saying the day a value is required is normally the day of death, but the report adds that the act does not specify this.

Chris Hall Third Best In Scoring

'Victoria Dolphins' split-end Chris Hall finished the Big Four Junior Football League season with 40 points, the third highest total among individual scorers according to statistics released by the league today.

Hall scored six touchdowns and booted four singles in eight games with the Dolphins. He trailed halfbacks Randy Lam, who captured the scoring title with 60 points, and Craig Miller, with 42, both of the league-champion Vancouver Merakomas.

Lam, who scored all of his points on touchdowns, also led the league in rushing, with a 621-yard total and an average of 9.2 yards per carry. Another Loma halfback, Grant Medhurst, caught 37 passes and gained 742 yards to top the league.

Lomas, who meet Regina Rams next Sunday for the Western Canada junior championship at Vancouver's Empire Stadium, led the league in points, scoring, rushing, pass receiving and passing, although their punting was a weak point.

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Kapuskasing improved against the opposition in the second half but it didn't matter much.

Timmins Blues, defending Intercollegiate Association Gold Belt junior football champions, steamrollered Kapuskasing Cite des Jeunes 105-0 Tuesday. Half-time score was 53-0 in the high school game.

It's the first year in the league for Kapuskasing, who have four players out with broken legs.

17-Year-Old Footballer Still Critical

MONTREAL (CP) — Butch Voce, a 17-year-old rookie defensive halfback for Bishop's University Gaitsers who suffered a broken neck in a university football game 11 days ago, remained in critical condition Tuesday in a Montreal hospital.

But the athlete appears to be improving, his father, Harold Voce, said in an interview, saying that his son has eaten a "poached egg and jello."

"We won't know anything definite about surgery or anything for two or three weeks," Mr. Voce said.

Butch was to have taken part in a game against McGill University this Saturday. The field where the game will be played is some 100 yards from his hospital bed.

He was injured while making a tackle.

Gorman Upsets Kodes

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Tom Gorman of Seattle added another upset to the $48,000 Embassy tennis championships Tuesday with a comeback victory over fourth-seeded Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia.

Down one set and near elimination in the second Gorman fought back for a 3-6, 9-7, 8-6 triumph in the second round of the men's singles.

Three seeded players — Stan Smith of Los Angeles, Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Ken Rosewall of Australia — were ousted in the first round Monday.

Clark Graebner of New York advanced to the second round when his opponent, Bob Lutz of Los Angeles, failed to show up in time for the match.

In the women's division, Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the defending champion, needed only 40 minutes to dispose of Shirley Brasher of Britain, 6-4, 6-1.

Big Crowd Elects 6 Saanich Hospital Trustees

A crowd of close to 600 packed Sanscha Hall in Sidney Tuesday night to elect six trustees from 20 nominees and officially launch the Saanich Peninsula Hospital Society.

The society will operate a hospital to be built on Mount Newton Crossroad in Central Saanich next year, eventually to replace Sidney's Rest Haven Hospital, which dates from the First World War.

NOW RETIRED

Lawyer Louis Lindholm, who had been serving as president of the society's interim board, and businessman Claude Butler, interim vice-president, were elected for three-year terms.

Sidney realtor J. A. Bruce and H. T. Griffiths, former hospital administrator now retired in Sidney, were elected for two-year terms. Elected for one-year terms were E. A. Hay, retired bank manager living in North Saanich, and Mrs. F. E. Evans, a nurse living in Central Saanich.

None of six candidates who are Seventh Day Adventists were elected. The church has operated Rest Haven Hospital for the past 50 years, one of two hospitals it has in Canada and among about 130 it operates world-wide.

The church will still have representation on the 10-man board of the new hospital society. Besides the six trustees elected by society members, the constitution provides for one board member to be named by the provincial government, one member to be appointed annually by the Capital-Regional Hospital Board, one member to be appointed annually by the Rest Haven Hospital Society and a member to be chosen by the medical staff of the future hospital.

OTHERS NOMINATED

Others nominated for three-year terms Tuesday night:

Donald Forward, Norman Shillito, Rudy Kwiram, Jack Glover and Frank Norton.

Others nominated for two-year terms: E. F. White, Mrs. Carol Pickup, Mrs. Rubymay Parrott, Geoffrey Vantreigh and Claude Brousson.

Others nominated for one-year terms: J. M. Le Mar-quand, D. J. McLaurin, Mrs. Edith White and Dudley Donohoe.

The provincial government and Rest Haven have yet to name their representatives on the new society's board. The regional hospital board has selected its chairman Jim Cumming who is also mayor of North Saanich.

Size of the crowd startled the interim directors, some of whom had predicted about 150 would show up. Membership stood at close to 400 early Tuesday but a last-minute surge pushed this close to 600 by meeting time.

Membership is open to any adult living in the Capital-Regional Hospital District, which stretches from the Gulf Islands to Port Renfrew, for annual dues of $1 a year.

Handing out membership cards and ballots delayed start of the meeting about three-quarters of an hour. The crowd filled every seat in the hall and lined the walls.

Reviewing the new society's objectives and progress, Lindholm said it was hoped tenders for the first phase — 75 beds for extended care patients — could be let next March. Its estimated cost is $800,000 to $900,000.

ACUTE CARE

The second stage, addition of 75 beds for acute care patients, still requires ratepayer approval by referendum and could cost about $2,500,000.

Pastor A. Norman How, president of the B.C. conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, said Rest Haven would continue until the acute care wing of the new hospital is established.

The church's philosophy in hospital treatment "is to care for the whole man," said How.

The crowd was told that if government approvals and construction proceeded smoothly the hospital's first phase might be finished next year or early in 1973.

The 75 extended care beds are part of 600 planned or under construction for the region. Cumming told questioners who wondered whether the beds would be filled by patients from Victoria.

He said there would never be enough extended care beds to eliminate all waiting lists. But the new hospital's beds would be employed first serving peninsula residents.

Harknett Funeral Held

Funeral services were held today at Thomson & Irving Funeral Chapel for George Emory Harknett, 77, of 1746 Island Highway.

Founder of Harknett Fuel Ltd., he was a well-known figure in horse racing circles, being an ardent sportsman, breeder and trainer of thoroughbreds.

Harknett died Monday after a lengthy illness.

He was born in the English county of Devon and had lived in Victoria for the past 60 years.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. K. (Vivian) Smith and Mrs. H. S. (Margaret) Beane, and one son, George William Harknett, all of Victoria, three brothers, William and Leon-ard of Victoria and Arthur of Sooke; and one sister, Margaret Coughlin of Vancouver, Wash.

There are four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Archdeacon H. J. Jones conducted today's ceremony, which was followed by interment in Hatley Memorial Park.

Ignored Rules Cause Air Mishaps

Failure of flyers to follow safety rules is responsible for most aircraft accidents, says Capt. R. L. Richardson of CFB Comox.

Richardson, a pilot with 442 Transport and Rescue Squadron, was in Victoria Monday to talk about defensive flying at a meeting of the Canadian Owners and Pilots Association in the Colonial Inn.

He said a survey made of 40 aircraft accidents showed that 90 per cent were caused by human error.

Pilots know they are taking chances, he said, when they overload their aircraft, ignore ice on wings or windshields, run out of fuel or fly with insufficient information about location of power lines.

B.C. Has Best Doctor-Population Ratio—Medical Head

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia has probably the best doctor-population ratio in Canada, Dr. A. C. Waldie, president of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons, said Tuesday.

He told a city service club there is probably no area with no doctor-distribution problems, and B.C. is no exception.

"However," he said, "it's interesting to note that in terms of physician-population ratio, B.C. probably is better off than any other area in Canada, though average income per doctor is only about the fourth highest in Canada."

Dr. Waldie said doctors are still meeting with the provincial government to work out the final form of regulations introduced by the government to give it some say over which hospital staffs doctors may join and thus ensure good geographical distribution.

He said the regulations may be completed in about 10 days.

On the subject of doctors' incomes, Dr. Waldie said there is evidence to suggest the net income of physicians in Canada has risen more rapidly than average per capita income.

"The fact that these increases in income are in excess of increases of fee schedules is pretty indicative that demand for services has increased dramatically."

He said that while excessively high incomes seemed to be a source of embarrassment to the profession, "doctors in general seem to feel that these high earners are men of ability who work very hard and who work very long hours."

He said the policy of the medical association now is designed to even out disparities in income within the fee schedule, rather than going for an overall schedule increase.

Dr. Waldie predicted a trend toward amalgamation and centralization in health care with group practices and different type of medical facilities for different types of treatment.

He also predicted some form of limitation on the numbers of doctors in any given population group.

Taiwan Leader Bitter?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Former Japanese premier Nobuski Kishi abruptly ended an interview here Tuesday when asked about a recent meeting he had with Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai shek in which Chiang was reported to have expressed bitterness against U.S. President Richard Nixon.

Speaking through an interpreter, Kishi said he had met with Chiang several times, the last meeting taking place early this month.

When asked about the subject of the talks Kishi said only "He (Chiang) says he is 85 years old but is still in good health."

At that point, both Kishi and his interpreter rose to signal the end of the interview and began walking away.

The New York Times, in a column by James Reston, said Chiang was reported to have used "bitterest anti-Nixon terms" in his conversations with Kishi.

CRUCIAL

The newspaper said Chiang is known to feel that Nixon's decision to visit Peking was a crucial factor in Monday's admission of Mainland China to the United Nations and the expulsion of the Nationalist government of Taiwan.

Kishi was premier of Japan from 1957 to 1960. He is the brother of current Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato and was in Vancouver on his way home to Japan following a trip to the U.S. He met with Nixon Friday.

Earlier in the interview, Kishi said Japan will be happy to see a "normalization" of relations with China.

However, he said there were "many difficult questions" to be sorted out first.

"An example of these difficult questions is the problem of Taiwan," he said.

Hydro Hearings Ended

VANCOUVER (CP)—Arbitration hearings into a contract dispute between British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority and its electrical workers ended Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the British Columbia Supreme Court, who conducted the hearings which began Oct. 14, said he expects to have his settlement award completed by the middle of November.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, representing some 2,000 workers, has asked for a 22-per-cent wage increase over a two-year period. B.C. Hydro has offered an average increase of 12 per cent in two years or an across-the-board raise of 32 cents an hour in each year of the contract.

The parties agreed to have the Supreme Court justice bring in a binding settlement as sole arbitrator following a four-day strike which had been declared illegal under the provincial mediation act.

Pressmen Ratify Contract

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Newsprinters' Printing Pressmen's Union ratified new contract Tuesday with The Globe and Mail which will give them wage increase of $40 a week over two years.

The agreement, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1971, will increase wages to $229 from $189 for night-shift workers by July 1, 1972. They will get $15 immediately, $21 next Jan. 1, and $4 July 1, 1972.

The Stereotypers and Electrotypers Union met tonight to vote on the agreement, and the Lithographers and Photoengravers Union is to meet soon for the same purpose.

Negotiations between the Toronto Newspaper Guild and The Globe and Mail are to resume today.

Canada-Soviet Romance Began Slowly 8 Years Ago

VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1971 25

OTTAWA (CP) — Russia has clapped a big bear hug on Canada, moving deftly to exploit a kind of rebelliousness in this country against old allegiances and status-quo thinking in foreign affairs.

A new and vital dimension in the foreign policies of both countries was brought dramatically into focus by the visit of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, which ended Tuesday.

The trip, following with almost indecent haste Prime Minister Trudeau's visit to the Soviet Union in May, underlined the Kremlin's apparent determination to capitalize on a rare opportunity to stake out a position of influence in North America.

The opportunity was offered by Mr. Trudeau, as the sequel to his low-key policy toward Canada's role in NATO.

In retrospect, it seems clear that Mr. Trudeau's decision 2½ years ago to cut Canadian forces in Europe and re-orient defence policy towards home was taken so Canada would have cleaner hands for an approach to the Soviet Union.

The prime minister said while in the Soviet Union that Canada's withdrawal from the nuclear role in Europe would make it appear no longer provocative in Soviet eyes. And he noted, perhaps unnecessarily, that Soviet leaders were pleased with the move.

The prime minister's Soviet initiatives are not without antecedents in Canadian policy. Ties with the Soviet Union have been expanding gradually since at least 1963, when Moscow signed up for its first big wheat purchase from Canada.

Milestones along the way have included a commercial air agreement, inauguration of a Leningrad-Montreal steamship service in 1968 and the Soviet Union's outstanding participation in Expo 67.

Reciprocal visits by ministers and other officials preceded Mr. Trudeau's May tour of the Soviet Union.

The difference between the present policy and that of previous governments is partly quantitative: More has happened in the field of Soviet-Canadian relations in the last nine months than in the previous eight years combined.

But there is also a more fundamental difference. Previous administrations cultivated better relations with the Kremlin without in any way weakening Canada's ties to NATO, which they regarded as the indispensable condition of any durable East-West settlement.

SET COURSE

The prime minister revealed his thinking about NATO in a 1969 speech in Calgary, nine days after announcing the policy that was to lead to a 50-per cent cut in Canadian troop strength in Europe.

NATO, he said, had developed after 20 years "too much into a military alliance and not enough into a political alliance, not enough ... into an alliance which is interested in arms control and de-escalation."

And NATO had come to determine all Canada's defence policy.

"We had no defence policy, so to speak, except that of NATO. And our defence policy had determined all of our foreign policy."

"And we had no foreign policy of any importance except that which flowed from NATO. And this is a false perspective for any country."

Canadian and Soviet authorities have taken pains to emphasize that the new relationship between the two countries is not directed at any third country or group of countries—meaning the U.S. and NATO.

Sources thoroughly acquainted with the Kremlin style of diplomacy raise their eyebrows in disbelief at such a claim.

"They have been following our NATO policy with intense interest and are certainly prepared and willing to exploit it when they can," said one knowledgeable official.

COULD GIVE LEVERAGE

The Kremlin's first priority lies in sorting out its relations with the U.S., he conceded. But a political breakthrough in Canada could well give the Kremlin added leverage in its dealings with Washington.

"Who knows, Mr. Nixon might not have decided to go to Moscow, or even China, had it not been for initiatives taken by Canada toward those countries."

The last remark ties in with one of the elements in Canada's new, more independent policy.

The argument is that Canada and the world at large will reap the reward if steps taken by Ottawa serve to advance the cause of international peace and harmony—despite any temporary difficulties they may cause with its Atlantic Pact allies.

Other dividends for Canada may include an increase in exports to the Soviet Union.

Officials say France boosted its sales in the Soviet market tenfold after making its own break with NATO seven years ago and carving out a special relationship with Moscow.

There also is the increased prestige from being seen to have good relations with another of the world's major countries.

For Russia, close relations with Canada provide access to something it can't under present circumstances attain to anywhere else in the world: North American technology.

MAY INVOLVE CHINA

Finally, Russia's worldwide campaign to counter Chinese influence can't be excluded as a contributing factor in its eagerness to embrace Canada or "any other country offering friendship."

Despite the new chumminess, however, Canadian-Soviet ties have not grown so close that the two countries can agree on a common approach to problems of the Arctic.

The Kremlin considers the Arctic Canada's and Russia's exclusive concern, and does not want outside meddling.

This year, Canada has entered into an industrial exchanges agreement, a protocol on political consultations, and a cultural exchanges agreement with the Soviet Union.

RESISTS OVERTURES

But it has resisted Soviet overtures for an all-embracing economic treaty that the Russians say would take advantage of "the international division of labor."

Mr. Trudeau didn't like the first draft, unveiled by the Russians when he visited Moscow, because, he said later, it smacked too much of the type of treaty the Kremlin might work out with tiny Finland.

The Soviet side returned to the subject in Ottawa last week, but Tuesday's communiqué committed Canada only to "give further study to the proposal."

It would appear the prime minister is not entirely unaware that anyone who gets too friendly with a bear faces the danger of ending up inside.

Adult at 18, Quebec Bill Urges

QUEBEC (CP) — The second session of the 29th Quebec legislature resumed Tuesday and the province's legislators got right down to work.

Justice Minister Jerome Choquette presented legislation under which 18-year-olds in the province would become fully adult in the eyes of the law.

The bill, which would lower the age of majority in the province to 18 from 21, received first reading in the national assembly.

The new bill would also amend the civil code to permit marriage without parental consent at age 18 and enable 18-year-olds to make wills.

Another bill to get first reading was one authorizing the government to grant loans for an additional two years to fishermen unable to fish in waters where commercial fishing has been banned because of pollution.

An attempt to make the government call an emergency debate on unemployment failed.

Gabriel Loubier, lead of the Unite-Quebec party, which changed its name from Union Nationale Monday, took advantage of the new legislative rules which permit him to call for a suspension of discussion on regular matters for a special debate.

Assembly Speaker Jean-Noel Lavoie ruled Mr. Loubier's motion out of order.

RAISE CULTURAL ISSUE

Quebec's need for "cultural autonomy" was a subject of another debate involving Mr. Loubier.

The Unite-Quebec leader asked Premier Bourassa if he had protested a statement by Prime Minister Trudeau on multiculturalism.

The opposition leader quoted the prime minister as saying the fact that Canada has two official languages does not mean the country has two official cultures.

The prime minister had said "a policy of multiculturalism must apply to all Canadians without distinction."

The term multiculturalism does not describe our society as it should be described. The world multiculturalism is more precise in this regard.

Premier Bourassa replied that the province's need for cultural autonomy was clear. "The position taken by the federal government," he said, "throws into relief in a special way the necessity for Quebec to assure its cultural autonomy."

BLAST HITS NATO HQ

LISBON (AP) — An explosion early today damaged a headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization eight miles west of Lisbon, the U.S. embassy announced.

A spokesman said the cause of the explosion in the war room of IBERLANT — The Iberian Atlantic Command — had not been determined.

Unconfirmed reports said windows, doors and masonry were damaged.

The new IBERLANT headquarters are scheduled to be opened officially Friday by Portuguese President Américo Thomaz.

IBERLANT was set up in 1968 in temporary headquarters at Rio Maior, 14 miles northwest of Lisbon. It is under the command of Rear-Admiral Eugene B. Fluckert of the United States.

Last June 3, a few hours before NATO opened its annual spring ministerial meeting in Lisbon, a series of bomb explosions cut off communications between Portugal and the rest of the world for five hours.

Isolation Appeal Rejected

MONTREAL (CP) — A petition by Paul Rose and six other prisoners seeking an interlocutory injunction to improve prison conditions was rejected Tuesday.

Judge Raymond Hamen of Quebec Superior Court ruled that there was no proof of a breach of civil rights, no proof of abuse of power by penitentiary authorities. But he did suggest that blue night lights be provided instead of the normal light bulbs at night.

Francis Simard, Francois Schirm, Michel Viger, Robert Hudon, Pierre Demers and Andre Ouellet claimed they were being punished "without cause" by being held in isolated cells usually reserved for prisoners who have committed prison offences.

The name of Rose, convicted earlier this year of the non-capital murder of Pierre Laporte, was removed from the list Monday by Judge Hamen because he now is lodged in Quebec Provincial Police cells during his jury trial on a charge of kidnapping Mr. Laporte, Quebec labor minister, Oct. 10 last year. Mr. Laporte was found dead a week later.

MOVED SEPT. 23
Rose testified Monday that the seven were moved Sept. 23 from the maximum security Archambault Institute in Ste. Anne des Plaines, north of Montreal, to isolation cells at St. Vincent de Paul.

Testifying for Ouellet, he said the cells have 60-watt light bulbs burning 24 hours a day, the prisoners were locked up with only a half-hour break each day and a one-hour break on weekends.

Jean Page, superintendent of the special correctional institute where they were being held, said the cells were no different than any others.

J. C. A. Lafertiere, regional director of penitentiaries, said the transfer was made because "we had information which led us to believe it would be in the interest of safety at the institution and for the public."

The transfer came amid rumors of a planned escape attempt by members of the Front de Liberation du Quebec in jail.

Pay Boost Proposed For Thant

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Secretary-General U. Thant is in line for an increase in retirement pay.

A resolution was introduced that would increase his annual retirement pay to $31,250 from $14,800 tax free.

Thant, who is 62, will retire at the end of this year after two five-year terms. His current net salary is $31,600 a year, out of a gross salary of $50,000. The existing rules would give him a yearly retirement allowance of half the net salary, or $15,800.

The resolution would raise his gross salary, effective Dec. 1, 1971, to $62,500, with a net of $37,850, and would change the rules to make his retirement allowance half the gross salary, or $31,250.

Any salary increase for Thant also would benefit his successor, who is yet to be chosen.

PROTESTERS SEIZED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 300 anti-war protesters attempting to serve an "eviction notice" on President Nixon have been arrested after police broke up their demonstration a block from the White House.

A police spokesman said 202 persons were arrested on disorderly conduct charges after they sat down in the middle of an intersection Tuesday night. Another 96 were arrested for obstructing a sidewalk when they too sat down and refused to move.

Most protesters did not take part in the sit-ins but remained on the four street corners chanting slogans and berating police.

The march followed a telephone call that protest organizers said was from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators in Paris, who explained their seven-point peace plan to the audience.

Rennie Davis, one of the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice leaders, said the eviction notice was an attempt to tell Nixon the anti-war forces would work actively against his re-election.

U.K. Market Debate Nears Climax

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Britain's great debate over joining the Common Market neared a climax today with Prime Minister Heath still counting on some socialist opposition help for victory.

But in the lobbies and council rooms of the Parliament at Westminster most signs suggested the Conservative government's winning majority is not likely to be impressive.

Heath's Conservatives and former prime minister Wilson's Laborites are under maximum pressure not to defect to their opponents.

"You can hear the cracking of arms being twisted where-ever you go," one veteran Tory legislator confided in one of the Parliament's bar-rooms.

"This place is like a torture chamber." Knowledgeable insiders on each side are forecasting that Heath probably will get a margin of between 40 and 50 when the 630-member House of Commons exercises its historic choice Thursday night.

For a government seeking Parliament's approval for the most important single decision the nation has had to take since the Second World War, such a majority would hardly be a triumph.

And it would not be insurance against defeat for a government that must push a mass of important enabling laws through Parliament before Britain can actually enter the Common Market Jan. 1, 1973.

A prime minister must resign if the Commons tosses out some major piece of legislation. This, then, could compel Heath to call a general election on the issue.

A general election is exactly what Wilson's Laborites say they want as the democratic way of resolving the Common Market controversy.

The polls show that most Britons do not want to link up with Europe. As a party, the Laborites are committed to fight entry on the terms Heath has obtained.

Complicated political arithmetic lies behind the current round-the-clock manoeuvrings of Tories and Laborites.

THERE ARE WOBBLES

Each side has its wobbles. But there are more shaky Laborites than Conservatives. That is why Heath is permitting a "free vote" for his followers whereas Wilson is insisting on a "party line" vote for his.

Labor's chief floor manager, Robert Mellish, put it like this:

"The Tories know their figures. I know their figures. And they know mine. The fact is there are about 280 Conservatives who are going to vote for the market. There are just over 30 who are going to vote against."

Mellish went on:

"Ranged up against them are 288 Labor members. If the 288 Labor members, plus the 30 Tories, voted against the market the government would be defeated and there would have to be a general election. Those are the facts of life. So the party managers go to Heath and say frankly: 'Ted, we have got to rely on the Labor party to make certain that we get this thing through.'"

Up to about 80 Laborites do in fact favor joining the market on existing terms. The big question is whether all would follow party policy and vote in the sense for the Tories. This is where the pressure stuff comes in.

Manager Essential To Theatre

By GLENNIS ZILM

EDMONTON (CP) — A good business manager is essential to a good theatre, says Maylene Chan, who recently took over as managing director for Theatre 3.

"Without a good business manager, you won't have a good theatre," she said in an interview. "You can always get good actors."

Miss Chan, 25, was formerly the business manager at the Poor Alex Theatre in Toronto, one which operated in the black during the last few years.

"The business side is essential. Companies in Toronto have failed because they didn't pay enough attention to the business side."

Miss Chan, who also is a dancer, choreographer and dance teacher, moved to Edmonton this fall to dance.

But she heard of the opening at Theatre 3 and was "delighted to take it on."

She succeeds Anne Green, who saw the company through its first year as a professional repertory company, but who decided this summer to return to full-time acting.

Miss Chan also is teaching in the city's department of parks and recreation dance courses and dancing with the Alberta Contemporary Dance group.

MAY RETURN

She may return to Toronto in the spring for the choreography of a production of Lysistrata at the Poor Alex.

But in the meantime, she'll be working "12 hours a day at first" — to get the book-keeping and business side of Theatre 3 in shape.

"Anne (Green) was great, she left things in great shape."

But Miss Chan also is aware of the problems that go along with the building up of an audience for a new professional theatre group.

She'd like to build up the number of season subscribers for the 100-seat theatre, for one thing.

"I'll also always be in there fighting to keep the costs down for productions."

Although she's done some acting, she doesn't expect to do any with Theatre 3.

"I'm not a good actress. It's a discipline, like dancing. You have to work at it and study and work, work, work."

Cheated Consumers Get a Hero

He Watches Airline Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the 45th time this year, the grey-haired man on the telephone was outraged. In this instance an old couple had been cheated and the company responsible was hiding behind a technicality.

"All right," the company official said finally, "we'll pay them back $1,000."

"It's a matter of $1,017," insisted the grey-haired man. "You'd hold us up for $17?"

"Damn right," the old couple collected, thanks to Jack Yohe, director of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board's office of consumer affairs, and his staff of six analysts, four typists, two clerks.

Lacking any statutory power, the office has used what Yohe terms "moral suasion" to win refunds and penalty payments totalling almost $100,000 for consumers in the last six months.

Moral suasion in many cases translates into discreet arm-twisting.

Organized in December as the first regulatory consumer affairs office in the federal bureaucracy, the Yohe staff works closely with the agency's bureau of enforcement.

For example, Yohe's office received hundreds of complaints from consumers who had been "bumped off" flights although they had been told their reservations were confirmed.

CAB regulations require that airlines furnish passengers with written statements explaining that they are entitled to compensation up to $200 if they are bumped off flights and are not given alternate airline transportation to their destination within two hours of their original schedule.

Yohe's office sent the complaints to the bureau of enforcement which found that only two airlines were providing consumers with properly written statements.

The airlines were ordered to comply immediately with the regulations, and Yohe said all of them now are doing so.

Yohe's files bulge with letters of appreciation. "You and yours will be remembered in our daily prayers," wrote the old couple who had been cheated of the $1,017.

The couple had booked passage on a tour but tried to cancel and get a refund when the woman had to have all the toes on one foot amputated. The travel agency refused to refund their money on the ground that they had not cancelled prior to 60 days before departure, as required by company policy.

Yohe argued, successfully, that the company's position was invalid because the couple made their reservations within the 60-day period and couldn't have cancelled before that time.

CHOPSTICKS ANYONE? The owner of this piano, found by Provincial Police on the side of the Laurentian autoroute in Montreal, has not been found. The instrument was in working order but whether the owner tired of it and took up the harmonica or just wearied of pushing it to some unknown destination remains a mystery.—(CP wirephoto)

Damage Feared

EDMONTON (CP) — A report prepared for the federal government says British troop exercises next spring in Southern Alberta could damage the delicate ecology of the region.

Prepared by three Edmonton scientists and commissioned jointly by the federal departments of the environment and defence, the report is expected to be tabled soon in the Commons by Environment Minister Jack Davis. Their report said grass fires started by live ammunition will be a major safety and environmental hazard on the 750 square miles of grasslands set aside for the British training.

Ad Protests Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post carried a full-page advertisement today signed by 66 "concerned Canadians" calling for cancellation of the planned U.S. underground nuclear test on Amchitka in the Aleutian Islands.

Signers of the "open letter to the people of the United States" included former prime minister Lester B. Pearson, mentioned in the ad as winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, and Stuart Keate, publisher of the Vancouver Sun.

"We are against testing" by any nation, the Canadians said. "We seek your help in banning nuclear testing and specifically, in stopping the imminent Amchitka blast. We have faith in the moral suasion of American public opinion."

Amchitka, the ad said, "is a real and present bomb-site danger to the people of Alaska, Canada, Russia, the Hawaiian Islands and Japan."

Macaroni Stuffed Shells

1/2 of a 12-oz. pkg. large sea shells
2 tins chopped onion
1 cup cottage cheese
1 pkt. frozen spinach, cooked, drained and chopped
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tins chopped onion
2 tins flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup grated Parmesan Cheese
1/2 cup chopped celery
3 tins salad oil
1 can shrimp, drained and flaked (broken shrimp are excellent)
1/2 tsp. oregano
Dash of pepper
3 tins salad oil
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cups chicken broth

Cook sea shells according to package directions, drain and rinse with cold water. Drain well and chill. Cook celery and onion in hot oil until tender but not brown; drain. Combine with cottage cheese, shrimp, spinach, egg, salt, oregano, lemon juice and pepper; mix well. Fill sea shells with mixture. In saucepan, cook onion in oil until tender. Blend in flour and salt. Stir in milk and chicken broth and cook, stirring until thickened. Stir in cheese. Pour half the sauce into a 12" x 7" x 2" baking dish. Arrange stuffed shells in two layers in sauce. Bake covered in moderate oven, 375° 15 minutes. Drizzle remaining sauce on top and bake, uncovered 10 minutes longer.

Businessmen Hold Big Stick Over Presidential Hopefuls

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixty rich, powerful business and civic leaders gathered for lunch Tuesday and agreed to withhold their campaign contributions from any presidential hopeful who doesn't back basic political changes, including throwing out the seniority system in Congress.

The group also decided to invite various declared or prospective candidates for the presidency to appear one at a time before it to discuss certain "burning issues."

The issues included, in addition to the seniority system, an end to arbitrary powers of congressional committee chairmen; strict limitation of campaign spending with eventual government financing of some campaign costs, including television; party reform to end handpicking of candidates; modernization of state and local governments; new regional forms of government and increased government productivity for the taxpayer's dollar.

It was the way one person who attended the luncheon put it.

The meeting was called by Howard Samuels, New York industrialist and now president of the city's Offtrack Betting Corp.; Arthur Cohen, chairman of the board of Arlen Realty and Development Corp.; Edgar Bronfman, president of Distillers Corp.-Seagrams Ltd., and Charles Dyson, chairman of the board of Dyson-Kissner Corp.

The principal speaker was John W. Gardner, former secretary of health, education and welfare and now head of the citizens group Common Cause.

Samuels said in opening remarks to the assembled representatives of wealth and power that young people decried the system, middle Americans complaining about politicians and businessmen talking about government mismanagement are saying the same thing in different words—that our political and public institutions are not working.

REGINA (CP) — The Regina campus students' representative council has established a commission of inquiry into the Carillon, the University of Saskatchewan student newspaper.

An advertisement in the Oct. 22 issue said the inquiry was established following a petition from 100 active members of the students' union.

The commission has been set up to conduct hearings into the duties and responsibilities of the newspaper as well as to accept briefs from concerned students.

Security Sighs Relief as Kosygin Goes

OTTAWA (CP) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin has flown out of Canada beaming goodwill and leaving behind a renewed call for Russian-Canadian co-operation that was almost lost in the mighty sigh of relief from this country's security forces.

After spending eight days viewing Canada from within one of the tightest security networks ever thrown around a visiting dignitary, Mr. Kosygin left the country saying it made "a tremendous impression" on him.

And in a television interview broadcast after his departure Tuesday, he said Russia wants to broaden its economic ties with Canada and join forces in controlling Arctic pollution.

An official communique issued earlier in the day said Mr. Kosygin's political discussions here produced "a similarity of views on a number of international issues."

Talks between the 67-year-old Russian premier and Prime Minister Trudeau were said by the communique to have been carried on "in an atmosphere of frankness, cordiality and mutual understanding."

Despite an Ottawa incident in which Mr. Kosygin was lightly mauled by a man who bounded through police lines, and a constant series of protest demonstrations, there was no indication the hectic tour had been officially marred in any way.

Mr. Kosygin left the country describing Canadians as "very business-like people... proceeding towards their goal boldly, courageously."

Mr. Kosygin's tour, moving like an armoured caravan, took him from Ottawa to Montreal, Vancouver, Edmonton and Toronto.

He saw industrial plants, theatre, a hockey game, wealthy clubs, groups of businessmen, factory workers—and just about everything Canada has to offer in the way of policemen.

But it was his three days of talks with Mr. Trudeau—talks which could have a major impact on international relations—that was at the core of Mr. Kosygin's visit to Canada.

And Tuesday's communique indicated that a lot of ground was covered.

The document envisaged expanded economic co-operation; that appropriate agencies examine ways to develop this co-operation which would extend to the scientific and technological fields.

Both sides agreed to facilitate trade, and wheat was specifically mentioned as a continuing component in this trade.

The communique referred to the "friendly, good-neighbourly relations" between the Soviet Union and Canada, consultations revealed a similarity of views on a number of international problems.

NOW FISCHER SETS SIGHTS ON SPASSKY

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Bobby Fischer, a lanky New York bachelor, has won the right to play the world chess champion for the title—the first American ever to reach this level in chess competition.

He gained the right to play Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union by defeating Tigran Petrosian of Russia for the fourth consecutive time Tuesday night.

Fischer clinched the 12-game series in his ninth game against Petrosian, giving him 6½ points. Fischer will receive $7,500 prize money and Petrosian $4,500.

The 28-year-old high school dropout from Brooklyn, kingpin of American chess for half his life, was once considered the enfant terrible of chess. But he has put aside temperament and quarrels with officials in his bid to be the first non-Russian champion in 25 years.

His 24-game match with Spassky will be held next April and May at a neutral site yet to be chosen.

STARTS SLOWLY

Fischer got off to a slow start in the elimination match with 42-year-old Petrosian. He won the first game, lost the second and the next three were draws. Then he took command with his aggressive play and won the next four games, giving him the points needed for victory without the final three games of the series having to be played.

During elimination matches he won 20 straight games, before his one defeat by Petrosian, and defeated two grandmasters, 6-0, a record never before recorded in modern high-level match and tournament play.

Fischer lounged in a swivel chair during his games with Petrosian, occasionally leaning forward after a move as if he might lunge at the board. At times, he would tap his foot or hold the side of his head. He always had a glass of orange juice at his side and at times would break for something to eat.

Fischer, who became the youngest-ranking international grandmaster at age 15, has a long-time reputation as one of the most brilliant, daring players the game has seen.

However, Fischer has known disappointment and controversy in earlier tournament play.

In 1961, after declaring at age 19 that he would be world champion, he beat an impressive number of Russian players and then went down to a resounding defeat at the candidates' tournament in 1962.

WOULDN'T COMPETE

He would not compete in the next round of qualifying matches for the biennial world championship and in the following round walked out after a dispute with officials.

In an interview before his match with Petrosian, Fischer said he's now trying to control his temper. "I play by the rules now," he said.

A delirious ovation rose from the tightly packed crowd at the San Marin theatre, when former world champion Petrosian shook hands with Fischer at move 46, conceding defeat.

A five-minute chant of "Bobby, Bobby" filled the theatre, while police and guards struggled vainly to prevent chess fans from jumping onto the stage to embrace both grandmasters.

It gives you the convenience of a department store charge service, plus the advantages of shopping wherever you like—which automatically gives you a better selection of goods and a wider price range to choose from.

In fact, what we've done is take a lot of the good things about department store shopping and spread them around.

We use a billing system that's as easy and efficient as four of Canada's leading banks know how to make it.

Every month, all of your purchases are shown on a single statement and mailed to you. You simply send us one cheque. If you pay for these purchases within 25 days of your billing date, you don't have to pay any service charge at all.

If you choose to spread your payments out, you can pay by the month just like you would with your department store card, and take advantage of terms and interest rates that are competitive with all other retail shopping cards.

Try shopping with your Chargex card this Fall. Pick up an application at your sponsoring bank or participating store.

Streetcar Days: Some Got Seasick

Elizabeth Forbes

Recalls Headache

Of Hobble Skirts

It was at an informal tea party. In one of those attractive apartments on Cook where windows look down over the chestnut trees to a busy street.

Someone remarked that in the last 20 or 30 years Cook Street had emerged as a main Victoria thoroughfare. And that started a chain of reminiscences.

One guest told us of a time when the first street cars ran along the road. She counted back and said it must have been around 1909.

"The street had been little more than a city dump littered with tin cans, ashes and every kind of junk. A road was built on that surface and when car tracks were laid they sank as the rubble settled."

She remembered that at first small, single-track cars were used on the line "and they bucked and swayed and lurched over those humps and hollows, in spite of efforts of a track gang."

Some passengers actually got seasick, she insisted, and had to ask the conductor to let them off.

Streetcars on all runs in the city were equipped with controls at both ends. But soon afterward the single-enders came into vogue.

At the terminus the motorman then had to pick up his controller and air brake handles and put them in position at the other end of the car.

The trolley-pole either had to be swung around or, if it was double, one was pulled down and latched under a hook on the roof and the other was released in contact with the trolley wire.

If there was a looped track at the end of a run, like Oak Bay (at Windsor Park), the Willows (at the old fair grounds) and at the Gorge, "it was much easier."

Did anyone remember the early fare boxes? Our hostess described them as "small leather and metal affairs with jug-like handles."

There was no such thing as pay-as-you-enter. Passengers waited right into the car and the conductor came in later with the little box. "When the cars were loaded at the rush hour he had to fight his way up and down aisles several times during a trip."

Just then there was a hearty laugh from a far corner of the room and a voice said, "Remember the hobble skirts?"

That sparked a concerted groan. Those skirts were so narrow the wearer was practically fettered from the knees down.

"It was physically impossible for a woman wearing one to step up on a street car," a white-haired woman remembered. "Only way was to throw decorum to the winds and hoist the skirt above the knees. Or plant both feet on the ground and make a standing jump to the first step."

Finally a concession was made to "that horrible fashion" and street car steps were lowered to 16 inches from the ground.

The big snow of 1916 was remembered, when flat cars loaded with fuel and food were run out to Esquimalt and Oak Bay because delivery trucks could not get through.

We talked of The Buzzer, a provocative little folder that appeared each Monday in a handy metal pocket in street cars.

In its easy reading, people learned much about the problems and the projects of the company and got many a hearty laugh from its jokes and anecdotes.

Finally someone spoke of a time when everyone rode free on the street cars for the golden jubilee of David Spencer Ltd.

The Spencers "bought" the street railway and Saanich interurban system for a day and everyone rode as guests of the old firm, now the T. Eaton Company.

It was back in 1923, our hostess said. She was 10-years-old at the time "and before school and after school we simply mobbed the street cars."

Vasectomy

Simple Operation Offers Men Birth Control Initiative

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff

More and more men in Greater Victoria are volunteering for an operation which stops them fathering children. It's called vasectomy. Statistics show the trend.

● 208 vasectomies at Royal Jubilee Hospital's day care unit in 1968, climbing to 303 in 1969, jumping to 649 last year and headed for 720 this year.

The day care program handles minor surgery cases where the patient doesn't need to stay in hospital overnight.

On top of these are the vasectomies doctors are doing outside hospitals, in their office surgeries or clinics. That could double or triple the total; no one knows.

● Across the province, through both in-patient and day care hospital surgery, the figures were 442 vasectomies in 1968, up to 858 in 1969 and to 2,420 last year.

● On a broader scale still, 750,000 men had vasectomies in the U.S. last year, bringing the total in that country to about 3 million.

What is this operation which is proving so popular? What reasons are men giving for having it?

Ominous Title

Here is a summary of what some local doctors report.

Vasectomy is an ominous title for a simple operation, performed in about 20 minutes under either local or general anesthesia.

The doctor closes, by tying off, two tubes in the patient's scrotum which carry the sperm produced by the testicles. It is the sperm in the seminal discharge during intercourse which fertilize the female egg and produce pregnancy.

The operation requires two small incisions, each about half an inch long. The patient goes home within an hour or two. There is little or no pain but for a few days there is sensitivity.

Following a vasectomy, that portion of the testicles which produces sperm simply shuts down. The testicles also produce hormones but these enter the bloodstream by another route and the process is unaffected by the operation.

Sexual activity can resume in a week or so. But there is still a reservoir of sperm in the patient's reproductive system so whatever birth control measures were being used should be continued for about two months.

About that time a semen sample will be analysed in a laboratory to make certain there is no more sperm in it.

After that, no more contraceptives. And no more children.

Don't Count on It

Most doctors make a point of telling couples they should view the operation as irreversible. It has sometimes been reversed but no one should count on it.

For a husband this poses a question: would he want more children if his wife died, or they were divorced and he remarried?

A vasectomy makes no difference to sex performance which wasn't there before, says another doctor. He puts it that way to cover the rare instances of impotence which follow. They can be traced to causes before the operation, he says.

There is no visible change either. Sperm cells make up only a small part of the semen ejaculated in intercourse.

In surveys the vast majority of men who have had the operation report their sex life either unchanged or improved.

What reasons do men, or couples, give when they approach their doctor for a vasectomy?

Mostly they say they have enough kids, whether that's two, three or four or more, said one doctor.

Two factors are at work here — economics and energy. Children cost money and more children affect the entire family's standard of living. There's a price to pay in energy and frayed nerves bringing children up, too.

The time varies, but there comes a time with most parents when they figure the price for more children is too high.

The only question then is — what form of birth control?

Some men or couples approaching a doctor for a vasectomy tell him other forms of birth control are unreliable or inconvenient.

Most Popular

Most popular of the other forms is the pill; but disenchantment with it isn't new. A minority of women, their husbands or doctors worry that tricking the body with 20 pills a month can hardly do it any good.

"They're playing pretty intimately with their own natural functions when they're messing around with hormones," said one doctor.

A woman on the pill has 20 chances a month to forget to take it too. Sooner or later most forget and must get away with it. But using the pill and that nagging little fear of forgetting go hand in hand.

A vasectomy is not an operation undertaken by doctors "on demand." They have to be convinced it's in the patient's best interests, but convincing them appears a good deal easier in recent years.

One doctor said how he feels about it varies from person to person.

"I have young couples where I have reservations. But if they go away and think about it and then still want it, I can't change their life style."

He has particular reservations about young men who want the operation.

Big Difference

There's a big difference between ages 24 or 25 and 34 or 35. A lot can happen in that decade. I've had a number of marriages break up after a vasectomy. They were apparently hoping it would be a cure-all. But it wasn't.

In some cases one or the other of a couple wants the operation alone and the other doesn't. Where the wife is for it and the husband isn't, is one reason given more than others.

"There are still a lot of guys who don't like the idea, who are leery of it," said the doctor. "Some say — 'it's your worry' — (preventing pregnancy) to the woman."

There are still a fair number of these around, the kind of men the women's lib supporters campaign about.

Collectively, local doctors have sharply modified their attitude toward vasectomies and this is reflected in policy changes at Royal Jubilee.

Five years ago a committee of five doctors from the medical staff had to approve va-sectomy applications before the operation could be done at the hospital.

Wife's signature as well as husband's was required on the application and most doctors saw to it personally that the wife understood its significance.

Today there is no more committee approval required by Jubilee and the matter is essentially one between patient and doctor. The hospital requires any applicant be at least 19 years old, of sound mind and known long enough by his doctor for the physician to be satisfied the operation is in the patient's best interests.

There is still a brief application form the man must sign for the hospital and the hospital encourages but does not insist that the person signing as witness be the man's wife.

There is also a three-day waiting period between application and operation which allows the hospital time to complete its documentation. It serves another function, providing more time for an applicant to consider his decision.

Actually, the matter of waiting periods has taken an ironic turn. A few years ago there was a mandatory 30-day wait. This is gone now, but because of the operation's popularity a man will be on Jubilee's waiting list from six weeks to three months.

For the most modern concept in carpet and upholstery cleaning call:

BARON
Steam Carpet Cleaning
477-3414

It can stretch to three months, because many men want the operation on a Friday. That way they have the weekend to recover and don't miss days at work.

Jubilee's application also requires a man state his reason. Many put something as brief as "enough children."

Jubilee Only

All the vasectomies done at hospital in Victoria are done at Jubilee. St. Joseph's Hospital is operated by the Sisters of St. Ann and the Catholic Church opposes voluntary sterilization as self-mutilation.

But St. Joseph's is to become a public hospital soon and it's more than likely that will bring a change in policy.

As might be expected, the international surge in vasectomies has generated some sidelights. In California, a 31-year-old law research expert, Robert Quinlan Jr., has pioneered the state's first frozen sperm bank — for men who want vasectomies but want to hedge their bets.

"Three million men in the U.S. have had vasectomies already," said Quinlan, "and in four years time that figure is expected to double. It is only natural for people to want to store their sperm if they can."

To cater to them he is building a heavily guarded facility in an isolated corner of the Nevada desert. Sperm sam-pies, which could later be re-activated, will be stored in plastic racks at 350 degrees below zero using liquid nitrogen.

Quinlan plans on charging $15 for the initial collection and freezing process, plus $10 annually for storage.

A senior hospital spokesman in Victoria says he knows of no plans for a sperm bank here.

Quinlan's project may lose out to the march of science. In Washington two surgeons are testing a technique which could lead to a reversible sterilization operation for men.

The new technique undergoing evaluation at George Washington University Hospital could be called a modified vasectomy. The procedure involves blocking with tiny plastic plugs the tubes which are tied off in the current vasectomy. The plugs can be removed, perhaps years later, in a second operation.

DIARY OF A VOLUNTEER

What's going to happen to me?

That's what men contemplating a vasectomy want to know and there's the suspicion that the fear which comes from not knowing leads many to abandon the idea or procrastinate indefinitely.

Some doctors perform vasectomies in their office surgeries using a local anesthetic. Others prefer to use a hospital operating room and a general anesthetic.

Here is the account of one man who went the second route:

8 a.m. Arrived at the emergency department of Royal Jubilee Hospital. This is where the paperwork processing is done for day care surgery cases, these being minor cases where the patient is in and out of hospital the same day.

Lady completed form with answers to a few routine questions. Paid $2 — the rest being covered by insurance.

8:15 a.m. Directed to room on second floor. Four beds. All empty. Shown cupboard for hanging clothes, given hospital nightgown, left to climb into bed and read paper.

8:45 a.m. nurse administers needle in hip. Something to do with preparing for anesthetic.

9:15 a.m. — Friendly orderly arrives and we begin journey — him pushing wheeled bed. Strange view — nothing but ceiling. Distinct feeling this is a bit silly but also a bit late to suggest I walk. Corridors, elevator, more corridors.

Am left in dim cubicle with second patient. More chatting as we are watched by nursing aide (to prevent escape?) while she assembles bandages or something.

My doctor arrives, says "hello," examines chart, vanishes.

9:30 — wheeled into OR, bright tiled room. Everyone else seems to be leaving. Short wait and a genial gentleman in green approaches, says "good morning, I'm Dr. — resist temptation to shake hands) I'll be giving you your anesthetic."

Slight sting in arm. Nothing happens.

"Take a deep breath," he says. Instant sleep.

10:15 a.m. (or thereabouts) Eyes open but I can't focus. Feel fine, slight stinging in groin, but — double vision, which passes in a few minutes.

***

Busy room (post-operative recovery) with nurse alongside telling another patient, quietly insistent, "wake up Mrs. —, time to wake up, wake up..."

Orderly arrives and wheels me back to day care room. Instructed to relax in bed until I feel ready to get dressed.

Relax awhile, get dressed gingerly, free ride in wheel chair to hospital front door (nurse insists), driver home.

Two or three days of walking carefully.

In a month or two you'll forget you had the operation," the doctor had said earlier. He was right.

Four Volunteers

The first stage has been completed with four volunteers this summer. But the doctors conducting the research emphasize it remains to be seen whether reversibility, with restoration of fertility, can be achieved.

They say the operation is not designed for the father who has enough children so much as for the young man who, for example, right after marriage might want to be "turned off" for awhile. He would be able to come back to his doctor perhaps two or three years later to have the plugs removed and be "turned on" again.

Indian Heritage Group's Lifeblood

By MICHAEL BENNETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The elevator in the slick glass and brick motel wheezed to a halt on the second floor and Pete East Walking Bear DePoe leered behind his Genghis Khan moustache as a frumpish-looking cleaning lady timidly stepped inside.

"Hey, they even allow Indians to ride these things," he grinned, his dark Cheyenne eyes sparkling.

Pat Vegas, his brother Lolly and Tony Bellamy leaned against their guitar cases and laughed wildly. The woman managed an uncertain smile which twitched at the corners of her mouth and got off at the next stop.

She didn't know it, but she'd just met the group called Redbone, four American Indians who have superimposed today's musical idioms on a centuries-old culture to produce a sound new, yet rich in tradition.

"Our heritage is the lifeblood of the music," says Lolly, three generations removed from the tribe, but still spiritually bound to it.

"We're just trying to convey our feelings, which might sound like a pompous statement, but it's not an easy thing to do.

"We've played everything from blues to jazz, so we just brought it all together into one force with our heritage as the backbone. It took us a long time to come to the realization that the best we have to offer is what we are.

BREADWINNER'S PROTECTION comes from mother baboon, named Wendy. She and her offspring, Big Ears, are among the crowd-catchers at Chessington Zoo, near London. (AP Wirephoto.)

DEAR ABBY

She'd Like To Stay Put

DEAR ABBY: I have recently married a kind, considerate and generous man, who took on a divorced 40-year-old woman, plus her three rambunctious teenagers and a cat.

He wants to move us out of our present home into a larger, more pretentious one. I would like to stay put for another four years, until my youngest is out of high school. My children have changed schools many times in their lives, and now they are happy, and I don't want them to have to adjust to another change. I believe the teen years are the most difficult when it comes to breaking into a new circle of friends.

My home is pleasant and adequate, and in an entirely acceptable neighborhood, but my husband would like something a little less modest. I want desperately to make this wonderful man happy, but at the moment I am torn with indecision about where my first obligation lies. Please tell me what you think.—Torn.

DEAR TORN: You seem to be a very unselfish, sensitive and thoughtful woman. Tell your husband why you prefer to "stay put" rather than move into a more pretentious home. If he's as kind, considerate and generous as you say he is, he will respect you for your attitude, and defer willingly.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 71-year-old widow. I live alone in a little home which I own and I am afraid to be here alone at night.

Do you think I'd be the talk of the town if I let a man sleep in my basement? The man I have in mind is clean and respectable. He's a little retarded. Can't read or write, but he is honest. (He's done some odd jobs for me over the years.)

I have asked a few of my good friends, and they said, "Sure, why not?"

What do you say?—Mrs. I.J. DEAR MRS. J.: Sure, why not, indeed!

DEAR ABBY: I don't know whom to believe. My teenage daughter tells me that her friends have complained to her about the way her father acts towards them. Father is 40, good-looking and very lively. I mentioned this to him and he said those girls have misinterpreted his actions—that he is just trying to have a little fun, teasing them.

He tickles them in the ribs and sneaks up behind them and puts his hands around their shoulders or their waists.

Your suggestions are most welcome in this misunderstanding.—Mother.

DEAR MOTHER: Tell father that if he will keep his hands to himself there will be no chance of a "misinterpretation"—misunderstanding or whatever.

DEAR ABBY: After being officially engaged for five months, I realize that it would be a big mistake to marry Harry. I feel bad about having to break our engagement after all the parties and gifts given in our honor, but there is no other way.

I have already figured out what to say to him, my family and friends; but what do I do with the engagement ring? Should I pay him the $300 and keep it? (I don't really want it.) He still has the wedding ring, which is part of the set, and half a set won't do either one of us any good.

Please hurry my answer as I want to settle this soon.—Ring Trouble.

DEAR RING: Give the engagement ring back to him. What he does with it after that is his problem.

Teen-Ager Is Trustee

WINNIPEG (CP)—A teen-ager studying honors history at the University of Manitoba, who campaigned on a pledge to involve his constituents in decision-making roles, won election in early October as trustee in a Winnipeg school division.

Nineteen-year-old Benjamin Levin, who sees himself in his new role as an innovator who will fill a liaison role between students and adults, is the city's youngest ever school trustee.

He received 5,591 votes in Ward 3 of the Seven Oaks school division, the second highest of 10 candidates. The three candidates polling the most votes were elected.

Interviewed between classes at the university, Mr. Levin said he stressed to voters during the campaign he would have a more accurate perspective of students' vies than would older candidates. Trustees tend to make their decisions too hard and fast, he said. He will aim to be flexible.

"We want to get everyone into decision-making roles," he said.

Community involvement could be improved by bringing parents into the schools as volunteers and support personnel under the provisions of recent provincial legislation allowing classes to be handled by non-teaching personnel.

"It's ridiculous to pay $5 a day for a substitute teacher to do nothing."

BACKS EDUCATION LAB

Mr. Levin said he was elected after "almost a professional campaign" in which he had about 90 young people knocking on doors in the ward. He did no mailing, but printed two leaflets, one discussing issues and one outlining his qualifications, which were distributed by his supporters.

Discussing education issues, he said he would like to see an experimental school set up in the division. It would be an education laboratory where different techniques could be examined and perfected before being introduced to the classroom.

Mr. Levin said such a school could have prevented some of the failures of the open-area schools in the district, where a number of classes and different subjects are taught concurrently in the same room.

If the scheme had been tried in an experimental school, staff would have learned to work more effectively and kinks could have been ironed out before the system was introduced in regular schools.

Mr. Levin has lived in the ward all his life. He is a former president of West Kildonan collegiate student council and was on the provincial championship team on a television high school quiz program.

He is a member of the senate of the university and manages the university's basketball team.

DUNTON PLANS TO STEP DOWN

OTTAWA (CP) — Davidson Dunton, president of Carleton University, Tuesday declared his intention to resign in June, 1972.

The announcement came at a board of directors meeting when a letter from Mr. Dun-ton to board chairman Dr. Lorne Gray was made public. Mr. Dunton, who became president in 1958, gave no reason for his decision. He said he would spend a year studying and travelling and hoped to maintain some contact with the university.

CAR INSURANCE GOING PUBLIC

ing rates for vehicle coverage under Autopac.

Rural Manitoba drivers will get the cheapest rates with Greater Winnipeg next and Manitoba north of the 53rd parallel at the top.

However, additional premiums will be levied on purchase of all drivers' licences, whether or not the purchaser owns a car. Here, three more factors come into play—age, sex and driving record.

Driver premiums are $7 for males and $3 for females aged 25 or over and $22 for males and $7 for females under 25.

Extra premiums will be levied on a demerit system based on traffic offences, ranging from $50 for six demerit points to $300 for 20 points or more.

Highest demerits, 15 points each, are for conviction for criminal negligence or leaving the scene of an accident. About two per cent of drivers have six or more demerits on their records.

Accidents, unless resulting in a conviction that brings demerit points to more than six, are not considered in setting Autopac rates. However, Municipal Affairs Minister Howard Pawley, who is responsible for Autopac, says the corporation will reserve the right to levy additional premiums on accident-prone drivers after the plan becomes operational.

PAYS $37

An example of rates under Autopac's rate-setting formula is supplied by a fictional 30-year-old man with fewer than six demerit points who lives in rural Manitoba and drives his 1959 Chevrolet sedan for pleasure only.

He will receive the preferred rate because of his age and the fact he drives his car for pleasure only, while his 12-year-old vehicle will fall into the cheapest category.

He thus will pay $37 for basic coverage, made up of $30 for vehicle insurance and $7 with the drivers' permit.

On the other extreme, a 22-year-old who lives in the northern city of Thompson, drives his 1971 Porsche to work, has had several accidents in the last year but no demerits, will pay $164 for basic coverage—$142 vehicle insurance and $22 on his licence.

That the young driver of the luxury car in Thompson will save money under Autopac is readily agreed to by both government and insurance industry spokesmen.

Where agreement is hard to find is on the more typical drivers, the mature motorist with an accident-free record.

SAVINGS DISPUTED

When the Schreyer government embarked on its auto insurance plan last year, government spokesmen forecast aggregate savings of 15 per cent for motorists.

Since then, with each unveiling of rates, government estimates of savings have ranged from five to 35 per cent and these estimates have been backed up by comparisons with what were said to be private company rates.

Not to be outdone, the private companies have argued that more than half the province's drivers will pay as much or more for Autopac, and they have produced comparative rates as well.

Closure Lifted

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Forest Service has lifted a closure on log salvaging in the waters adjacent to Qualicum Beach, Parksville, North-west Bay and Ballenas Channel. The closure was imposed to allow owners to retrieve their logs scattered in rough weather.

Where does a wrinkle come from?

You've seen pictures of desert lakes. Dry land with cracks all over it. The cracks are there because there's no moisture under the ground.

That's the way it is with a wrinkle. When the tiny cells under your skin dry out, the cells shrink. And outside, on your skin, a wrinkle appears. Sooner or later it happens to everybody.

If you could get something to put pure, fresh moisture back into those cells, your wrinkles would fade. Even disappear.

Now you can get that something at better drug and department stores.

It's called 2nd Debut, a specially formulated beauty discovery that's been proven to make wrinkles fade, even disappear. Applied twice daily, 2nd Debut, with CEF 600 or CEF 1200, will actually begin to smooth out ugly wrinkles.

lowed to participate in the plan.

Thus, Manitoba motorists can purchase vehicle coverage directly through Autopac or through an accredited agent. About 400 agents, most of those previously handling auto insurance as a large portion of their business, have opted into Autopac.

From Nov. 1 to the end of 1972 they will receive a commission of seven per cent on the basic package. In 1973 the rate will fall to six per cent and will be fixed at five per cent thereafter. Commission rate on supplementary coverage is set at 10 per cent.

Agents, who formerly received about 12-per-cent commission from private companies, have complained bitterly.

The government has argued that under Autopac overhead costs will be cut dramatically. The agents reply that Autopac involves much more paper work than they ever encountered in private industry.

"We're trapped," Mel Parsons, president of the Insurance Agents' Association of Manitoba, complained recently. "If you stay, you lose money on Autopac, but if you get out you lose what you had of the auto insurance business and maybe the rest of your business as well."

Pakistan Parties Co-Operate To Run No-Contest Election

DACCA (AP) — Six political parties agreed on a slate of National Assembly candidates today to run unopposed for the seats of Awami Leaguers accused of fighting for independence for East Pakistan.

Political sources said the slate was approved by Pakistan's military regime, which had been seeking to avoid any contests in the special election called for December.

The party leaders agreed on 78 candidates for the 79 vacated seats. The only seat for which a candidate was not named is the one won by Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, imprisoned Awami League leader accused of leading the Bengali secessionist movement.

The Awami League won 167 of the 313 National Assembly seats in last December's election. But the military regime did not allow the assembly to convene, and after civil war broke out last March it outlawed the league.

"In the need of the hour we

Premier Kept On

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Premier Nihat Erim's army-backed reform government resigned early today in a manoeuvre to confound conservative critics, and President Cevdet Sunay refused to accept the resignation.

Sunay said Erim and his cabinet had "Full support from the parliament, armed forces and public opinion."

Erim agreed to continue as premier.

The resignation came after a meeting Tuesday night of Erim with Sunay, Gen. Memduh Tugmac, chief of the general staff, and Justice party chairman Suleyman Demirel.

Erim accused the conservative Justice party of blocking his proposed social and economic reforms.

Turkey's military commanders ousted Demirel from the premiership March 12. They threatened to take over if a new government was not formed to stop civil unrest and make reforms.

Demirel's party, which has 224 seats in the 450-seat assembly, contributed five ministers to Erim's government, which was dominated by non-political technicians, some of them moderate leftists.

Oct. 5, Demirel ordered his ministers to resign from the cabinet, bringing on the crisis.

Policemen Trade Drugs For Goods

NEW YORK (AP) — A former policeman, now a cab driver, says members of the black and Puerto Rican unit set up to fight street crime in Harlem gave informants heroin in exchange for stolen goods.

Waverly Logan, dismissed last year for taking a $100 bribe from a drug dealer, also said Tuesday that he made $1,500 a month in payoffs while on the "crime-fighting" squad and others made more.

He testified as the Knapp commission began its second week of public hearings on police corruption.

The former policeman said it was common practice among officers to trade confiscated heroin to informants in exchange for stolen goods.

Among the lieutenant, two sergeants and 20 patrolmen on the squad, only two policemen did not actively solicit payoffs, Logan said, adding that the two would take money other officers had obtained.

Another former patrolman testified last week that every plainclothes officer he had encountered was on the take.

"I would say the good scorers, the heavy scorers may make about $3,000 a month," Logan said. "The average, like myself, was about $1,500."

Bennett Heads East

Premier Bennett said Monday he will attend the federal-provincial conference on the economy in Ottawa Nov. 15 to 17.

Bennett said he will stress "co-operation with all of Canada" at the meeting. He will send Gerald Bryson, deputy minister of finance, to represent B.C. at an earlier meeting of finance ministers Nov. 1 and 2.

must forget our individual and party politics for the sake of national unity," said a statement issued by the leaders of the six parties whose candidates won only one of the 169 seats contested in the East last December.

In producing the slate, the six parties also snubbed former foreign minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's Pakistan People's party which, with 81 National Assembly members from West Pakistan, is the largest party allowed to operate.

Meanwhile, the Pakistani army claimed Tuesday that Indian artillery killed 23 Pakistani villagers in shelling more than a dozen East Pakistani villages in shelling. Pakistani spokesmen said 2,300 artillery and mortar shells fell along the borders. Pakistani military sources reported earlier that 585 persons had been killed this week in fighting with forces from India.

Panty Hose

Irregulars of our most famous 3.00 brand.

2 pair 1.00

Absolutely incredible value... and one we can never hope to offer again. Because the manufacturer happens to be one of the best in the business, he classifies these panty hose as irregular. We honestly cannot even find the so-called irregularity in almost any of them... and certainly there is nothing there to affect the wonderful wearing qualities, the luscious look or the comfortable fit. Colours are tan, harmony, taupe. Only one way to get your share... be here when the doors open.

Airline Bothered By Boom

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada has no intention of operating any supersonic aircraft, such as the Anglo-French Concorde, "if it has an appreciable detrimental effect on the environment," Claude Taylor, vice-president of Air Canada, said Tuesday.

Taylor said that it already is common knowledge that the great speed advantage of the plane over conventional passenger jet aircraft may be offset by its sonic boom "which may well prevent supersonic flights over some land areas."

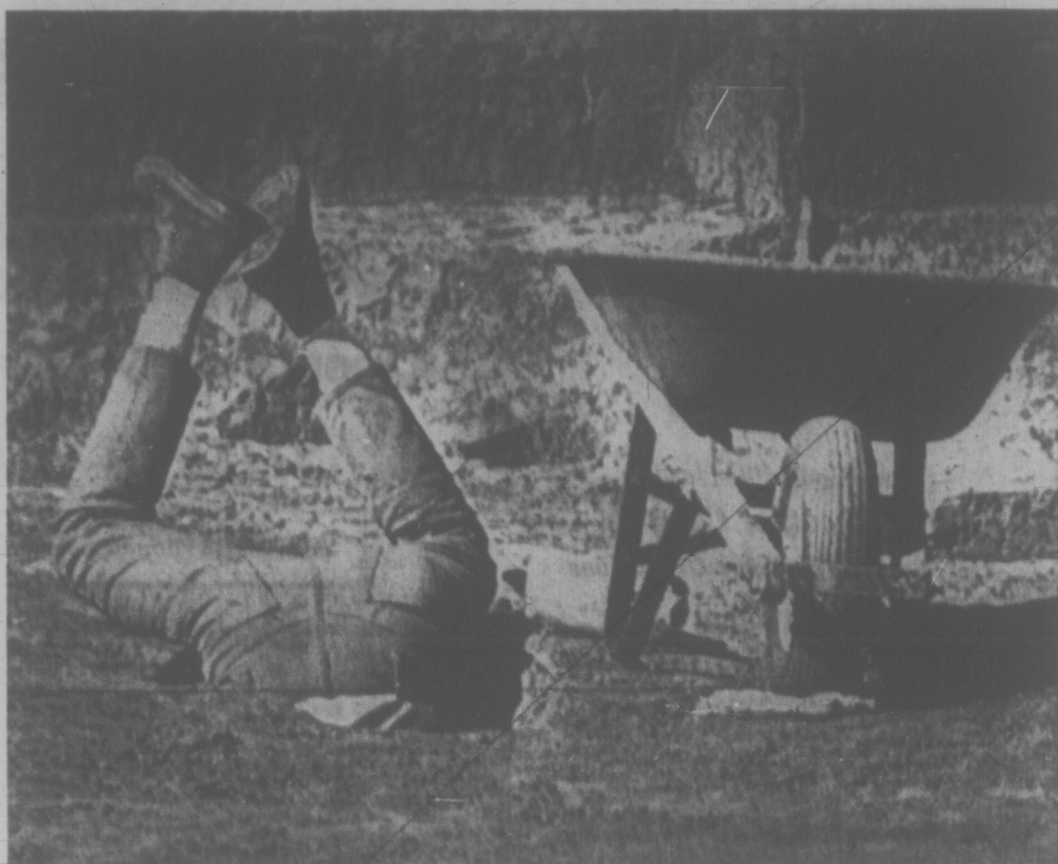

Because of this, the high cost of operating an SST and the economic slowdown in the western world "it is an understatement to say that airline executives are not enthusiastic about it."

In his address to the St. James Literary Society, Taylor noted that the cost of purchasing one 120-passenger Concorde, with a speed of 1,400 miles an hour, is $32 million.

This compared with $8 million for the 180-passenger DC-8, $16 million for the larger Lockheed L-1011, and $23 million for the 360-passenger Boeing 747.

"Can one justify very high capital expenditure on a vehicle which can only operate economically on the basis of a premium fare?" he asked. "And how many potential passengers would be ready to pay a . . . higher price for a shorter time in the air?"

Taylor predicted that the "major impact on medium to long-haul travel through the 1970s will be made by the widebody subsonic jets . . ."

City Group Quizzes PM?

Prime Minister Trudeau has been asked by the Victoria branch of the Royal Commonwealth Society to explain why Governor-General Roland Michener was billed as Head of State during a recent visit to Iran.

In a telegram the branch protests the incorrect title, used instead of Her Majesty's Representative in Canada.

$250, C. A. Kelly scholastic achievement award.

Other winners were Loraine Saunder, Esquimalt Senior Secondary Student Council Scholarship, $75; Peggy Sutherland, Esquimalt Senior Secondary Scholarship, $75; Brenda Wood, Esquimalt Lions Club Scholarship, $100 and Chris Wilkinson, Y Teen Bursary, $50.

The telegram states that the society protests "this apparent change in Canada's constitutional status."

Branch chairman Mrs. Lillian Chambers said Monday, "Head of State is the title for the head of a republic. We didn't know Canada had become a republic."

"Trudeau's staff must have authorized this or Trudeau himself," she said.

WASTE DUMPING 'INEVITABLE'

The decision permitting a refinery under construction at Bellingham, Wash., to discharge wastes into the Strait of Georgia was "inevitable," an environmental group spokesman said today.

Kurt Horn, president of the Duncan branch of the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control (SPEC), said he was not at all surprised at the decision, adding: "It's just another battle we haven't won."

Army engineers said earlier this week the Atlantic Richfield Company had been granted a two-year permit to dump wastes as long as it does not violate water quality standards.

The permit could be revoked if it were proven the operation had caused environmental harm.

In addition, the permit requires that ship loading or unloading at the refinery's pier be encircled by a floating boom to contain oil spills. Other measures to prevent or clean up spills were also required.

Horn said it was ironical the original hearings on the permit application should have been held under the army engineers because "they're the biggest bloody polluters in the world."

He said until the rules were changed allowing opponents of such plans to "do battle before the fact," similar decisions posing a threat to the environment were bound to follow.

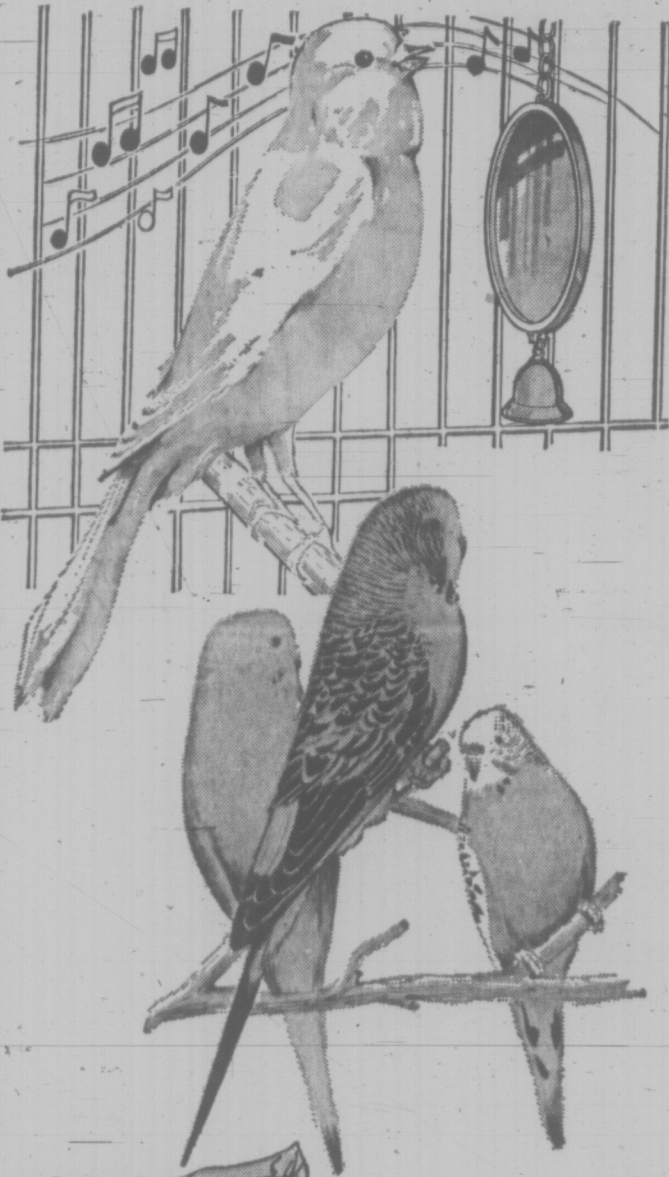

SPEC's opposition to the proposal included picketing of the Atlantic Richfield plant earlier this year.

By CAROL KENNEDY
SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP) — One 'sunlit morning recently, the 33-year-old SS Nieuw Amsterdam, the Holland America Line's dowager queen of the North Atlantic, slipped quietly out of this south-coast port, bound for home after her final scheduled crossing from New York and Halifax.

The twin green-and-yellow-banded smokestacks of the 36,600-ton Nieuw Amsterdam, last of the big pre-war Atlantic liners, will no longer be seen on the western ocean except for the odd "positioning" voyage between Florida-based cruises and refits in Europe.

The same goes for the SS Rotterdam and Statendam, Holland America's other big passenger liners—driven off the transatlantic run by falling revenues and ferocious cut-price competition in the skies. All three vessels now will spend their time cruising the more profitable Caribbean.

ONLY FOUR DANCERS

Certainly the Nieuw Amsterdam's last crossing was no nostalgic fling like that of the two old Cunard Queen liners. Only 70 first-class passengers and 300 tourist travelers occupied quarters intended for 1,274.

Some bars were closed for lack of custom. In the first-class lounge with its silvery-green velvet decor, a Palm Court quartet played valiantly for two fox-trotting couples, the saxophone whispering the last enchantments of a vanished age.

Shipboard staff said it had been a similar story all year, with only one voyage filled to capacity. They blamed the airlines' youth fares and the flood of cut-price charter flights for the decline.

Holland America is not the only line withdrawing its vessels this year from the one-time Blue Riband route where the Western seafaring countries used to rival each other with crack passenger ships. North German Lloyd, which last year merged with Hamburg-America to become the Hapag-Lloyd, is taking off its Bremen and Europa, namesakes of record-breaking liners of the 1920s and heirs to 110 years of Atlantic prowess.

Like their Dutch counterparts, the German liners will cruise full-time from early 1972—the Bremen out of U.S. ports and the Europa out of Bremerhaven and Genoa for the Mediterranean trade.

END IN SIGHT?

Since the Queen Mary was retired in 1967, more and more Atlantic liners have been switched to other roles. Even if Cunard's decision to quit the North Atlantic Passenger Steamship Conference—which sets fare levels and other regulations—results in some fare-cutting on the western ocean, the feeling among travel experts here is that the years of the Atlantic liner are numbered.

The economics are daunting. Cunard's Queen Elizabeth 2 costs an estimated $30,000 ($75,000) a day to operate on the Atlantic. That means a minimum fare of $15 ($37.50) a day if the ship is to break even on capacity booking—and she is rarely fully booked.

Ocean costs and fares have climbed steadily while air charter rates have been slashed and several scheduled airlines have introduced special youth fares and reductions for advance booking. Daily ads in the London papers offer immediate airline seats to New York for $45 ($112.50) and you can buy a return ticket for as little as $60 ($150) by charter excursion.

LOWERS PRICES

Cunard, now under the control of an investment firm run by real-estate millionaire Nigel Brookes, has already begun price-cutting in the low season, offering three round-trip voyages to New York this fall for the price of one-way tickets.

But Brookes does not commit himself beyond the end of 1972 to continuing the QE2 in her present role—shutting the Atlantic in summer in tandem with the French Line's SS France, and cruising the Caribbean in winter. Victor Matthews, Cunard's new managing director, says the QE2's future is as a "floating hotel," not on transatlantic crossings.

The liner was "the last of its kind," Matthews said recently, adding that the transatlantic program would be maintained for the next 12 months.

Other steamship companies, including Canadian Pacific, keep an eagle eye on the volatile economics of Atlantic trade. CP Ships now run only one passenger vessel, the 27,000-ton Empress of Canada, having sold off the Empress of England last year.

SHIP TRAVEL OFF

Only the state-subsidized Italian Line seems unaffected by the new fare war in the air. A company official suggested part of their success might be that their ships call at several popular Mediterranean cruise ports before crossing to Halifax and New York.

But statistics on British sailings have long shown a decline. In 1970, only 23,732 passengers travelled by sea to and from British and Canadian ports and 51,893 between Britain and the United States. Ten years earlier, the figures were 98,000 and 178,900 respectively.

The first seven months of 1971 show a further falling-off, except for summer crossings to Europe from America.

While plenty of people obviously still want to travel by sea, some shipping experts believe the volume is not enough to preserve the old-style liner as fares climb up and up.

165-MILE CHASE FOLLOWS STORE ROBBERY

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Two gunmen were booked for investigation of armed robbery, burglary, kidnapping and auto theft after a 13-hour, 165-mile police chase which began with a supermarket holdup.

Police identified the pair in custody as Henry Lee Madden, 25, and Mark Richard Griffie, 16, both of Long Beach.

The chase ended Tuesday when the gunman surrendered peacefully and freed two terrified hostages at a roadblock about 60 miles east of San Diego on an isolated stretch of Interstate 8.

Police said the pair left a supermarket in Long Beach at 8:05 a.m. after taking more than $5,000 from a safe. They had entered the store at about midnight and stayed to tie up 13 employees as they arrived for work because the safe could not be opened until 7:30 a.m.

Four of the employees were taken as hostages when the men fled in a car stolen from the parking lot.

The gunmen then sped to Laguna Hills, about 35 miles southeast of Long Beach, where they entered the home of Leslie Dreis, a 30-year-old real-estate broker.

Dreis and his son, Mark, 7, escaped out a side door but the man's daughter, Monique, 6, was trapped inside.

Ray Garner, 37, assistant store manager, escaped with the store's money when he was sent outside to bring in the money bags from one of the cars.

During their 2½-hour stay, the gunmen issued demands for $20,000 in ransom and an unmarked police car, bartering Monique's life as the girl watched television cartoons.

The store's money was returned to the bandits as part of the bargain, and the men fled in the police car.

SINGER SHOT DEAD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ray Corbin, country and western singer and composer, has been shot to death at the home of a Phoenix woman, police reported Tuesday.

Detectives said Corbin's body was found at the home of Violet Henderson, 27, Corbin, 37, had been shot through the chest and Mrs. Henderson was in hospital in serious condition with a bullet wound in the thigh, they added.

A .25-calibre pistol was found at the scene of the shooting, but no arrests were made. Mrs. Henderson was unable to answer the questions.

Corbin was born in Lubbock, Tex., and at one time operated radio station KLLL there with his brother, Sky Corbin, who still has the station.

STEPS FOR HEALTH — 88-YEAR-OLD RETIRED DENTIST DR. JEROME G. HESS gave up his dentistry practice after 42 years because of his declining health in 1952.

Nine years later he started taking dancing lessons to get some regular exercise and ward off the aging process. It evidently worked. Last year Hess won a national fox-trot and tango title in Miami, Fla., and now—at the age of 88—is training hard to defend his title in April. "I'll be ready," promised the retired dentist, who has been going to Fred Astaire Studios twice a week for lessons since 1965.

MIAMI (AP) — Sixteen exhausted seamen were rescued Tuesday after an engine-room explosion turned the 10,000-ton freighter Airmayr into a floating torch about 150 miles southeast of Miami.

The Liberty D, a ship out of Harbor Island in the Bahamas, rescued 12 men from Royal Island and picked up four more in a lifeboat just before dawn.

The Airmayr, a 300-foot vessel of Lebanese registry, left Nassau Monday for Venice, Italy, with a cargo of phosphates.

ALEXANDER CITY, Ala. (AP) — The "Mod Squad" of Benjamin Russell high school expects to double its spook insurance business this Halloween.

The pupils formed their informal insurance company last Halloween and hope to double the $100 they raised last year by the time the witches and goblins return this weekend.

Each policy costs $1 and covers acts of vandalism that might occur to a house or yard. A special 50-cent policy covers the family car. Money goes to the March of Dimes.

Davis: Next Federal Tory Leader?

By DENNIS BELL
TORONTO (CP) — William Greville Davis, riding the crest of his first election victory as premier of Ontario, has made himself a man to be matched.
Not only did the boyish, sandy-haired premier buck a trend set by the defeat of six other provincial governments at the polls in the last two years — he increased his Ontario legislature majority.
This newly-acquired political clout is bringing Davis mention as a possible key figure on the federal scene of the Progressive Conservative party.
Four years ago Robert Stanfield defeated former Manitoba premier Duff Roblin to become P.C. national leader. Davis, then Ontario's education minister, had toyed briefly with the idea of chasing the job himself although he has shown no recent indication of such ambitions.

He wound up in hospital for treatment of a back ailment and had to drop out in the early stages of the PC leadership campaign. A statement issued by Davis' office a month before the 1967 national convention said: "He can think of the national leadership in five, 10 or 15 years."
If Stanfield were to step down, one other federal leadership prospect in the Conservative stable is Premier Peter Lougheed, who put an end to 36 years of Social Credit government in Alberta in a general election last Aug. 31.
The two Tory premiers have much in common: both are lawyers, Lougheed is only a few months older than the Ontario PC leader and both have engaging personalities that make them attractive leadership candidates.

Lougheed has understandably earned the reputation of a giant-killer. A couple of years ago, few Albertans would have bet a nickel on his chances of knocking off Social Credit.
Davis has Ontario, with 4.4 million voters and dozens of federal ridings.
If he has federal aspirations, there is one factor Davis will have to consider carefully — the singular lack of success Ontario premiers have had in national politics. None of Davis' 17 predecessors has become prime minister of Canada.
The last Tory premier to try was George Drew, who went federal after five years in the provincial office, a few months after losing his own seat in the 1948 provincial election that saw the rest of his government returned with a majority.

But Drew couldn't crack Louis St. Laurent's Liberals in two federal elections and retired from politics. Davis' immediate predecessors, John Roberts and Leslie Frost, both steered clear of the federal scene.
Davis was born into a true-blue Tory family in Brampton, Ont., northwest of Toronto, July 30, 1929. He has never left the little town, which has served as a home and base for his political career.
At the age of 16 he cut his political teeth, serving as a delegate to a national party convention, and four years later he was elected president of the Peel North riding association.
After obtaining his law degree Davis joined his father's law firm, but his stay was short. He sought and won the Conservative nomination in Peel, and was swept into office in the 1959 election. He has held the riding since.

In 1961 Davis became a vice-chairman of Ontario Hydro and a year later took over the province's super-sensitive education portfolio.
In a whirlwind of legislative activity between his succession as premier March 1 and the election call six months later, Mr. Davis initiated or rammed through more than 150 items of individual legislation.
He gave 18-year-olds the right to vote, eased drinking laws, put new curbs on pollution, introduced a form of no-fault car insurance, limited foreign investment in new brokerage houses and took the unprecedented step of suing a chemical company for $25 million for polluting the St. Clair River water system.

The new premier also torpedoed Toronto's controversial Spadina Expressway and rejected Roman Catholic demands for extending aid to the separate secondary school system.
Davis has been married twice. His first wife, Helen McPhee of Windsor, died in 1962 after an operation and he was left with four children. A year later Mr. Davis married Kathleen Mackay of Chicago and they have had one child.

Gallery's Reputation Not Due to Taxpayers

By SUSAN BECKER

OTTAWA (CP) — Almost miraculously, the National Gallery of Canada has emerged over its 91 years to a respected place among its world counterparts.

"It has never cost the taxpayer as much as five cents per capita a year," says its director, Dr. Jean Sutherland Boggs, who has chronicled the gallery's history in a beautifully illustrated book.

The book notes that from 1880 to 1968 the gallery received a total of only $7,360,000 from the government.

Simply titled The National Gallery of Canada, the $27.50 volume is being published Thursday by Oxford University Press. It is the gallery's first comprehensive history.

Housed in a remodelled modern office building, the gallery, however, still cannot present its collection effectively to the public.

"The Canadian collection suffers the most serious deprivation, since it cannot be seen in any continuity," she says.

The gallery also had to develop other ways of making the public aware of the collection, which must be expanded, if the gallery is to continue as a national resource for exhibitions outside Ottawa.

A former art professor and curator of the Art Gallery of Toronto, Miss Boggs took charge of the national gallery in 1968.

"Most unusually among art museums of the world, the National Gallery of Canada can be proudly claimed as the gift of the country's taxpayers," she says.

As well as works by Canadian artists, the gallery's collection includes old masters, modern abstracts, drawings and sculptures.

It has two claims to distinction among national art museums of the world, Miss Boggs says. It has always considered its responsibilities to be national and it has been particularly close to Canadian artists.

Her book notes that the gallery's life has been fraught with difficulties, some caused by fluctuating finances.

After its founding by the Marquis of Lorne, then governor-general, the embryo collection languished in obscurity for 27 years, housed first in remodelled builders' workshops on Parliament Hill and then in a small, dingy upstairs gallery.

But in 1907, the purchase of the first work by an old master, Gainsborough's 1768 Portrait of Ignatius Sacho for $2,850, introduced a new period.

That year an advisory arts council was started with regular financial contributions. In 1910, Eric Brown was appointed the first full-time director and in 1913 the gallery was given its own act of Parliament.

Library Plans Approved For Centennial Branch

Preliminary plans of the Victoria-Saanich centennial branch library, to be built on the east side of Seymour Avenue just north of Saanich Road, were approved by the Greater Victoria public library's board Tuesday.

The plans will be sent to the Saanich and Victoria councils for information and Saanich will be asked to call for tenders when the working drawings are completed.

Brian Tobin, chairman of the centennial branch libraries committee, asked that a comparison of costs be carried out on heating the building with natural gas versus oil. The board agreed that this should be done.

It was also recommended that a five-per-cent contingency fund be set up to take care of the "expected unexpected."

NAME SOUGHT

The board's building committee was asked to recommend a suitable name for the new library after a letter was read in which Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis suggested that it be named after someone prominent in library affairs.

Ald. Peter Pollen, a member of the buildings committee, asked that the library not be named after "a living politician or one recently deceased."

Library director Donald Miller announced that Don Carmichael would head the new Oak Bay centennial library, due to be officially opened Dec. 4.

He said, following a general

North American trend, the number of books borrowed this year were less than last. People, he said, used the library's on-the-spot facilities more.

But, Miller said, borrowing of records showed a "phenomenal" increase, 147 per cent more than this time in 1970.

A request was received from the View Royal '71 centennial committee asking for assistance in supplying books for its new combined library and recreation centre.

It was decided to ask the Library Development Commission and the deputy minister of municipal affairs what procedures could be taken to help the new library.

Holidays for the Christmas and New Year were set by the board. The library will close at 5 p.m. Dec. 24 and will remain closed until 9:30 a.m. Dec. 28. The library will also close at 5 p.m. Dec. 31 and remain closed the following day.

UVIC SUNDAY SERIES

Concerts a la Stravinsky

This season's Sunday afternoon concert hour series presented by University of Victoria music department will pay tribute to the memory of Igor Stravinsky.

There will be five concerts in the MacLaurin Auditorium, 4 to 5 p.m., beginning this Sunday and on Nov. 28, Jan. 16, Feb. 6 and March 3. Each will include works by Stravinsky.

The concerts are in the form of faculty chamber performances, the first series of which last season proved increasingly successful.

This Sunday's program will feature Stravinsky's Octet for Winds conducted by George Corwin and performed by Lanny Pollet, Donald De Roche, Rudolf Komorous, Jesse Read, Boyde Hood, Martin Van Kamenade, Howard Woodland and John French.

The concert will introduce Komorous, a newly appointed faculty member and internationally recognized composer and virtuoso bassoonist.

He will mark his debut here by performing a contemporary work for unaccompanied bassoon that was written for and dedicated to him.

An emigrant from Czechoslovakia in 1968, Komorous taught and performed in the United States and Eastern Canada before coming here.

His compositions have received major performances in the Venice, Warsaw, Prague and Donaueschingen festivals.

The Victoria Brass Trio, consisting of Boyde Hood, trumpet, Richard Ely, horn and Howard Woodland, trombone, will be heard on the same program playing a suite of renaissance music arranged by Ely and the Sonate a Tre by P. Cabus.

Candidates for the Master of Music performance degree, flautist Lanny Pollet and bassoonist Jesse Read, will be heard playing Bachianas Brasileiras by Villa-Lobos.

Police Charged

SANTO DOMINGO (Reuter)

Six members of police anti-guerrilla units have been charged with killing two peasants, bringing to 15 the number of policemen in the Dominican Republic charged with murder since General Neftalí Vasquez took over as police chief earlier this month.

Oak Bay Plans Activity Centre

Oak Bay's parks and recreation committee decided Tuesday to have drawings made up for a $150,000 large activity centre at Henderson Park.

Depending on the guidelines yet to be set down by the federal government the committee will recommend to council that the centre be submitted as a project under the federal local incentives program or the federal special development loans program.

Under the first program, $50 million will be made available across Canada while under the second a sum of $150 million will be available, British Columbia's share being $21.7 million.

Other projects considered Tuesday were the landscaping of the access to the new senior citizens' centre and the building of concrete side-walks.

The committee unanimously recommended that council agree to share maintenance costs of school playing fields in the municipality with the Greater Victoria school board on a two-year trial basis.

Ald. Brian Smith, who had asked that the committee reconsider the matter, said he had been convinced by Mrs. Isabelle Craig, director of the Oak Bay recreation commission, that the cost-sharing would result in benefits to the community.

In other business:

• It was decided to recommend that a $2,771.64 tender for a half-ton pickup truck from Cornell Chevrolet Oldsmobile Ltd. be accepted.

• Because of the road allowance being narrowed, it was recommended that the frontage tax be removed from properties on Hampshire from Bowker Creek to Cranmore.

• It was decided to post a sign on the lane adjacent to 1079 Deal forbidding vehicle traffic.

For a Word ... 19 Days Of Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — After 19 days of debate since the summer recess and seven days under clause-by-clause scrutiny, the Commons finally changed a word in the 707-page government tax reform bill Tuesday.

A whole clause almost got through, but initial approval later was rescinded when Social Credit members said there was so much noise at their end of the chamber they didn't know what they were voting for.

It all started with approval of the first of 95 government amendments to the bill—changing the word "taxpayer" to the word "individual" in one of the clauses.

This passed by a voice vote and Deputy Speaker Russell Honey immediately put the whole clause to the House for a vote and it too appeared to have passed. Then came the Social Credit disclaimer and the debate resumed.

In an attempt to hasten the bill through the planned implementation Jan. 1, all parties agreed last week to limit debate. This week it was to be on clauses dealing with the basic income tax and certain other deductible items.

Debate in the afternoon and early evening stuck close to the points in the clauses.

Referring to Prime Minister Trudeau's oft-quoted statement that the state has no place in the bedrooms of the nation, Robert McCleave (PC-Halifax-East Hants) asked for a tax break for couples living together outside the bonds of matrimony. At present, they are taxed as single persons.

DEFINITION IMPOSSIBLE

Finance Minister E. J. Benson replied that it was impossible to define the kind of common-law relations that should be sanctioned by tax law.

Mr. McCleave, a lawyer, said it would be easy to establish that maintaining a residence for two people was the determining factor.

There was a barrage of complaints that the increase in personal tax exemptions amounted to too little, too late.

The bill would boost the single person's exemption to $1,500 from $1,000 and to $2,850 from $2,000 for a married couple. About 750,000 Canadians would be relieved of paying taxes.

There were renewed pleas that a tax-credit system—based on the tax reductions for an individual on such factors as total income, number of dependents, age and other related factors—would be better than across-the-board exemptions.

Pat Mahoney, Mr. Benson's parliamentary secretary, said a government study showed there was no more flexibility in a program of tax credits than there was in basic exemptions.

But John Skoberg (NDP—Moose Jaw) said the Liberals steered away from tax credits because this had stimulated an organized protest movement by those in the top income brackets. The middle classes, unorganized, were ignored.

UNCHANGED SINCE '49

P. B. Rynard (PC—Simcoe North) said the basic exemptions were last changed in 1949. The proposed increase in this bill came nowhere near matching the amount by which the cost of living had debased the dollar's purchasing value since then.

In the evening portion of the debate, Mr. Honey ruled against an amendment by Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) that would put the basic exemptions at $2,000 for a single person and $4,000 for a couple. It also would have recouped lost government revenue by a tougher tax bite on the upper income brackets.

Then an amendment by John Bufton (NDP—Regina East) to increase deductions for medical expenditures went down handily in a voice vote.

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette then took the floor. Paying scant heed to repeated pleas from the chair to stick to the subjects under discussion, he castigated the Liberals for high unemployment and the entry of China into the United Nations.

The Liberals had boasted about the just society under Prime Minister Trudeau in the 1968 election, Mr. Caouette said. But there could be one million to 1.5 million Canadians unemployed this winter under that same government.

And the Chinese Communist regime which Canada had recognized and helped push into the UN had served as a model to what he termed Front de Liberation du Quebec bandits who sparked the terrorism crisis there a year ago.

The tax reform bill is up for discussion again today.

Suitable Plants

By HILDA BEASTALL

A gardener needs a thorough knowledge from a lifelong acquaintance with coniferous shrubs and trees to be able to choose suitable plants for a single lot garden of 60 or 75 feet of frontage by about 120 feet.

Unless the mature height and breadth of a conifer will be in proportion to the size of the property and the home, little pleasure results from the years of growing.

This is why it is recommended that gardeners should see these shrubs growing in nursery rows. In this way you can see the sizes in the various year-age groups, the differences and similarities between color forms and varieties, and also probably see the mature or almost-mature specimens from which the small plants were propagated.

A specimen of the silver Atlas cedar (Cedrus atlantica glauca) is a lovely sight, but its 50-foot spread will warn you that it is not for a 60-foot lot if you have a house on it.

One difficulty with books and information regarding conifers in almost any other area than our own is the difference in weather patterns, soils, and finally the climate of the specific part of this Pacific Coast.

A variety of form growing slowly to a given height under one set of conditions may respond with rapid, loose growth in another. This makes necessary either drastic pruning, which is difficult and sometimes disastrous with conifers, or complete removal, a costly job.

Conifer names are easily mixed up by those not thoroughly familiar with them, since descriptive names such as chinensis (Chinese), fastigiata (fastigate or upright), pungens (either sharp or pungent), gracilis (dainty), plumosa (plummy), viridis (green), aurea (gold) and glauca (glaucous or bluish) are found in all genera.

The only hope for gardeners wanting to plant the smaller forms of these decorative plants so typically suited to our region is, first to try separating the balsams from the pines, and cedars from junipers; and secondly, to visit parks and nurseries where the full botanical names are known and likely to be printed on identifying labels.

Giant conifers belong in the forest stands we try to preserve for posterity, the smaller varieties add a sense of security and permanence to our home grounds, while the real pygmies have their place in miniature garden landscaping and in balcony tubs and planters.

The Pacific Coast is a natural homeland for many of these lovely conifers, and each of us should try to learn enough about them to enjoy planting suitable kinds around our homes.

OIL GENERATED PLENTY OF HEAT

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — A mistaken address left a heating oil delivery man reduced Monday and an angry homeowner with 80 gallons of oil in his basement.

Police said the delivery man pulled up to an address three houses from his intended customer, connected the hose from his tank truck to an outside pipe and began to pump.

But, because the homeowner had recently converted from oil to gas heat, the oil ran through the pipe and sloshed on the floor.

Karpin on Bridge

By FRED KARPIN

Had today's deal arisen in a rubber-bridge game, it would have passed by unnoticed, for only the question of an overtrick was involved. But the hand happened to have come up in a duplicate game, specifically in the National Championships of 1969 — in which game an overtrick often spells the difference between victory and defeat.

If there were any such classification as "hard luck" tournament hands, I would submit this deal as a candidate. And I know it would receive at least one vote from our South declarer. Both sides vulnerable, South deals.

Steve thought a moment. "Greg's age, eh?" he said. "Well, multiplied by what it was two years ago it makes three times what his baby sister will be in a year's time."

"Come on," Harry laughed. "Come on, I'm no math whiz. Even fractions had me beat at school."

"Okay," Steve told him. "There's no fraction in either age."

The Victoria Press Ltd. shall not be liable for non-insertion of any advertisement beyond the amount paid for such advertisement.
In the event of an error occurring the liability of the Victoria Press Ltd. shall not exceed the charge for the space actually occupied by the item in question.
All claims on error in publication shall be made within 12 hours thereafter and if not made shall not be considered. No refund shall be allowed for more than one incorrect insertion nor for errors not affecting the value of the advertisement.
All estimates of cost are approximate. Advertisers will be charged with space actually used.
All advertising copy must be subject to the approval of the Victoria Press Ltd., who reserve the right in its sole discretion to classify, reject or insert copy furnished.
Advertisements must comply with the British Columbia Human Rights Act which prohibits any advertisement that discriminates against any person because of his race, religion, sex, color, national ancestry or place of origin, or because his age is between 14 and 65 years, unless the condition is justified by a bona fide requirement for the work involved.
While every endeavor will be made to forward copy to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, we do not assume responsibility for loss or damage alleged to arise through either failure or delay in forwarding such replies, however caused, whether by negligence or otherwise.

TERMS OF PUBLICATION
The Victoria Press Ltd. shall not be liable for non-insertion of any advertisement beyond the amount paid for such advertisement.
In the event of an error occurring the liability of the Victoria Press Ltd. shall not exceed the charge for the space actually occupied by the item in question.
All claims on error in publication shall be made within 12 hours thereafter and if not made shall not be considered. No refund shall be allowed for more than one incorrect insertion nor for errors not affecting the value of the advertisement.
All estimates of cost are approximate. Advertisers will be charged with space actually used.
All advertising copy must be subject to the approval of the Victoria Press Ltd., who reserve the right in its sole discretion to classify, reject or insert copy furnished.
Advertisements must comply with the British Columbia Human Rights Act which prohibits any advertisement that discriminates against any person because of his race, religion, sex, color, national ancestry or place of origin, or because his age is between 14 and 65 years, unless the condition is justified by a bona fide requirement for the work involved.
While every endeavor will be made to forward copy to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, we do not assume responsibility for loss or damage alleged to arise through either failure or delay in forwarding such replies, however caused, whether by negligence or otherwise.

YOUR HEALTH: Dr. Walter Alvarez

New Forms of Medical Aid

Today fewer and fewer physicians can or will make house-calls, and some busy doctors are so overwhelmed with work that they are giving patients only from four to eight minutes for an office call. For these reasons medical journals are becoming full of papers on a new type of work in the field of medicine - the "physician's assistant." According to the American Medical Association, the physician's assistant is "a skilled patient qualified by academic and practical training to provide patient services under the supervision and direction of a licensed physician who is responsible for the performance of that assistant."

Some of the best of these assistants are men who have worked for a year or more as medical corpsmen in the army or navy. It is remarkable how much good medical work such a man can do when perhaps he is put in charge of a "sick bay" in a big factory or in a large plant. He can take care of medical emergencies and help to relieve the headaches or painful distresses that some employees have.

Many of the persons now being trained as doctor's assistants are registered nurses. They are being given anywhere from a few months to two years of extra training which will enable them to take a patient's history, perhaps make a physical examination, and perhaps give treatment to patients with arthritic pains or headaches or other simple illnesses.

A question that now arises in the minds of many physicians is whether or not patients will accept the help offered them by physician's assistants. Polls taken indicate that most people will accept such help.

I learned of another method of bringing medical care to more people from my good friend, Granger E. Westberg, DD, the first hospital chaplain in the United States to be invited to be a university professor of theology and medicine. He wrote me recently from Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, where he is working in a part of town where a number of persons are on welfare, and many others are living slightly above the poverty level. These people cannot afford good medical care, and there are no doctors' offices in their part of town. So Professor Westberg and his friends chose a church building to be used as a clinic during the week. There are many Sunday school rooms in which sick people can see, in privacy, both a doctor and a minister.

As many a good doctor knows, perhaps a third of the ill-nesses people have are due to worries, fears, unhappiness or stresses of their lives. The clergyman makes it clear to the patient that he is a minister, not a doctor, but he is interested because often a bodily ill is brought on by problems in a person's life.

The clergymen in Rev. Westberg's clinic have been trained as counselors, and have spent months in general hospitals, mental hospitals, penal institutions or social agencies, working together with doctors and other specialists in helping people. After the clergyman has talked with the person for perhaps half an hour or an hour, a physician takes over, and after reading the pastor's notes, examines the

Bicycle Safety Starts With Young

DUNCAN — With a large number of adults becoming interested in bicycle riding, Duncan RCMP say their main concern is emphasizing bicycle safety to youngsters.

"Most adults have drivers' licences and are more knowledgeable and aware of the duties of the motorist," said Cpl. Jim Williams, who is in charge of the highway patrol in the area.

Williams said a bicycle is considered the same as a motor vehicle and must therefore obey the same laws and regulations.

SAME RIGHTS

"The bicycle rider has the same rights as a motorist while operating on a highway, as long as he is not impeding the traffic," Williams said.

"It would be difficult to estimate the number of bicycles in operation in our jurisdiction," Williams said. "We do know that bicycle accidents are constantly increasing and examination of the reports indicates that about two out of every three bicycle accidents involves a violation by the rider of some traffic law."

"A bicycle accident usually involves injury or even death," he said. "A cyclist hasn't a chance when he collides with a car which may weigh well over one ton."

TIPS ON SAFETY for cyclists are exchanged by Kathy Kerrone and Tommy Bryant, both 12.

Williams said about two-thirds of accidents involving bicycles occur during daylight hours. "Many serious accidents occur during the hours of darkness, and involve bicycles which are not properly equipped with adequate lighting systems."

RIDES HITCHED

"A few accidents still occur when the riders are hitching rides from slow-moving motor vehicles, and many riders are injured when weaving in and out of traffic, following unexpected courses, disobeying traffic rules and riding in an erratic fashion."

"Falls from bicycles are extremely dangerous when the rider is thrown into the path of moving vehicles. Such falls are usually the result of inattention and carelessness on the part of the rider."

Williams said he visits district schools giving lectures and answering questions on bicycle safety. He is assisted in his work by the regional safety council, which holds bi-monthly and rodeos.

Young cyclists are warned that the better they care for their bicycle the better it will serve them.

"Parents have a definite responsibility to see that children who get new bicycles are taught to obey the rules of the road," Williams said. "Parents who would never consider allowing their sons and daughters to drive the family car without adequate instruction in its operation and in traffic rules, will often turn a youngster loose without giving him any instruction in safe operation."

NEED TO OBEY

Williams said "It is definitely necessary for the parents to impress the young riders with the need for obeying all traffic regulations and to explain just what the traffic regulations are before giving the necessary permission to ride a bike. The child should be made to promise not to carry passengers, to avoid hitching rides, etc. He should be warned concerning the possibility of running into the doors of parked cars that might be opened unexpectedly, and not to shoot out of driveways or to stunt ride in traffic."

Aircraft Seeking Fish Boat

A Buffalo aircraft was dispatched from CFB Comox today to sweep the area between Alert Bay and Prince Rupert in search of a fish boat three days overdue at Prince Rupert.

The Pacific Rescue Co-ordination Centre also organized a general marine broadcast, trying to trace the 34, gillnetter PE 51, owned by T. Faiki of Port Edward, near Prince Rupert.

A centre spokesman reported conditions as being calm and sunny in the area and said the boat may be in one of the many bays that dot the area.

A search is also continuing for the 40-foot dragger Tidal Wave II, owned by Gabriel Major of Steveston. She has been overdue at Tofino since Thursday and has two people aboard.

CYCLING SAFETY TIPS

Things to remember while operating a bicycle on the roadway, according to Cpl. Jim Williams:

- Don't ride on a sidewalk.
- Ride close to the right side of the roadway.
- Don't ride beside another cyclist.
- Keep at least one hand on the handlebars.
- Ride only on the seat of the bicycle.
- Carry only as many people as the bicycle is designed to carry.
- Don't ride on a highway where signs prohibit riding.
- Don't ride on the roadway when there is a bicycle path available.
- Don't hang onto motor vehicles while riding a bicycle.
- Use a headlight and reflector when riding after sunset or before sunrise.
- Give motorists and pedestrians the right-of-way.
- Always watch out for other people while riding.

Another Bid for Alderman

NORTH COWICHAN — Ron McKinnon has announced he will compete for a North Cowichan aldermanic seat in December.

This brings the total to seven people battling for the three two-year terms and single one-year term open.

Ald. Jim Roome has already announced that he will not stand for re-election. Incumbents Margaret Robertson and Tom Burge have said they will run.

Newcomers, Henry Beppie and Peter Idema, have announced their intentions to run while Cowichan School Board Chairman Dave Haywood and president of the Southend Ratepayer's Association

Archie Stevenson said they are considering the move.

Ald. George Whittaker said that he will resign from his position one year short of fulfillment to compete with Mayor Gerry Smith for the mayor's seat.

Nominations close at noon Nov. 29 and elections will be held Dec. 11.

U.S. Defeat Good in Long Run?

ASIA SHIFTS MAYBE BENEFIT U.S.

WASHINGTON (WP) — The Chinese Communist triumph at the United Nations is bound to have enormous repercussions throughout Asia as nations of the far east intensify their efforts to accommodate to a Peking regime that is now recognized internationally as the sole government of China.

In many ways, however, the shifting alignments prompted by Peking's admission to the world organization may serve to fulfill the Nixon doctrine, the president's formula for reducing the U.S. commitment to Asia.

Thus the apparent setback sustained by the United States in the United Nations general assembly on Monday could have the long-range effect of advancing administration strategies in the far east.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT

The most immediate and devastating impact of the UN vote is already occurring on Taiwan, the island redoubt of Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists which still claims to represent all China.

In a last-minute gesture designed to save "face," the Nationalist delegation walked out of the general assembly on Monday night, moments before the body voted to expel the Chiang regime.

Speaking at a press conference here Tuesday, U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers said that ties between the United States and Nationalist China "remain unaffected" by the UN action. But the expulsion of the Chiang government is likely to have significant consequences on Taiwan itself.

A DEAL

In the view of several Asia specialists, Chiang's loss of status will inspire elements within his regime to seek to work out some kind of deal with the Communists.

The U.S. writer Edgar Snow, who recently spent six months in China, has reported that Communist and Nationalist officials have been secretly in contact for some time, Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai has sidestepped questions on the subject, thereby hinting that such contacts may indeed be taking place.

U.S. spokesmen have repeatedly stated that the United States favors a peaceful accommodation between the Communists and Nationalists. Hence an arrangement between them, which now seems to be increasingly plausible, would not contradict U.S. policy.

COMPLICATION

Such a deal might be complicated, though, by the problem of Taiwan's 12 million

Taiwanese, many of whom oppose rule by either Communist or Nationalist Chinese. The fate of the Taiwanese could therefore become a matter of major concern for the United States.

The Chinese Communist victory at the United Nations is also expected to have a serious impact on the political balance inside Japan, where Premier Eisaku Sato has been subjected to growing adverse pressure for his attempts to maintain relations with Taiwan to the exclusion of Peking.

Many members of Sato's ruling Liberal-Democratic party, backed by Japanese business interests eager to tap the Chinese market, have urged that Japan break its links with Taiwan and establish diplomatic ties with Peking. These elements were hostile to Japan's support for the U.S. effort to keep Nationalist China in the United Nations.

NEGOTIATION HOPE

Sato has lately been trying to adjust to the pro-Peking trend. Last week, for example, he expressed the hope that the Communist and Nationalist Chinese would reach an agreement "through negotiations."

But U.S. specialists believe that Sato has now been outstripped by events. They forecast that Peking's entry into the United Nations will not only weaken him but also undermine Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda, who has been widely touted as the leading contender to succeed him.

In that eventuality, these specialists say such figures as Takeo Miki and Masayoshi Ohira may come to the fore. Those men are reputed to favor an improvement in Japanese relations with Peking.

CLOSER TIES

U.S. analysts suggest that a closer relationship between Japan and Peking need not be attained at the expense of the United States, but could parallel U.S. attempts to achieve a reconciliation with the Communists.

Communist China's new position could also have an effect on attempts to lessen tensions in the Korean peninsula, which has been divided since the end of the Second World War.

Apparently acting under Peking's guidance, the North Koreans have recently switched to a softer line — even to the extent of opening talks with anti-Communist South Korea.

Specialists in Washington believe that Peking may be willing to enter into negotiations aimed at winning the withdrawal of the 40,000 U.S. troops stationed in South Korea. Such a proposal by Peking, these specialists think, could give the United States the leverage to bargain for a broader settlement in the region.

SETTLEMENT

Similarly, analysts here suggest, Peking's rise to the role of a recognized international power could contribute to a settlement in Indochina.

In contrast to their former stance, which favored the prolongation of the war, the Chinese Communists have recently shown signs of preferring a negotiated peace in Indochina. Their membership in the United Nations, it is speculated, may now endow them with a greater sense of responsibility in working for peace.

Although Secretary of State Rogers Tuesday deplored the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations, observers here believe that the vote in the world organization was significantly influenced by the visit to Peking of Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser. Kissinger and his party of 14 returned to Washington Tuesday.

GALLUP POLL

Unions, Firms 'Too Powerful'

By THE CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

Most Canadians (55%) agree with the opinion given by Prime Minister Trudeau at a summer press conference in Ottawa, that both big unions and big corporations wield too much economic power, and that it might have to be curbed in the interests of an economy with low unemployment and stable prices.

Apart from the majority who feel this is true of both big unions and corporations, another 13 per cent feel it is a fact applying only to unions, while about a third as many (4 per cent) say it applies to corporations only. Another segment (12 per cent) disagree with Trudeau, and say neither unions nor corporations have too much influence on the economy.

In the homes of management or professional workers, men and women are the most inclined to put the blame on labor. Those whose incomes derive from skilled and unskilled labor, are more undecided on the question, but their patterns of opinion run fairly close to that of executives, and other segments.

The question

"Prime Minister Trudeau has said that he believes big unions and big corporations have too much economic power, and that this power will have to be curbed if Canadians want an economy with low unemployment and stable prices. Do you think this is true, or not, of either unions or corporations, or of both?"

Buses Delayed?

CALGARY (CP) — Protests from more than 1,000 southwest residents Monday may have delayed the scheduled Nov. 22 start of the Blue Arrow bus express system.

Haysboro residents are unhappy with the proposed location for the system's southern terminal, which would feature a car park.

City council referred establishment of a southern station to the operations and development committee for further consideration.

The committee will not meet until Nov. 8 and will not report back to council until Nov. 22.

The Blue Arrow system is to serve as a prototype for a full rapid transit system.

Amchitka Going Within Week

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Nixon has authorized the explosion of a five-megaton atomic warhead under Amchitka Island in the Aleutians, the United States Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

AEC Chairman James R. Schlesinger said no date for the blast, opposed by conservationists, has been set.

Senator Mike Gravel (Dem., Alaska) told reporters, however, the blast was scheduled for Nov. 4, and Schlesinger said in answer to questions the preparation would be completed before that date.

Schlesinger said the atomic warhead, designed for the Spartan anti-ballistic missile, has been installed 6,000 feet under ground and the closing of the shaft is beginning Wednesday.

This operation, he said, would "make it impractical to recover the device," but he said that should a court decision forbid the test, the warhead could be destroyed by conventional explosives under ground without setting off an atomic blast.

The AEC's plan has been criticized as potentially dangerous by some scientists in that it could, they say, start earthquakes and a tidal wave. Similar fears were expressed in U.S. congressional hearings on a previous test of a one-megaton weapon on the island. None of the dissenting scientist's fears were borne out at that time.

CANADA 'DISMAYED'
Canadian Ambassador Marcel Cadieux told United States authorities of the "sense of dismay" of Canadians when advised today that the U.S. will proceed with the detonation.

An embassy spokesman said the ambassador had a private meeting earlier today with James Schlesinger, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and was told of the American decision.

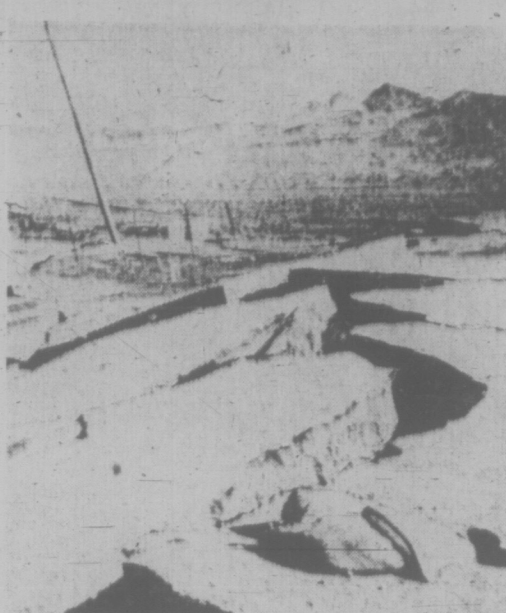

The ambassador was quoted as having told Schlesinger that Canadians fear a danger to their environment from the controversial nuclear test.

He was also quoted as expressing disappointment at the decision at a time when progress was being made in disarmament talks with the Soviet Union which Canada believed could make the test unnecessary.

FEAR FOR PACIFIC
The ambassador also invoked the question of international principle—whether "one country has the right to engage in experiments which could endanger the environment of another country," the spokesman said.

Seven U.S. environmental groups, headed by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility have been seeking a court ban on the test, saying it poses possible environmental hazards including damage to wildlife and leakage of radiation to the Pacific Ocean.

A separate suit by 34 congressmen has sought the disclosure of a report on the potential environmental effects submitted to Nixon by a special committee of the national security council.

AFTER LEAKAGE from this Nevada nuclear blast, test site was moved to Amchitka.

Schlesinger said "if the courts rule against us we will take the advice of counsel and the Department of Justice."

But he said he does not expect the court to block the test and "assuming the situation is favorable in the courts, we will detonate."

Schlesinger said the chances of environmental damage or of touching off a large earthquake or tidal wave are extremely small.

LOCATION
The location at Amchitka was chosen in 1966, he said, because it is so remote from populated areas. The island is some 1,400 miles from the nearest large North American city, Anchorage, Alaska.

Gravel said the White House, which had the option of final approval for the test, "has deceived the American people on its plans for the test."

"It is obvious the administration has had no intention of cancelling the test and has merely created an impression of indecision to quiet its critics."

In Vancouver, Derek Mal-

lard, executive director of the federation of 45 branches of the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control (SPEC) said it is "a bloody awful decision by the U.S. government."

Mallard said SPEC has been opposing the Amchitka issue for about six months and in that time had done everything that could be done, including writing letters, talking to Ottawa officials and lobbying MPs. "We just have to admit defeat," he added.

Paul Cote, a co-director of the Don't Make a Wave Committee which sponsored the Greenpeace mission to the Aleutians, said in a telephone interview from Vancouver he was "greatly disappointed" at the news the blast will go ahead.

"The odds on this were very close one way or the other after all the efforts by people opposed to the test," he said.

Cote said the committee will keep working "right up to the day of the test" to have the decision reversed.

He added that the committee has received no further

PUBLISHER

Stuart Keate, publisher of the Sun, said today the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's announcement "is a great disappointment to all of us."

"Our only hope now is that the moral suasion of the American public may deter President Nixon," Mr. Keate said. "Surely, there must be an upper limit to nuclear testing at some point."

Mr. Keate was one of 66 "concerned Canadians" who sponsored a full-page advertisement today in the Washington Post, calling for cancellation of the test. Other signers of the "open letter to the people of the United States" included former prime minister Lester B. Pearson, consumer affairs minister Ron Basford, Senator Ed Lawson, Chief Dan George, religious leaders and others.

AN EXTRA HOUR FOR THE SPOOKS

British Columbia shifts to standard time this weekend with the official change coming at 2 a.m. Sunday.

It means the hour of sleep lost back in April is recouped—by setting the clock back—repeat BACK—an hour before lights out Saturday night.

The extra sleep may come in handy later Sunday—Halloween.

2 Soldiers Die In Belfast Raid

BELFAST (CP)—Bombs wrecked a heavily sand-bagged army post in Londonderry today and killed two British soldiers.

The death of the troops at the post on the edge of a Roman Catholic district raised to 137 the death toll in two years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

The blast shattered windows in a nearby factory. The workers were moved out while security forces cordoned off the area to investigate the bombing.

Police came under concerted bomb and gun attacks at two points in Ulster during the night.

POLICE HOMES HIT

Explosive charges were set off at the homes of nine police officers, and another's home was raked by bullets. One gunman was reported shot and wounded by a police officer defending his house.

The pre-dawn raids followed a day of shooting—and mourning—in Ulster. Two persons died in the violence Tuesday.

The strikes against the officers' homes—all staged about 1 a.m.—were presaged by a guerrilla assault on a precinct house in Laine, a port on the Irish Sea 17 miles north of the capital of Belfast.

Police said gunmen opened fire on the station and a man was seen dumping a suitcase on the doorstep. Seconds later a 20-pound charge of gelignite erupted, virtually wrecking the building.

Detectives opened fire at the raiders, but they escaped unhurt. Two policemen were seriously wounded and four police and two civilians were treated for superficial injuries.

The raids on police houses were concentrated in the northern suburbs of Belfast. They followed the gunning-down of a young police officer two nights ago as he leaned out his bedroom window to answer at late-night knock on the door. He is still in critical condition, police said.

Malaspina Still Lone Applicant

Centennial Natural Gas Pipeline Ltd. of Vancouver, has been told by the Public Utilities Commission that it may only appear as an intervenor in PUC hearings on the Malaspina pipeline proposal, Centennial president Charles Bailey said today.

Centennial is one of five companies which submitted bids for the natural gas pipeline to be built from Williams Lake to the Island. The provincial government has selected Malaspina Gas Pipeline Ltd. as the most appropriate company to seek PUC approval to build the line.

OWN PROPOSAL

In an interview from Vancouver, Bailey said Centennial received a letter today from PUC chairman J. F. K. English, saying the company can appear before the commission to question Malaspina's bid but may not present its own proposal.

Bailey said he views the letter as confirming a statement English made Tuesday that only Malaspina will be permitted to bring a proposal before the PUC.

Lat Tuesday, English was quoted as denying the statement. He refused to comment today about anything he said Tuesday. Centennial announced plans last week to appear before the commission with its proposal.

QUESTION

Bailey said today Centennial's directors would have to meet and decide whether to go before the PUC as an intervenor and question Malaspina's proposal.

"I can't answer that question now," Bailey said, "but it appears to be inappropriate at the present time that we would appear as intervenors." Bailey said the situation "has become very confusing" because of the conflicting positions of the PUC.

George King at the Ross Bay Plot He Bought for Himself in 1920

He'll Trade His Grave For a Car That Works

By BRYAN MCGILL, Times Staff

George King, 67, wants to swap his choice seaview grave in Ross Bay Cemetery for a car.

And he needs the car badly, because he has lost one leg from diabetes and is "on the way to losing the other" and he's finding it hard to get around on buses.

But he doesn't need the burial plot at all. "I don't cry over where I'm going to be buried. When I'm dead I won't know anything about it."

King bought the plot in 1920 for $75 at the age of 16, when his sister died at 2.

He has been advertising for a swap in local newspapers for the past few days. The ad, in the swap column, says: "Exchange beautiful plot, Ross Bay for fairly late model car (automatic)."

It has had only two responses, which didn't materialize. Both persons were mainly interested in the location of the plot. It's a good one, says King. It's in an open part, away from the Dallas Road wall, and only about two rows back from the road near Memorial Crescent. "It's a lovely spot," he said.

Of course, Ross Bay Cemetery is a hard cemetery to be buried in these days. Since a few years ago, only those who have family plots are able to be buried in it.

Cemetery foreman Ralph Ricketts estimates there are about 2,000 family plots left in a graveyard that has been packed with 30,000 dead persons since it opened in 1872. However, deceased who have been cremated can still be buried there in special two-foot-square plots scattered throughout the graveyard, for which the city charges $25.

King says he was once offered $50 for his plot, but he turned the offer down. "No way."

King, who lives in the Scott Apartments at Hillside and Douglas, especially needs the car to visit his 92-year-old mother, Mrs. Alice Maud Davey, who lives in the Lake Hill area.

His only source of income being his pension, King will take any car at all, as long as it is in fairly good condition and is automatic. "I just got my five-year licence."

When he dies, King will gladly settle for Royal Oak Burial Park, where he will be buried alongside his wife who died in 1962.

Winter Cracks Whip Early

Winter arrived prematurely overnight when a wave of cold Arctic air scattered snow on parts of Vancouver Island and set low temperature records at some B.C. points.

A temperature of 36 degrees was recorded on Gonzales Hill and 33 degrees was the low at Victoria International Airport.

Black ice and hail added to motorists' problems in the Sidney area and the Malahat section of the Island Highway was sandied by highways crews after a light snowfall Tuesday night.

Many parts of the Saanich peninsula also got snow, as did San Juan Island and several of the Gulf Islands.

At Tolino, the temperature dropped to 30, breaking the record of 34 degrees set for the date in 1964. Prince Rupert tied its record of 26, set in 1966.

One of the coldest spots in the province was Prince George, where four inches of snow fell and the thermometer dropped to three degrees above zero.

If you've put off getting anti-freeze for the car or covering your favorite shrubs—now is the time to move.

TITO ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Yugoslav President Tito arrived here by air today to begin a six-day official visit to the United States, during which he will have two meetings with President Nixon.

The European Communist leader spent Tuesday night under tight security in Gander, Nfld., during a brief stopover on his trip from Belgrade.

France, Russia Sign Accord

PARIS (AP)—France and the Soviet Union today marked Leonid Brezhnev's visit to Paris with signature of a 10-year economic co-operation agreement calling for close links between the industries of the two nations.

The agreement, signed as the Soviet Communist party chief returned to the Elysee Palace for more talks with President Georges Pompidou, is designed to promote greater joint efforts in production of manufactured goods ranging from automobiles to data-processing equipment and in development of large industrial complexes.

Raw materials, capital goods and techniques also will be exchanged under the agreement signed by French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing and Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev.

The French state-owned Renault auto firm today was awarded the first contract for construction of a huge Soviet truck plant on the Kama River about 600 miles northeast of Moscow.

Renault was given the contract for the engineering work on the plant's diesel engine division, which will have an estimated annual output of 250,000 units.

The contract, with the possibility of further awards, was

Secrecy Clouds Kosygin in Cuba

HAVANA (Reuters)—Secrecy clouded the Cuban visit of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin today—even the length of his stay has not been officially announced.

Kosygin arrived Tuesday from an eight-day visit to Canada and was greeted by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro at a mass welcome at Jose Marti airport.

No program for the Soviet leader's visit has been issued and it is not known if official talks have started.

But the official residence, where Kosygin is staying in a secluded villa—was lit up Tuesday night. Castro does not usually waste time before launching into talks and he is known to enjoy long conversations, late into the night.

WELCOME DIFFERENT

Kosygin's welcome—to smiles and warm hugs all round—was in sharp contrast to the coolness with which he was first received here in 1967 when he arrived from talks with then U.S. President Johnson. Then there were no crowds and only a polite handshake from Castro.

But Tuesday thousands of Cubans, led by Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos, greeted him.

U.S. May Cut Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon was "shocked and dismayed" by the "undisguised glee" of United Nations delegates following the vote on the ouster of Taiwan, the White House said today.

A spokesman suggested the United States might be forced to reduce its support for the UN and for foreign aid.

In a strong but delayed reaction to the UN vote Monday night—admitting Communist China while expelling Taiwan, Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, speaking for the president, said:

"The feeling is the shocking demonstration and undisguised glee that was shown by some of the delegates to the United Nations could have a detrimental effect."

He also stressed that the administration also feared that the behavior of delegates of countries where "this country has been very generous" in foreign assistance "could also be translated into a deterioration of that support."

While Ziegler said there was no change in administration policy, he hinted broadly that it might support a reduction in the U.S. payments to the world body.

Meanwhile in mainland China, Peking hailed its election to the United Nations today but predicted the United States and Japan will keep trying to create two Chinas.

And in Formosa, President Chiang Kai-shek vowed again to overthrow the Communist regime.

BANANA ECONOMY of tiny Ecuador, world's largest exporter of the fruit loaded on lad's donkey cart, is threatened by competition from Central American countries. The threat could spell disaster for a group of Canadians, financed by low-interest Canadian government loans, which is working on a $200 million flood control, irrigation and crop diversification project.

CONNALLY ASKS POWER SPINOUT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally asked congress today for a year's extension of President Nixon's "admittedly broad and sweeping power" over the American economy, and predicted that post-freeze controls probably would end by December, 1972.

"I know of no one who believes that the goals of Phase II could be reached by April 30, 1972, the expiration date of the current authority," Connally told the house banking committee.

But he stressed that "I don't think we're embarked on a perpetual program of controls" and that he believed the United States would return to an unrestricted economy by the end of 1972. "I hope we can achieve our objectives by the end of next year," he said.

As he testified, the 15 members of the new pay board, including AFL-CIO President George Meany, were sworn in and held their first meeting to plan guidelines for wage increases to be allowed after the wage-price freeze expires Nov. 13.

The government reported meanwhile that its composite index of eight leading economic indicators declined by 3 per cent last month from August, suggesting that administration was falling short of its predictions of an economic upswing.

The September index, which fell by 3 per cent in August, may improve when outstanding consumer instalment buying figures, including a sharp rise in auto sales, are tabulated, the commerce department said.

Insurgents Killed

SEOUL (Reuters) — Two North Korean armed infiltrators dressed in South Korean uniforms were killed near the western end of the demilitarized zone Monday night, the defence ministry announced Tuesday.

MALASPINA STILL

Malaspina's bid of $97 million for initial construction was the highest of the five companies. Aside from Centennial the other companies included B.C. Hydro, Island Transmission Company Ltd., and Columbia Natural Gas Ltd., a subsidiary of Trans-Prairie Pipelines Ltd. of Edmonton.

Malaspina has not yet asked the PUC to set a date for the hearing of his proposal. English said Tuesday he does not expect the hearing to be called before 1972.

B.C. Hydro submitted a $15 million bid and proposed to build the pipeline from Hunt-Ingon in the lower mainland to southern Vancouver Island. Hydro also is seeking permission to bring its proposal before the PUC.

Mines Minister Frank Richter said today he had not seen the PUC's letter to Centennial. He had no comment on the differing statements English made Tuesday.

Cascades Snowy

SEATTLE (AP) — Western Washington measured its first major snowfall of the season as a storm raked across the Cascades Tuesday night dumping a light cover of sleet and rain in some lower regions and at least 10 inches of snow on mountain areas.

The U.S. national weather service said clear skies and sunshine today were expected to melt any remaining snow in the lower areas.

valued at $216 million. It was signed by Renault President Pierre Dreyfus and the Soviet officials.

Brezhnev returned to the Elysee Palace for his third round of talks on major political issues, where basic rifts have become evident.

After two long private sessions Tuesday, the French president and the Soviet Communist party chief issued a joint statement which said they developed "a common point of view" on questions of Soviet-French political consultations, on Europe and on "certain aspects of European security." They also said they "envisaged" measures to develop technical and scientific co-operation.

MOUNT FOREST, Ont. (CP) — One child was killed and eight were injured when a school bus carrying 43 children went out of control and struck two hydro poles Tuesday.

Three of the injured were in hospital, all in satisfactory condition.

NIXON ANGRY

Peking's official New China news agency, referring to the General Assembly vote Monday to admit Communist China and oust the Nationalists, said:

"This significant victory in foiling the U.S.-Japanese reactionaries' plot to create 'two Chinas' in the United Nations was won by the Chinese people and the people of the world and various friendly countries upholding international justice through a protracted joint struggle."

But the broadcast commentary said: "The U.S.-Japanese reactionaries will never be reconciled to their failure and will continue to step up their criminal schemes of 'two Chinas,' 'one China, one Taiwan,' of creating 'an independent Taiwan.'"

On Taiwan, the central standing committee of Nationalist China's ruling Kuomintang party met today to prepare for a special meeting to discuss problems raised by the government's expulsion from the United Nations.

The meeting Thursday will be presided over by President Chiang.

The 83-year-old president of Nationalist China reacted to his government's expulsion from the United Nations with a defiant broadcast renewing his perennial threat to return victorious to the mainland.

Rate Trimmed

MONTREAL (CP) — Royal Trust announced today an immediate reduction to 9 1/2 per cent from 9 3/4 per cent in the prime interest rate for house, duplex and NHA mortgages. The rate on all other types of mortgage loans, commercial and industrial, remains unchanged at 9 1/2 per cent.

CAPITAL SCENE

Slow-to-Pay Taxpayers Harassed by Offers

Advertising the addresses of city homeowners who have not paid taxes has embarrassed a number of Victorians this week, but the publicity is required by law.

Property owners with tax arrears are complaining to city hall they are being harassed by prospective buyers.

A Municipal Act amendment came into force for the first time this year, and has prospective buyers looking around for tax sale land.

Today 15 parcels of land owing about $13,321 in taxes are on the city list.

If a property's taxes for the last three years are not paid by Nov. 7, the land is auctioned at city hall.

Correctly predicting a bad reaction from citizens whose property addresses were published in newspapers this week, city hall informed each owner by letter on Oct. 1 that the information would be published.

Under the circumstances, the letter from assessor Alf Joyce said, "we cannot be held responsible for the listing of any properties on which the taxes may have been paid during this period. In order to avoid having the property listed, may I suggest you make every effort to pay these delinquent taxes well in advance of the required limit for publication."

However, the advance publicity is unlikely to help anyone lose his home. The owner, or the mortgage company has another year to find the taxes. Officials say there hasn't been a property lost through tax sale since the 1930s.

Israelis Resist Pressure

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Israel stood firm today by its conditions for an agreement with Egypt to reopen the Suez canal — even at the price of forfeiting further supplies of Phantom jet fighter-bombers from the United States.

In a major policy statement Tuesday, Premier Golda Meir underlined Israel's determination to resist political conditions it believes might endanger its security.

Mrs. Meir again rejected Egypt's terms for reopening the canal and voiced open concern over what she described as worrying changes in the U.S. policy delay in answering Israel's long-standing request for more Phantoms and Washington's latest position on an interim Suez agreement.

This position could be interpreted as support for some of the Egyptian demands, and would only encourage Egyptian leaders in their hard-line position, she said.

Mrs. Meir made it clear Israel rejected the idea of a limited ceasefire only and of an Egyptian troop crossing of the canal following a partial terms stipulated by Cairo. Her reiteration of Israel's position was outlined in a list of nine points.

House Fire Damage Is $9,000

Oak Bay fire officials blame careless smoking for a fire that did about $9,000 damage to a home at 513 Monterey early this morning.

An official said the blaze started in a chesterfield in the living room at the home of R. J. Taylor. The alarm was received about 4:15 a.m.

The official said the roof was gutted and furnishings dropped through the floor to the basement.

Taylor and family escaped the flames before firemen arrived.

School Opened

THE WEATHER

A few snowflurries and isolated thunderstorms were present over southwestern B.C. last night. However skies had cleared in most areas by midnight which allowed temperatures to drop to record or near record values for the date at a number of locations. By 3 a.m. new records had been established at Tofino with 30 degrees, Williams Lake at 14 degrees and Quesnel with the lowest reading of 11 degrees. Both Prince Rupert and Sarnia at 26 had tied previous records.

Cold dry air pushing southward through the interior of B.C. will give sunny skies and cold temperatures in most regions today. There will be a few cloudy areas with isolated snowflurries mostly along coastal islands and in the east Kootenays. Winds will be strong northerly in some mainland valleys and coastal inlets.

As the cold air pushes southward on Thursday temperatures will start to moderate and winds decrease. Skies will be mainly sunny although cloud will move onto the north coast during the afternoon.

TWO-WAY LETTERS

Take a Flower Not a Firearm

In which we have a dialogue with some of our dear friends out there in Readersville:

W. W. Gemmell (Lieut. R.C.E.), of Victoria, has this to say to me:

"There was a time when, occasionally, I did read the usually meaningless drivel written by your egotistical and seemingly iconoclastic self. Those occasions will be no more since I had the misfortune to read your idiotic column entitled 'Taking The Guns Out of a Sorrow.' What bombastic hogwash.

"Jack, how many relatives did you lose in the last war? None, I hope. For if you did, surely you could understand why Armistice Day is something special to all the 'old sweats.' By the way, how does your war record read?

"For your information, most of us don't 'creep' into beer halls. We walk in, like men. Can you say the same? I doubt it, for I know you wouldn't be caught dead in a Legion hall, where comrades in arms, common men all, can get together once in a while to 'shoot the breeze.' I realize now, Scott, that such an action would be far beneath you.

"To enlighten you further, we don't go on parade on Armistice Day to glorify war. I know that most of us had 'a gut full of that.' As for me, I go to pay tribute to two brothers and some close buddies who didn't make it back. Did you have two brothers and some close buddies who didn't make it back? If you did you are an extraordinary man.

"That you can inflict your sometimes biased views on the public, as you do, is a privilege you owe to those who didn't come back and to scores of thousands of veterans who are now 'creeping back to the beer halls.'

"What a guy you must be. If you are a vet you must have had some very, very terrible experiences or you must have been behind a desk somewhere. Somehow, I think—well, never mind.

"Scott, I do hope you make it to Spanish Wells, where you can do nothing, drink once in a while, go to church, be slothful and bone lazy and have total and selfish serenity. Somehow this fits. I can see you now. Best of luck."

And I say to Lieut. Gemmell: I was a captain in the Canadian Army, lieutenant, so watch your manners or I'll pull rank on you. You write as if the participating members of the Canadian Legion, whose South Vancouver Island Zone makes the arrangement for the Remembrance Day ceremony, were the only veterans. My guess is that there would be as many more non-joiners who would agree with the Humanist Fellowship that the day should be one of Renewed Resolution to Work For Peace and that there would be no place for guns and medals if that were achieved. In the Netherlands, where men and women know the horrors of war better than we, artillery fire and rifles have been banned, as symbols of man's inhumanity to man, in all such ceremonies. Carry a flower, this year, buddy, and leave your shootin' iron at home.

A lady who wishes to be known as Anonymous (come on, dear, stand up like a man!), comments on the notes here in praise of women's role as mothers and wives, in verse form:

Little girls should not complain,
Happy is their lot.
To mother, marry, mother
Men like Scott.
If a lifetime in this service,
Leaves the mind a trifle dim,
Reflect upon your masterpiece:
HIM.

And I say to Anonymous: I would give large odds that you are single and hung up on the Women's Liberation kick. There's no sillier stereotyping than the notion that wives are subservient drudges toiling away for the aggrandizement of a man. That may seem the case when a marriage goes sour, but in the great majority of homes there is a mutual understanding and respect, an awareness that each has a contribution to make. That's the ultimate equality.

Emmy Bower, of Salt Spring Island, has this to say to me: "The annual pig contest has come and gone here on the Island and this time without even a murmur of protest from those who stand on guard against cruelty to animals. Once again the 'innocent children' in this adult-organized sadism, were indoctrinated in the idea that there is no harm in terrorizing small, helpless animals and, again, with the tacit approval of the SPCA. Since I recall your letter of a year or two ago to our Island paper, The Driftwood, I was particularly distressed that you did not see fit to object to it in your Times column."

And I say to Mrs. Bower: I feel as strongly as ever about that damned business, but just happened to be occupied with other matters when it took place. What interested me this year was the ultimate gesture of hypocrisy by the organizers who arranged to have "silent pigs" as the victims. As one newspaper report put it, "Perfect weather and squealing pigs added to fun. Pigs were quieter type because of fears of cruelty by SPCA officials. There were few problems this year and much hilarity in slippery chases." Odd that the Germans didn't think of that at Auschwitz and Belsen. Voiceless humans would have made it so much more antiseptic.

Mrs. M. L. Maddock, of Sidney, writes me: "Your thoughtless condemnation of the Ottawa announcement that cadet training will be extended strikes a new low, even for your column. To suggest that this is simply a way to quieten our restless youth—'give 'em guns to play with,' as you put it—only reveals your abysmal ignorance of the cadet training program. I have had two sons in that program and thank God for it. They have learned many skills, such as life-saving and wilderness survival, but more importantly it has given them a sense of discipline and citizenship in their teen-aged years that you will never find in a long-haired hippie."

And I say to Mrs. Maddock: I am very familiar with the cadet training program and agree that many of the courses are worthwhile. It is the indoctrination into militarism, at a very impressionable age, that I deplore. Would much rather have a hippie son, doing his own thinking, than a son learning to use a weapon designed for the killing of another human being, whatever the rationalization may be.

Ask the Times

Q. I have heard Craigdarroch Castle was won in a raffle and given up for taxes. This seems ridiculous. Can you elaborate?—J.G.

A. Historian James K. Nesbitt says 801 Cameron of Spokane won the castle in a $1 raffle, around 1911. The raffle was used as a "come-on" to buy lots which were once part of the estate, Cameron, however, could not afford the upkeep of the castle and moved out. The city of Victoria got the property because of unpaid taxes.

Pay Ceiling Met With Anger

Teacher and school board spokesmen reacted angrily today to Education Minister Donald Brocks' Tuesday announcement that provincial funds for teacher salary increases will have a ceiling next year.

But criticism was directed at more than Brocks and not everyone disagreed with him.

Locally, Byron Barker, president of the 1,383-member Greater Victoria Teachers' Association, said he was "most disturbed" by what he sees as unfair interference by the province but added teachers will continue to bargain "without letting this influence us too much."

Trustee Peter Bunn, former chairman of the Greater Victoria school board, said there is real danger the aggressive leadership of the provincial teachers' association may result in them ending up as civil servants.

6.5 PER CENT

Brocks announced the provincial government will limit to 6.5 per cent the teacher salary increases it will share in meeting.

A week ago the Vancouver school board agreed to increase salaries of its 2,900 teachers by about 8.9 per cent. Brocks called the Vancouver increase inflationary and unrealistic and said he was announcing the policy changes because other school boards normally use Vancouver's settlements as a weather vane.

Vancouver school board chairman Fritz Bowers described the government move as most unfair, improper and incomprehensible.

Adam Robertson, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation agreed with him, calling the government move discriminatory.

But Jack Smedley, president of the B.C. School Trustees Association, said the limit was a reasonable one.

Bowers said he cannot say what the Vancouver school board will do until the provincial government move is clarified.

"We believe teachers have been singled out for wage control," said Robertson.

CUT BACK

Smedley said if teachers won't accept the 6.5 per cent increase limit, many school boards would have to hold referendums asking taxpayers to pay all the difference between a 6.5 per cent increase and the actual percentage which might be awarded through compulsory arbitration.

"The real tragedy is that if the taxpayers are not prepared to vote this extra money, the education programs in the districts will have to be cut back to free the funds for teacher increases."

In Victoria, Barker declined to say what increase teachers are seeking, saying there is a pact with school board negotiators not to reveal such information.

"The machinery has been set up by the provincial government for contract negotiation, conciliation and, if necessary, arbitration and now, right in the middle of the game, he (Brocks) has changed the rules."

The latest move together with earlier limitations placed

FIRST STEP

Said Bunn: "There is great danger of teachers, because of their very aggressive trade union leadership, pricing themselves out of the field or ending up as civil servants... they're making themselves too expensive for school boards to buy in any number."

"This has led to the action of the minister (Brocks) which is really the first step toward reducing teachers to civil servants," he said.

Voters List

Aliens Spotted

BAIRD... studying

An Oak Bay resident said Tuesday he has found the names of 35 aliens on the municipal voters list.

Tom Chatham, 2367 Windsor, said all but one of the 35 are Americans. He said he had confirmed this by telephoning them.

Only Canadian citizens and British subjects should be on voters lists and aliens who appear on the lists are not permitted to vote. In addition, Americans who vote stand to lose their U.S. citizenship.

Chatham earlier turned over the names of some aliens to Oak Bay clerk, Ted Hart.

Today, Hart said officials are checking the names. One of them was an American, but some were Canadians or British. Some voters with American addresses were Canadians living away.

He said land registry used to note on the copy of property titles if the owner is an alien but this is not done any longer.

Hart pointed out that proof of citizenship, through a signed declaration, can be demanded by poll clerks on election day.

Deputy municipal affairs minister J. D. Baird said earlier this week his department is studying ways of "closing up" the possibilities of aliens getting onto voters lists.

He said the onus is ensuring only qualified persons are on the list with municipal clerks.

A city official, meanwhile, concerned that "ineligible voters on the list might actually vote, said they would face on conviction a fine not exceeding $200 or prison not exceeding six months, or both, under Section 147 of the Municipal Act.

ESQUIMALT IS THINKING about bringing in cat control measures, and I wish the right little, tight little municipality luck with what could be a losing game.

I have been trying to control a cat for years, and haven't got to first base. There are times, in fact, when I have an uncomfortable suspicion that our cat controls me.

Dogs as a species are amenable to man's will. Your average dog possesses a conscience and a loving heart, whereas the cat is hampered by no such impediments to the exercise of its own free will.

Saanich Man Dies in Crash

A 24-year-old Saanich man was killed Tuesday night when his car crashed into a power pole at Douglas and Royal Oaks.

Saanich police identified the victim as Henry Edwin Boerling, 360 Gorge Road West.

It can't be disciplined, it is virtually uncontrollable, and as Esquimalt officialdom will learn if a control program is attempted, its ownership can be extremely difficult to trace.

Cats don't have owners. They may frequent certain

Salary Talks to Continue

Contract talks between Victoria Symphony Society and musical director Laszlo Gati began to move again Tuesday evening, with establishment of a new negotiating committee.

The society's board of directors, at a closed meeting, approved formation of the new committee headed by Malcolm Anderson, to replace the first group which had reached a deadlock on the issue of Gati's salary.

But he said a resolution was passed by the board "to welcome any member of the press at any of our board meetings... except for salary and personnel sessions."

Society president Stuart Soward said today the move to bar the press was taken because "we didn't know the subject of Mr. Gati's item" on the agenda.

But he said a resolution was passed by the board "to welcome any member of the press at any of our board meetings... except for salary and personnel sessions."

Soward denied recent charges of administration in secret by the executive of the society, and said it "merely operates like the executive committee of any other organization."

He also said intimations of a rift between the executive and Gati are unfounded.

"If there is any personal antagonism between any member of the executive committee and Mr. Gati there is no ground for it," he said.

He said the only point of disagreement at present is the salary issue. "The ceiling we have set is not acceptable to Mr. Gati."

Heavy Construction in Slump

An upswing in Canada's heavy construction industry is not expected before mid-1972, the president of Industrial Contractors' Association of Canada said here today.

The 33-member group representing about $1 billion a year in heavy construction and engineering projects, met for two days at the Empress Hotel for its semi-annual session.

President Karl Martitzsch, of Toronto, vice-president of Stone and Webster Canada Ltd., said the outlook for next year depends largely on Canada's new tax legislation.

Director George A. Wilkinson, a past-president of ICA, said the effect of taxation on mining and the petroleum and petrochemical industries will be of great importance in the volume of new contracts launched in 1972.

Also of significance will be the total effect of U.S. geonomie policies, the state of the pulp market and the impact of capital gains taxation, Martitzsch and Wilkinson said.

Wilkinson, a former trade unionist and secretary of Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, is now president of Interprovincial Construction Ltd.

Taiwan has been expelled from the United Nations, and even though morality between powers is an empty phrase, I find that expulsion a deeply immoral act.

The United States, to her credit, fought to prevent it. I could wish that Canada had tempered her eagerness to accommodate the People's Republic of China by taking similar action.

As for the UN in total, it has suffered a loss in stature that the seating of Mainland China will not restore.

Most certainly, the People's Republic belongs in that union. If the United Nations is to achieve full effectiveness as a force for peace and an arbiter of disputes between nations, so also do all countries great and small.

Taiwan, at least, should have enjoyed a decent freedom of choice in the matter—to withdraw, or to retain her UN seat, not as representative of the Chinese people, but as a nation in her own right.

I see her ejection as a piece of juggernaut diplomacy based on the premise that the end justifies the means.

The fact that Canada should assist in the strangulation leaves me more than a trifle uneasy.

As another small and not entirely threat-free power, it might have been better if our country had maintained a tougher integrity.

Amchitka Going Within Week

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Nixon has authorized the explosion of a five-megaton atomic warhead under Amchitka Island in the Aleutians, the United States Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

AEC Chairman James R. Schlesinger said no date for the blast, opposed by conservationists, has been set.

Senator Mike Gravel (Dem., Alaska) told reporters, however, the blast was scheduled for Nov. 4, and Schlesinger said in answer to questions the preparation would be completed before that date.

Schlesinger said the atomic warhead, designed for the Spartan anti-ballistic missile, has been installed 6,000 feet under ground and the closing of the shaft is beginning Wednesday.

The operation, he said, would "make it impractical to recover the device," but he said that should a court decision forbid the test, the warhead could be destroyed by conventional explosives underground without setting off an atomic blast.

The AEC's plan has been criticized as potentially dangerous by some scientists in that it could, they say, start earthquakes and a tidal wave. Similar fears were expressed in U.S. congressional hearings on a previous test of a one-megaton weapon on the island. None of the dissenting scientists' fears was borne out at that time.

CANADA 'DISMAYED'

Canadian Ambassador Marcel Cadieux told United States authorities of the "sense of dismay" of Canadians when advised today that the U.S. will proceed with the detonation.

An embassy spokesman said the ambassador had a private meeting earlier today with James Schlesinger, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and was told of the American decision.

The ambassador was quoted as having told Schlesinger that Canadians fear a danger to their environment from the controversial nuclear test.

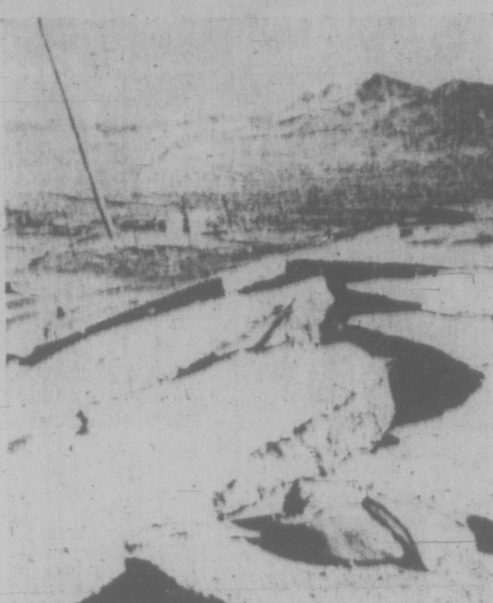

He was also quoted as expressing disappointment at the decision at a time when progress was being made in disarmament talks with the Soviet Union which Canada believed could make the test unnecessary.

FEAR FOR PACIFIC

The ambassador also invoked the question of international principle—whether one country has the right to engage in experiments which could endanger the environment of another country, the spokesman said.

Seven U.S. environmental groups, headed by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, have been seeking a court ban on the test, saying it poses possible environmental hazards including damage to wildlife and leakage of radiation to the Pacific Ocean.

A separate suit by 31 congressmen has sought the disclosure of a report on the potential environmental effects submitted to Nixon by a special committee of the national security council.

AFTER LEAKAGE from this Nevada nuclear blast, test site was moved to Amchitka.

Schlesinger said "if the courts rule against us we will take the advice of counsel and the Department of Justice."

But he does not expect the court to block the test and "assuming the situation is favorable in the courts, we will detonate."

Schlesinger said the chances of environmental damage or of touching off a large earthquake or tidal wave are extremely small.

LOCATION

The location at Amchitka was chosen in 1966, he said, because it is so remote from populated areas. The island is some 1,400 miles from the nearest large North American city, Anchorage, Alaska.

Gravel said the White House, which had the option of final approval for the test, "has deceived the American people on its plans for the test."

"It is obvious the administration has had no intention of cancelling the test and has merely created an impression of indecision to quiet its critics."

In Vancouver Derek Mal-

lard, executive director of the federation of 45 branches of the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control (SPEC) said it is "a bloody awful decision by the U.S. government."

Mallard said SPEC has been opposing the Amchitka issue for about six months and in that time had done everything that could be done, including writing letters, talking to Ottawa officials and lobbying MPs. "We just have to admit defeat," he added.

Paul Cote, a co-director of the Don't Make a Wave Committee which sponsored the Greenpeace mission to the Aleutians, said in a telephone interview from Vancouver he was "greatly disappointed" at the news the blast will go ahead.

"The odds on this were very close one way or the other after all the efforts by people opposed to the test," he said.

Cote said the committee will keep working "right up to the day of the test" to have the decision reversed.

He added that the committee has received no further

PUBLISHER

Stuart Keate, publisher of the Sun, said today the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's announcement "is a great disappointment to all of us."

"Our only hope now is that the moral suasion of the American public may deter President Nixon," Mr. Keate said. "Surely, there must be an upper limit to nuclear testing at some point."

Mr. Keate was one of 66 "concerned Canadians" who sponsored a full-page advertisement today in the Washington Post, calling for cancellation of the test.

Meanwhile, the Greenpeace protest vessel was southbound to Vancouver from Prince Rupert today, and Greenpeace communications co-ordinator Dorothy Metcalfe said it would be physically impossible for the mission to turn around and get to Amchitka Island before Nov. 4.

AN EXTRA HOUR FOR THE SPOOKS

British Columbia shifts to standard time this weekend with the official change coming at 2 a.m. Sunday.

It means the hour of sleep lost back in April is recouped—by setting the clock back—repeat BACK—an hour before lights out Saturday night.

The extra sleep may come in handy later Sunday—Halloween.

Shoot-to-Kill Order Given

RELFEST (AP) — The British army served notice today its troops in Northern Ireland will shoot to kill children who fire on them in the war against Irish Republican Army guerrillas.

The warning was issued after two children, described as being 12 to 14 years old, sprayed a British patrol here with sub-machine-gun fire and two more soldiers died in a bomb blast in Londonderry.

"The troops will shoot to kill any man or child or woman who happens to shoot at them," said Maj. Peter Johnson, Scots Guard company commander. Army headquarters said he spoke with full authority.

The two boys fired nine shots at Johnson's patrol Tuesday night and the major said his vehicle seemed the target.

"If children fire guns at soldiers, then they will be shot," Johnson said, adding that the boys wore the black berets of the outlawed IRA.

TOO SMALL TO SHOOT

"We did not fire at them because they were such small children but if we wanted to, we could have shot them dead," Johnson said.

Two Royal Artillery troops were blown up in Londonderry by three guerrillas of the IRA who hurled a suitcase of gelignite over the 12-foot wall of sandbags around an army observation post.

Their deaths brought the toll of two years of violence to 137. Thirty soldiers have been killed so far this year, 22 of them since Aug. 9 when guerrilla suspects were rounded up and interned without trial. The wave of violence sparked by the internment also claimed the lives of 50 civilians and three policemen.

Malaspina Still Lone Applicant

Centennial Natural Gas Pipeline Ltd. of Vancouver has been told by the Public Utilities Commission that it may only appear as an intervener in PUC hearings on the Malaspina pipeline proposal, Centennial president Charles Bailey said today.

Centennial is one of five companies which submitted bids for the natural gas pipeline to be built from Williams Lake to the Island. The provincial government has selected Malaspina Gas Pipeline Ltd. as the most appropriate company to seek PUC approval to build the line.

OWN PROPOSAL

In an interview from Vancouver, Bailey said Centennial received a letter today from PUC chairman J. F. K. English, saying the company can appear before the commission to question Malaspina's bid but may not present its own proposal.

Bailey said he views the letter as confirming a statement English made Tuesday that only Malaspina will be permitted to bring a proposal before the PUC.

Late Tuesday, English was quoted as denying the statement. He refused to comment today about anything he said Tuesday.

QUESTION

Bailey said today Centennial's directors would have to meet and decide whether to go before the PUC as an intervener and question Malaspina's proposal.

"I can't answer that question now," Bailey said, "but it appears to be inappropriate at the present time that we would appear as interveners." Bailey said the situation "has become very confusing" because of the conflicting positions of the PUC.

George King at the Ross Bay Plot He Bought for Himself in 1920

He'll Trade His Grave For a Car That Works

By BRYAN MCGILL, Times Staff

George King, 67, wants to swap his choice seaview grave in Ross Bay Cemetery for a car.

And he needs the car badly, because he has lost one leg from diabetes and is "on the way to losing the other" and he's finding it hard to get around on buses.

But he doesn't need the burial plot at all. "I don't cry over where I'm going to be buried. When I'm dead I won't know anything about it."

King bought the plot in 1920 for $75 at the age of 16, when his sister died at 2.

He has been advertising for a swap in local newspapers for the past few days. The ad, in the swap column, says: "Exchange beautiful plot, Ross Bay for fairly late model car (automatic)."

It has had only two responses, which didn't materialize. Both persons were mainly interested in the location of the plot. It's a good one, says King. It's in an open part, away from the Dallas Road wall, and only about two rows back from the front near Memorial Crescent. "It's a lovely spot," he said.

Of course, Ross Bay Cemetery is a hard cemetery to be buried in these days. Since a few years ago, only those who have family plots are able to be buried in it.

Cemetery foreman Ralph Ricketts estimates there are about 2,000 family plots left in a graveyard that has been packed with 30,000 dead persons since it opened in 1872. However, deceased who have been cremated can still be buried there in special two-foot-square plots scattered throughout the graveyard, for which the city charges $25.

King says he was once offered $50 for his plot, but he turned the offer down. "No way."

King, who lives in the Scott Apartments at Hillside and Douglas, especially needs the car to visit his 92-year-old mother, Mrs. Alice Maud Davey, who lives in the Lake Hill area.

His only source of income being his pension, King will take any car at all, as long as it is in fairly good condition and is automatic. "I just got my five-year licence."

When he dies, King will gladly settle for Royal Oak Burial Park, where he will be buried alongside his wife who died in 1962.

Winter Cracks Whip Early

Black ice and hail added to motorists' problems in the Sidney area and the Malahat section of the Island Highway was sandied by highwinds crews after a light snowfall Tuesday night.

Many parts of the Saanich peninsula also got snow, as did San Juan Island and several of the Gulf Islands.

At Tofino, the temperature dropped to 30, breaking the record of 34 degrees set for the date in 1964. Prince Rupert tied its record of 26, set in 1956.

One of the coldest spots in the province was Prince George, where four inches of snow fell and the thermometer dipped to three degrees above zero.

If you've put off getting anti-freeze for the car or covering your favorite shrubs — now is the time to move.

Glee at UN Shocks Nixon

TITO ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Yugoslav President Tito arrived here by air today to begin a six-day official visit to the United States during which he will have two meetings with President Nixon.

The European Communist leader spent Tuesday night under tight security in Gander, Nfld., during a brief stopover on his trip from Belgrade.

U.S. May Cut Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)

—President Nixon was "shocked and dismayed" by the "undisguised glee" of United Nations delegates following the vote on the ouster of Taiwan, the White House said today.

A spokesman suggested the United States might be forced to reduce its support for the UN and for foreign aid.

In a strong but delayed reaction to the UN vote Monday night admitting Communist China while expelling Taiwan, Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, speaking for the president, said:

"The feeling is the shocking demonstration and undisguised glee that was shown by some of the delegates to the United Nations could have a detrimental effect."

He also stressed that the administration also feared that the behavior of delegates of countries where "this country has been very generous" in foreign assistance "could also be translated into a deterioration of that support."

While Ziegler said there was no change in administration policy, he hinted broadly that it might support a reduction in the U.S. payments to the world body.

Meanwhile in mainland China, Peking bailed its election to the United Nations today but predicted the United States and Japan will keep trying to create two Chinas.

And in Formosa, President Chiang Kai-shek vowed again to overthrow the Communist regime.

Peking's official New China news agency, referring to the General Assembly vote Monday to admit Communist China and oust the Nationalists, said:

Secrecy Clouds Kosygin in Cuba

HAVANA (Reuters)

Secrecy clouded the Cuban visit of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin today — even the length of his stay has not been officially announced.

Kosygin arrived Tuesday from an eight-day visit to Canada and was greeted by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro at a mass welcome at Jose Marti airport.

No program for the Soviet leader's visit has been issued and it is not known if official talks have started.

But the official residence where Kosygin is staying — a secluded villa — was lit up Tuesday night. Castro does not usually waste time before launching into talks and he is known to enjoy long conversations late into the night.

WELCOME DIFFERENT

Kosygin's welcome to smiles and warm hugs all round — was in sharp contrast to the coolness with which he was first received here in 1967 when he arrived from talks with then U.S. President Johnson. Then there were no crowds and only a polite handshake from Castro.

But Tuesday thousands of Cubans, led by Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos, greeted him.
